REV. W. M. HETHERINGTON. AUTHOR OF A HISTORY OF THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

SCOTLAND.

The above Book of 304 pages, has just been printed for a firm in New York, a few copies have been retained for Sale in this Island. It is an interesting and entertaining work, as the following extract from the preface will show:—

show :—

"When the Author of the following little work states, that it is not only "founded on facts," but is indeed almost devoid of any fictitious admixture whatever, he would not be understood to assert, that the sweats of the nurrative occurred exactly in the order and connexion is which they are related, and befel the members of exactly such a family as is here described. Had this been the case, the production would have been merely a biographical treatise, with the real parties thinly veiled under fictitious names. Such is not its nature; and yet there is not a character, attempted to be drawn, nor an event of any importance narrated, which is not an exact transcript of some character or event that occurred within the range of the Author's cown knowledge. At the same time, it is hoped that the work contains nothing which, even were it divulged, could in the slightest degree prove officesive or painful to any person to whom it may be conjectured to refer.

But, while both facts and feelings are, in a very were it divulged, could in the elightest degree prove offensive or painful to any person to whom it may be conjectured to refer.

But, while both facts and feelings are, in a very strict sense, true, the names of persons and places are intentionally and entirely fictitious in every instance but one. The name here referred to is that of her Royal Highness the Princess Avgusya, in the incident occurred precisely as there related; and the Author thought it due to the Illustrious Lady to record this specimen of that frankness, benevolence, and kindly considerate attention to all around her, by which her Royal Highness is distinguished. Having in this one instance withdrawn the voil, he avows it, and states the reason,—hoping also to preclude the inference, that what-greamins more concealed may on that account be considered the lies real. Where he has not withdrawn it, he trusts it will be allowed to reat;—and believes that any attempt further to withdraw it, will prove ineffectual, as not even the discovery of the writer would necessarily unravel the texture of that curtain which he has chosen to draw over his truthful tale,—or involve guch an application of it to individuals as might injure the feelings of the most sensitive.

Testimony from Maine.

CAPT. DANIEL ARBOTT, Brooklyn, Maine, July 16, 1843, says: "I was taken sick one year ago, last April, upan my passage from Havanna to Charleston, S. C. At the latter place I took medicine and procured a physician, but for ten days couldobtain no relief, no sleep or appetite. At last taking up a newspaper having your advertisement of 'Hoofland's German Bitters' in it, I sent for some immediately, this was about 1859 clock, at 11 o'clock I took the first dose, and anefter at 6 o'clock. The effect was so rapid on me, that I had a good appetite for supper, and rested well that night, and the next day found me a well man. I have not been without your medicine since, having been sailing between Baltimore, Christon and the West India Islands ever since. I have now given up going to sea, and reside in this place, where you should have an agency, as you could sell large quantities of it."

Jos. B. Hall & Co., Presque Isle, Arcostock Co., Maine, April 24, 1834, say: "We hespwith send you a certificate of a care performed by the use of only one bottle of the German Bitters, we think Mr. Clark to be a man of veracity, and have no doubt of the trath of his story," Blossus. Jos. B. Hall & Co.—Gentlemen—In answer to your inquiries, I will state that my daughter, aged about 16 years, had been complaining of a pain in her side, for six or soven years, and about the first Janeary last, was taken down and conflied to her bed. The pain in her side was very severe, besides being troubled with pains between her shoulders and in her breast. From reading a number of curse performed by "Hiofland's German Bitters" I was induced to try it in her case, and een to your store and purchased one bottle. She had taken it but a few days when she began to improve, and now, after taking only one bottle, she is enjoying better health than who has for years. She feels no pain in her side or in any part of her body, and attributes her cure enlirely to the German Bitters.

Y

You should bear in mind that these Bitters are ENTIRELY VEGETABLE, thereby possessing advantages over most of the preparations recommended for similar diseases.

LAKE OF KILLARNEY.

The lake of Killarney, in the province of Munster and county of Kerry, affords the most beautiful and picturesque prospects in nature. This lake is divided into three parts, called the upper, middle, and lower lake, The northern, or lower lake, is six miles in length, and from three to four in breadth. On the side of one of the mountains is O'Sullivan's Cascade, which falls into the lake, making h noise which strike the spectator with awe. The view of this sheet of water is uncommonly fine, appearing as if descending from an arch of wood which overhangs it above seventy feet in height from the point of view. The islands are not so numerous in this as in the upper lake; but there is one of uncommon beauty, called Innisfallen, nearly opposite O'Sullivan's Cascade, which contains linis acrea. In this island are the ruins of an ancient abbey, founded by St. Finian, the patron saint of those parts, the situation of which is romantic and retired. There was formerly a chronicle kept in this abbey, called the Annals of Innisfallen. They contain a sketch of universal history, from the creation of the world to the year 430; but from that period, the annalists has amply prosecuted the affairs of Ireland down to his own time, (1215.) The promontory of Mucress, which divides the upper from the lower lake, is a perfect land of enchantment; and a road is earried through the centre of this promontory, which unfolds all the interior beauties of the place. Among the distant mountains, Turks appears an object of magnificence, and Mangerton's more lofty and more interesting summit coars above the whole.

