red school at the or at the edge of will soon open its ain, and "teacher" e engaged in the darduous task of tots of to-day d Canadian citithe little country tant part in our the present time may realize. In the larger villages progresses from day as he passes the little country g as she remains he only scholastic ling his character.

s perhaps somepered in her work and to feel that might accomplish
bjects, and again
hat there is one
more advantage
wn—the teaching
the rural school
g value of nature
To state a basic is to fit one to g great majority
l be in the midst
of, and a true
nature will be of other succeeds in

with Nature the

eading the pupil

s heart began to

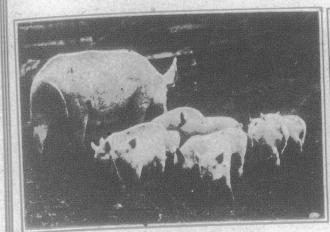

of nature in his in very closely to hadily desert the adily desert the adi tudy, an aspect yet one of such to f great value to observe for lately true that em of education owers of observation is of the late to rely entirely learn to see and not of the great pupil to acquire and and to learn to see and to rely entirely learn to see and the of the great pupil to acquire and and to learn to see and the control of the great pupil to acquire and and to learn to see and the great pupil to acquire and and to learn to see and the great pupil to acquire and and to learn to see and the great pupil to acquire and and to learn to see and and to learn the great pupil to acquire and leads to the groundless pre-he effect of th now a word in ture-study when eacher the comeekers after the ers I know are ow little they that when the ose their respect The teacher . The teacher dinary subjects, afraid of, saying wrong attitude reater the learnply and readily question beyond the region beopenly acknowe respect of his

Ithe little red ll enable her to pare time, that d that she will d the "movies" dorious moving

Some Bright Spots in Rural Life.

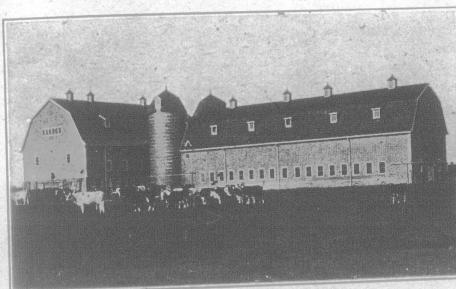

Young Aristocrats of the Barnyard.

Both Pets.

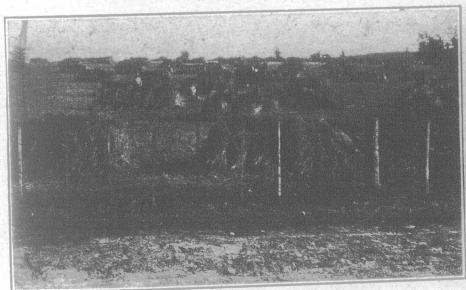

Models of Type.

A Fruit Growers' Home in the Niagara Peninsula.

A Double Harvest.

Black and White Beauties.

A Contented Group of Herefords on Their Native Heath.