LINENS

at the white

About that case of manufacturer's seconds in linens.

Sale

These are not ordinary linens—but the finest bleached damask—many of them finer than we carry in stock regularly—but these come at the price of commoner goods.

The reason for this—they're seconds, but in most cases the imperfection is trifling. In the goods by the yard you can often secure a perfect piece.

Remember we can get these goods only once a year, and they don't last long. Lovers of rich table linen should seize this bargain opportunity eagerly.

On tables at rear of store. Whitewear here also.
Damask by the yard, two yards wide, finest bleached, $1.25 for 75c—$1.35 for 85c.

Cloths, with border all around—very choice—size 8 4, $1.50 for $1.00—size 8-10, $2.00 for $1.35—size 8-12, $4.00 for $2.85—size 10-12 $4.25 for $2.75. Ends of linen, 7 4 wide—70c for 45c yard—80c for 55c yard.

PERCIVAL—SCOTT.

A very pretty house-wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. Abel Scott on Wednesday evening, Dec. 26, when her eldest daughter, Anna, was married to Watson G. Percival of Glen Buell. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Grout of Lyn.

Miss Ross of Athens played the wedding march and at 8 o'clock the bride entered the parlor, leaning on the arm of Mr. E. Duffield, who escorted her to her place under the holly, which hung beneath the floral arch, where the groom awaited her.
The bride looked charming, attired in white Henrietta and brocaded satin, trimmed with pearls and bead gimp.
A wreath of orange blossoms adorned her head and from it hung the bridal veil. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white cyprianthems. The bridesmaid was Miss Adella Scott, sister of the bride, who also looked charming, dressed in pale blue Henrietta and satin, trimmed with pearls and bead gimp. The groom was waited upon by Mr. Jas. Latimer of Glen Buell.

After the ceremony, the guests, numbering about one hundred, repaired to the dining room where the tables, groaning beneath the load of delicacies, awaited them. When all had partaken of a sumptuous repast, Miss Gertrude Forth gave two recitations in her usual style. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held by a large circle of friends.

The groom is a popular young man of Elizabethtown, and all join in wishing them every happiness.

TOLEDO

TUESDAY, Jan. 1.—The annual entertainment of the Toledo Methodist Sabbath school, given on Christmas night last, proved, as usual, a grand success in every respect. The program, which was up to the usual high standard, contained many excellent features. The chorus and duet, How the Fairies chose their Queen, given by the small members of the school, was very beautiful and showed careful training. The Delsartean pantomime, given by Misses Tallman and Lee, was very beautiful and was given to a hushed audience. Mr. Charles Dunham and his little sister, Miss Lena, greatly pleased the audience with their duet and solos. The quartette, The Auctioneer, given by Messrs. Marshall and Sadler, Mrs. Carr and Miss Tallman, was loudly applauded by the audience. Messrs. Marshall, Williams and Sadler also greatly pleased the audience with their excellent solos.

The comic part of the programme consisted of two pantomimes, Popping the Question and Woman's Rights, and three excellent dialogues, viz.: An hour in School, Saying and Doing or the Rule of Contrary, and Dr.
Beaten. These were given in such a style as to keep the house in roars of laughter. Perhaps the best feature of the programme was the patriotic drill, given by eight young ladies, and for which the audience showed their appreciation by rounds of applause.

Music was furnished during the evening by a first-class orchestra.
The proceeds amounted to over $65.

Miss Viola Edgar, student of the collegiate institute, Kingston, Mr. Leo Smith of the Brockville coll. inst., Miss Carrie Hill of the Smith's Falls high school, and Misses Singleton and Dunham and Mr. Charles Dunham of the Athens high school all spent their Christmas holidays at home.

The Misses Whiting and Mr. Richardson of Merrickville have been spending a few days here, the guests of Mrs. Kilborn.

Mr. Robert Stewart, who for a number of years has lived a hermit's life about two miles out of our village, was buried last week. Although owning considerable property, Mr. Stewart has for many years lived alone in a small shanty, about 8x12. His neighbors, however, have been very kind to him and have looked after all his wants.

Mr. Stewart was a regular genius, in a way, having thought out and manufactured himself several novel things which are now to be seen on his property.

Mrs. Sweet of Portland is here on a visit, the guest of Mrs. C. Marshall.

Mr. James Sexton, teacher in the Kingston coll. inst., and family spent their Christmas holidays here, guests of Mrs. Edgar.

On Thursday night last a number of young people assembled at the home of Mrs. Geo. Kilborn, where a very sociable time was spent.

which will effectually destroy the tent caterpillar.

Mr. David Phillips is at present suffering from a severe attack of cold which will for the present at least capacitate him from taking the road as commercial traveller for an extensive business firm in Toronto.

Mr. Chas. Eagley of Caintown is now at his quiet home, after a successful summer in the Ottawa valley, making cheese.

We were very sorry to hear that an old and much esteemed friend of ours, through ill health, was obliged to take refuge in the county poor house. It is no disrespect for the poor house that we mention this, but it shuts people out from their old associates. This house is a grand institution.

We had a splendid visit from our old friend, Mr. Henry Whaley of the rear of Leeds and Lansdowne. We had not seen Mr. Whaley for some fifty years.

He is still hale and hearty at the good old age of 78. This gentleman is a prominent farmer and resides on the road leading from Athens to Delta.
