

Neuralgia Cured.
THIS PAINFUL TROUBLE IS DUE TO POVERTY OF THE BLOOD.

Neuralgia is one of the most painful maladies that afflicts humanity. The trouble is usually seated in the face and head, following the course of some nerve, but it attacks other parts of the system as well. It is characterized by acute pains, sometimes steady, at others spasmodic and darting, headaches and a feeling as though the forehead was a band of iron. Medical authorities agree that neuralgia is a cry of the nerves for better food, and that if the blood is purified and enriched the trouble will disappear. This is the reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure even the most severe cases of neuralgia. They actually make new, rich blood which feeds the tired starved nerves and thus cure the trouble, at the same time leaving the sufferer in better health in every way than was formerly enjoyed. In proof we give the case of Mr. G. Brooks, of Aurora, Ont., who says: 'About two years ago, while working in Collingwood, I was attacked with neuralgia, which became so bad that I was frequently unable to go to work. The pain would start over my right eye and would then spread to the whole face, and caused me the greatest agony. I was under the care of a doctor, but his treatment did not do more than give me temporary relief, and I was therefore a constant sufferer. Acting on the advice of my wife I finally decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and I am profoundly thankful that I did so, as in the course of a few weeks I began to improve, and after a further use of the Pills the trouble disappeared and I have not since had any trace of it. I may also add that while taking the Pills my weight increased by nine pounds, which shows that the Pills are a body builder as well as a nerve restorer.'

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cleaned by the Way.
Lawyer (to witness)—Now, then, Mr. Murphy, give us your last residence.

Eczema on the Head.
Mr. Peterson, South Bay, Ont., writes: 'For years I suffered a sort of eczema on the head, tried four different doctors, giving each a fair trial, but the disease grew worse and spread to my arm. I got Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it has entirely cured me. I give you my name because I want other sufferers to know about this "old Ointment."

'What should be done in case of drowning?' asked the blind man who was learning to swim.

In Dread of Croup.
Every mother dreads croup unless she knows about Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine. Given in frequent doses, at a fair interval, this treatment lessens the cough and affords relief and comfort. Its use should be kept up until the child is entirely recovered.

'You got a raise in pay, didn't you?' 'Yes, but it didn't do me any good. 'Why not?'

'I talk in my sleep, and my wife found out about it.'

NERVES UNSTRUNG, WAS "DOWN AND OUT." Feels 10 Years Younger After Taking Morriscy's No. 14 Blood Tablets.

MONTREAL, P. Q., May 14, 1911. I was all run down and felt all out of sorts. My appetite was bad—my complexion sallow—my hair falling out. I didn't seem to have any ambition to do my ordinary housework. I was in this condition for about a year, although several physicians prescribed a toner for me and I tried several well advertised remedies, but all without success. About three months ago one of my blood tablets was left in my home, and I read of the wonderful success of Dr. Morriscy and of the remarkable cases that his medicine was making, and decided to try his No. 14 Tablets. I used one box before I felt better, and I have now bought a second box, and only wish I could have used more. I feel like a new man, and I am very glad to say that I have been able to do my work as usual, and I feel like a new man.

'I am pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of and safest remedy for coughs, colds and bronchial trouble,' writes Mrs. L. B. Arnold, of Denver, Colo. 'We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief.' Sold by all dealers.

The Resources of Marian.
Marian herself was up early the next morning, and as soon as the light permitted she leaned from her window, and anxiously scrutinized the street below.

'Father, dear, I didn't mention it before, for fear of spoiling your night's rest, but there was some one in your room last evening.'

'What?' cried the professor, staring. 'He got in by the window, and escaped the same way. Marian went on. 'But he didn't escape unscathed, as you will see. I winged him.'

'I had a can of it in my workshop, continued Marian imperturbably, 'for painting the doll house, you know. And I turned it over him as he climbed down the trellis. I think most of it landed on his head or his clothes. If you want to follow the tracks after breakfast, I fancy they will bring you to your culprit.'

The professor collapsed in his chair. 'Marian,' he exclaimed, 'I had hoped you would gain eminence in intellectual pursuits, and I admit that your indifference to such interests was a disappointment to me. But at the same time you are undeniably a girl of resources.'

'I'm glad to see you, Burr,' he exclaimed. 'Come right to my study. He led him through the hall to the room indicated, and closed the door. 'Burr' he said gravely, 'Horace has been the victim of a hazing outrage. I'm sorry to hear it. Replied Professor Burr feebly.

'Well may we be sorry, Burr. The reputation of the college is at stake till such abuses are checked. From chance remarks Horace has let fall I fancy that comparatively few were implicated, and I have a strong suspicion that Spencer of the sophomore class was ringleader.'

'What happened?' asked Professor Burr, with an uncomfortable assurance that he already knew the worst. Professor Fellows leaned toward him impressively. 'Burr, that boy came into the house last evening literally plastered with red paint, I would care comparatively little for his ruined clothing, a new suit, by the way, if it were not for other injuries. But in his desperate efforts to remove the paint from his hair and face he used a pumice stone, and removed a large portion of the skin. At last he was obliged to appeal to his aunt for help. I suppose he had been reluctant to do so from the mistaken sense of honor which leads students to shield the evil-doers of their number. By the use of turpentine and soothing applications Mrs. Fellows has succeeded in making him more comfortable, but it will be days before he can appear in public. And I shall insist that the faculty take up the matter at once, in spite of the fact that Horace has implored me to say nothing whatever about it.'

The next half-hour, in the course of which Professor Fellows received unwelcome enlightenment, was a hard one for Professor Burr. He left his old friend's house feeling weak and shaken, and he walked some blocks to recover his wits. 'And so it happened that he came upon a slender and skilful young man, whose palm for was concealed by a grizzly layer of dirt, and who was sprinkling ashes over a slippery pavement.

