Fact and Fancy Mixed.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

The calm, untouchable, way which some people have of announcing the facts they think as facts is something which astounds me every time I come up against it.

On our telephone line is a woman who calls up another woman every morning and talks to her about half an hour.

I was speaking about this habit to a neighbour of mine. "I sometimes wonder who can it be," I said. "It's her sister-in-law," said my neighbour.

She stated it as a fact. It never occurred to me to doubt it. She hardly speaks to the woman. A few days later I chanced to hear that the woman on my line and her sister-in-law have never been friends and barely speak when they meet.

The next time I met my neighbour I mentioned this fact to her. "Is that so?" she said placidly. "Then it can't be she that Mrs. M. is talking to. It must be Mrs. L., then; I know they are very intimate."

Naturally, I took this information with a heaping teaspoonful of salt. You learn to use plenty of salt. That is what happens whenever you find you have to deal with a person who has this habit. You don't feel any assurance that anything he or she says is founded on a basis of knowledge. How should you?

It happens that I never caught this neighbour in such a statement before. She has told me many things which I have accepted as unquestionably so, because she has a large authoritative manner that predisposes one to be in-pressed by what she says. But since I have checked her up in one unfounded statement, I know I shall not be able to help wondering if all her statements are born of intuition rather than knowledge.

Men Can't Mix Fact and Fancy So Much.

Women, I think are more prone to this habit than men. Men have to know, rather than think. The world they live in demands it of them. They may sometimes make unfounded statements, but they are more apt to qualify them by "I think" or "I bet."

And yet I have met a few men who had this habit. One of these constantly announces the most astonishing things as facts. One was that Roosevelt wanted to be king of America; that he knew beyond question. Who told him? Nobody. He knew it. You might judge from this instance that he is rather unbalanced. Yet he is an unusually successful young business man.

The only answer, to my mind, is that he must keep this habit for his social life and exclude it from his business intercourse.

THE BANKER. To blow in wealth I sometimes hanker, on projects labeled "Get rich quick," but ere I blow I see the banker, who hits those projects with a brick. I am an easy mark, I know it; gold bricks to me appear all right, and men with come up and show it, and strongly urge that I shall bite. But long ago I made some pledges; I vowed I'd never pay the price of losses, wooden hams or wedges, without the bankers' sanction.

TO MAKE YOUR NECK PERFECT. It is in such regions of the body as the neck, arms and shoulders that the curve of beauty in all its sweet and seductive sinuosity is most attractive and therefore desirable. And it is just here that that graceful rounding of the human form is so often conspicuous by its absence. In the face, the complexion, the expression, the play of feature is the thing, but when we come to the consideration of the neck, shoulders and arms we look for form and line rather than for color.

Flesh full, firm and lustrous lords it over these celestial regions of feminine anatomy. Muscular fibre, with the right sufficiency of fat to round off the angles and fill up the odd corners, is the only wear for the bones that lurk behind all human loveliness. This right rotundity of lustrous neck, of snowy shoulders and dazzling arms, that dimple as they move, is only obtainable therefore, by muscular development stimulated by judicious exercise. These tissues have got to be built up when lacking or toned down where superfluous.

Most imperfect necks owe their imperfections to a pronounced prominence of tendon where muscular tissue and fat should be, and those unfilled hollows above and below the collarbone, known to all and sundry as "salt cellars."

Arms and shoulders can only be "grafted" queried Mabel.

"She need not rise unless the gentleman is a good deal older than she is and she extends her hand first, unless it is a young man, when she merely bows," said her aunt.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Is it proper for a lady to stand when being presented to a gentleman and should she extend her hand in greeting?" queried Mabel.

"She need not rise unless the gentleman is a good deal older than she is and she extends her hand first, unless it is a young man, when she merely bows," said her aunt.

Girls! Thicken and Beautify Your Hair And Stop Dandruff
 Try this! Your hair gets wavy, glossy and abundant at once.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

Never add green vegetables to the stock pot. Aluminum ware is best for top-burner cookery on the gas stove, because it is most durable. Cream of wheat served with pork sausage, is good and it counteracts the grease of the sausage.

come beautiful through being put to those uses for which they were designed. Arms which do nothing but swing idly and mechanically when their owner walks are certain to remain little else but skin and bone. It is perfectly useless to look for perfection in an arm which is never called upon to perform any of those functions for which it was presumably designed.

Exercise, and plenty of it, is the only cure for the scraggy arms and the angular shoulders. First aid, may, however, be rendered by a good skin food regularly and vigorously applied.

THE STORAGE EGG. The storage egg is a pathetic example of the awful havoc man can wreak when his weaker is in good working order.

Ever since this country was settled by the white man at the expense of his red brother eggs have been considered as necessary to human happiness as a wife who can look at her husband and remain satisfied with the status quo. In the old days no home was thought to be complete without a few hens playing about the yard and producing fresh eggs in an intelligent and painstaking fashion. But as people became better acquainted with the hen and her insatiable appetite for garden truck, she fell in popularity faster than a hired girl falling through a laundry chute.

As a result of this personal disrespect to the hen the only egg which is now obtainable is the one which was laid in the fall of 1914 and has been stored away for the use of generations yet unborn. This is the popular cold storage egg, which when new did not cost to exceed 12 cents a dozen, but now makes the ordinary angel's food cake more expensive than forgetting to turn off the bathtub faucet.

The storage egg is owned and controlled by a few, far-seeing citizens who buy all of the eggs which are not in immediate use, and then wait for the market price to hit the attic ceiling. By the time winter has set in and the domestic hen has ceased from her labors, the law of supply and demand begins to operate and produce dividends. There is nothing that earns dividends like the storage egg unless it is the untimely death of a private bank.

The surest way to defeat the sinister effect of the storage egg is to install an incubator in the front parlor in place of the piano. Music in the home is a good thing, but it should never be allowed to interfere with the appetite.

Naval Funeral

Naval Reservist Kirby Dies at Fever Hospital.

At 2.30 p.m. on Sunday the funeral of the late Royal Naval Reservist Wm. Alma Kirby, whose death occurred on Saturday morning at the Fever Hospital, took place from that institution to the Salvation Cemetery, Mundy Pond Road, where the remains were confined to their last resting place. The funeral was largely attended and the cortege which proceeded up Forest Road and west to the burial grounds was made up as follows: Royal Naval Reservists, firing squad with arms reversed, the S. A. Band, the remains drawn on a gun carriage by Naval Reservists, Commander MacDermott, Officers and Ship's Company of H. M. S. Briton, guards of honour from the Newfoundland Regiment and Legion of Frontiersmen, and a large number of citizens. At intervals along the route of march the S. A. Band rendered several beautiful hymns and on nearing the cemetery played the "Dead March in Saul." The service was conducted by the Salvation Officers, after which the firing squad under Petty Officer Scrimme lined up in front of the grave and fired three farewell volleys as the bugle sounded the Last Post. The deceased young sailor was not yet eighteen years of age and was a son of Mr. Wm. Kirby, of H. R. Buffett, P.B. In answer to the great call he left his peaceful little home in Placentia Bay, on November 30th, arriving here on December 4th. He enlisted on board H. M. S. Briton, but on Christmas Day he was removed to the Fever Hospital suffering from scarlet fever from which he never recovered. He passed away at 7 o'clock on the morning mentioned. A slight fire broke out in the house occupied by Mrs. Lacey and owned by Mr. J. T. Martin, on Sebastian St., on Sunday afternoon. The Central and West End Companies responded and by the aid of the chemical extinguished the blaze. The damage caused was but slight, but is nevertheless a heavy loss to the occupant, who is a widow.