The passage of the upper lake is round the extremity of Mucross, which confines it on one side, and the approaching mountains on the other. Here is a celebrated rock, called the Engle's Nest, which produces wonderful echoes. A Freach horn sounded here, raises a concert auperior to that of a hundred instruments: and the report of a single cannon is answered by a succession of peals resembling the loudest thunder, which seems to the deep.

The island of Innisfallen, in the lower lake, The island of Innisfallen, in the lower lake, already mentioned, is generally the dining place, where there is a kind of hall fitted up by Lord Kenmare. What is very surprising here, is the spontaneous production of the arbutes, or atrawberry-trees, which is found in great plenty and perfection in many of these islands; it was probably introduced here by the monks who inhabited this place at a very early period. This plant was not much known about London so late as 1770. Near the lake of Killarney, there is a zich copper mice wrought, which produces from fifty to sixty tone of one per week.—Clarke's Wonders.

THE CLIPP SWALLOW

A beautiful story is going the rounds, taken from an old number of the Greenfield (Massachusetts) Advertiser, of the Cliff Swallow, which species has recently made ments under the caves, in Delaware county, ments under the caves, in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, its nest being in the shape of a retort with a long neck. The story referred to is of one of these swallows, which in to make settle a retort with a long neck. The story referred to is of one of these swallows, which was seen to linger after the tribe had taken its usual flight to the tropics, apparently alone, through the autumn and winter. The following is the explanation:

Spring came, and he was there. An occurrence so singular, and contrary to the habits of the migrating tribes, caused his motions to be watched with more attention. At length another head was observed protruding from one of the nests, which seemed to be the abode of the bird which had been remarked with so much interest. On examining the nest the mystery was beautifully, solved. Another swallow was found there a prisoner.

One of its legs had become entangled by a thread of hair, which had been used in the liming of the nest, and held it there a captive. Yet it was not deserted by its faithful mate. Through all the long and dreary winter, this patient self-devoting love supplied her wants. He saw without regret, but for his hapless consort, the despening gloom of the fading year; he felt without feeling, but for her, the advancing rigor of winter; and if he, at times, remembered the sunny skies of the. South, and the pleasures his tribe were then enjoying, it was only to sigh that she could not partake of them. By night and by day in sunshine and in cloud, in the calm and the tempest, he was with her, ministering to her wants; and cheering the hours of her hopeless captivity by his caresses and untiring devotion.

ENNSTEVANIA TOWN IN KANSAS.—A Pennsylvania Town in Kansas.—A Pennsylvania town in Kansas has been founded by the colony which lately went out from the Western part of this State. Five of the men who have located their claims and returned for their families, say that it is the place formerly known as Council City, but which the new colonists have re-christened Eureka. At the opening of spring these five men will charter a stemboat and head a new expedition to Kansas, which they will lead to Eureka. There is good steamboat navigation from Pittsburgh to within eighteen miles of that lare, which lies about torty miles west of Missouri, and has an abundance of good Misouri, and has an abundance of good water, a rich soil, and is in the neighbour-hood of fine timber. The new settlers have found bituminous coal of a very good quality in the vicinity of their claim, where it has been uncovered by the action of the elements, and can be had without trouble.

The Infraculate Conception.—A despath has been received in Paris, announcing the result of the deliberations of the bissops assembled at Rome to consider the Immaculate Conception. The number of vote was 576, including proxies, and about 120 bishops actually present. Of them, 540 pronounced by acclamation for the new dogma; 32 voices questioned the appropriateness of such a discussion just now; while only four votes protested both against the dogma, and against the right of the floy See to decide a question of that impartance without a regular council. Of these four votes, two, it is a sensored, are contibuted by French prelates, namely, M. Oliver, Bishop of Evreux, and the other the Archbishop of Paris himself. The Paris Univers adds, "Rome was intoxicated with joy." A tolegraph despatch in the Pris Universe and the 10th the decree which declares that the Immaculate Conception is an article of faith of the Church, and that whoever denies it is a heretic.