'O, good morning, Spenser. Hard at work, I see. The professor's hand was held out, and the young fellow blushed furiously.

'Suppose you let me be the judge of that.' The professor's hand was still extended. His gray head was bared. 'Come and take dinner with us tonight, Spenser,' he continued. 'We shall be glad to see you, my daughter and I.'

He passed on, and the sophomore stood motionless, looking after him. The tears that stung his eyes were no discredit to his budding manhood.

'He took off his hat to me as if I'd been the president. He—what a man he is! Nor did he guess then or later that the gray head had been bared not alone in homage to the young student sacrificing lower for higher things, but as a mark of penitence from one man toward another whom he had wronged.—Christian Bodeen's World.'

'I am pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of and safest remedy for coughs, colds and bronchial trouble,' writes Mrs. L. B. Arnold, of Denver, Colo. 'We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief.' Sold by all dealers.

A Wonderful Case.
THREE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL AND CAME OUT UNCURD.

ZAM BUK CURED HIM IN FEW WEEKS. Mr. Fred Mason, the well-known upholsterer and mattress manufacturer of St. Andrews, N. B., says:—

'I had eczema on my knee, which caused me terrible pain and inconvenience. The sore parts would itch and burn and tingle, and then when rubbed or scratched would become very painful. When the knee got warm it burned worse, and the itching and burning and smarting were almost unbearable. I tried various remedies but got no better, so I decided to go to Montreal and take special treatment. I received treatment at the Montreal General Hospital for thirteen weeks but at the end of that time I was not cured and I almost gave in. A friend advised me to give Zam Buk a trial.

'Almost as soon as applied Zam Buk stopped the itching and irritation. I persevered with the balm, and it was soon evident that it would do me good. Each day the pain was reduced the sore spots began to heal, and by the time I had used a few boxes of Zam Buk I was quite cured. Since then Zam Buk has cured blood-poison in my finger, and at a time when my finger was in such a terrible condition that I feared it would have to be amputated.'

For eczema, blood poisoning, piles, ulcers, sores, abscesses, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam Buk is without equal.

50c. box all druggists and stores or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse imitations.

Which is Your Choice?
Sloppy, leaky wooden troughs, or clean, durable Concrete? Wooden drinking troughs are about as reliable as the weather.

They are short-lived and require replacing every few years—no mention of continual patching to keep them in repair. The best of wood cannot withstand, for long, constant dampness and soaking. Its tendency to rapid decay soon shows itself in leaks and stagnant pools of water around trough.

Contrast with this the durability, cleanliness and well-ordered appearance of Concrete.

Christendom's Sacrifice.
Within our Christian land there dwells, Embodied by legal right, A Moloch dark and strangely robed, That casts a withering blight Upon the manhood of our state.

And of'er its boyhood life, It claims a countless sacrifice, And calls through all the strife. 'Wanted: a hundred thousand boys To sacrifice each year. The blue eyed, honest, trusting kind. The treasures home holds dear. Wanted—To sacrifice for gain. A nation's life and joys.

To manufacture druggards from— A hundred thousand boys. 'Your boy will do, his sunny eyes Will lose their lustre bright; His manly feet will learn to walk In shaded paths of night. I'll touch his lips with liquid fire And set his heart aflame. With all the heritage I boast— Dishonor's tarnished name.

'Your boy will do, that one you love, The dearest of all earth, O'er whom you've watched so tenderly. Since his far off hour of birth His trusting heart will serve our end; His spirit, free and brave, Will lose its manhood, and at last He'll fill a drunkard's grave. Say, fathers, shall it must be 'Your boys, the true and brave? Say, will you let your sons go down To fill a drunkard's grave? O mothers, will you let this blight O'ercloud your sweetest joys, While Moloch claims for sacrifice You hundred thousand boys? Great spirit of the Eternal God, Inspire our hearts to-day, And for our weakness give us strength To drive this curse away. Consume this crimson headed power. This Moloch that destroys— And save to God and fatherland. Our hundred thousand boys. —Robert Hare, in 'The Youth's In-structor.'

A Temperance Tale.
A mouse fell into a beer vat, and a cat passing by saw the struggling little creature. The mouse said to the cat: 'Help me out of my difficulty? I do I shall eat you,' said the cat.

'Very well,' replied the mouse. I would rather be eaten by a decent cat than drowned in such a horrible mass of stuff as this.'

It was a sensible cat, and said: 'I shall certainly eat you, and you must promise me on your word of honor that I may do so.'

'Very well, I give you the promise. So the cat fished the mouse out, trusting to the promise she dropped it for an instant. The mouse dashed away and crept into a hole in the corner, where the cat could not get him. 'But didn't you promise me I might eat you?' said Puss.

'Yes, I did,' replied the mouse, but didn't you know that when I made that promise I was in liquor?'

And how many promises made in liquor are kept?

Drink and School Children—Undermining the American Home.
Alcoholism in school children was the title of a paper by T. A. MacNicol, M. D., Surgeon of the Red Cross Hospital, New York City. He said in part: 'That the number of school children in New York City who appeared under the influence of beer and wine was startling. In some sections at least half of the school children were given beer, and came to the school more or less under the influence. In some instances children were sent home, because they were stupid and unable to study and recite. Parents of these children were often lectured, and the children were given beer and wine in the place of food. Almost every school in the city furnished examples of children suffering from the effects of alcohol. Little or no recognition was made of it by the authorities. The teachers were afraid to speak of this abuse, and the ward bosses and saloon men regulated these conditions as thoroughly as they do political matters. The doctor concluded that one of the most important fields for temperance work was teaching parents not to give spirits to children.'
