The following letter has been received by Mrs. J. Brierly, from her husband, who is an artificer in the second contingent, South Africa:

"I am sorry to say I am sick in a hospital since 6th of June. I was hurt on the 3rd when going into Johannesburg with the company. We went in the day before the surrender, and had to retreat. The Boers were after us pretty close. Two were killed and six taken prisoners. It was a wonder we weren't all shot. We had 40 wagons loaded with provisions for the regiment. Gen. HOT WAVE CONTINUES.

Toronto Mail: The weather man at the observatory yesterday marked up 97 degrees as the maximum temperature and 72.97 as the minimum. This shows a maximum which is a little less than one degree lower than the day before, when it was 97.9. Toronto thus vindicates her claim to be the hottest town in Canada, for in no other place in the Dominion was the temperature as high. Even Philadelphia and Washington only won out by one degree, the record in each of those cities being 98. There is no immediate prospect of a break in the hot wave.

The London ball team is a thing of the past, and will in all probability re main so for a couple of seasons. The team was one of the fastest in Canada, and well deserving of hearty support, but that support necessary to run a team was lacking. The enthusiasts here never took any great interest in the International League, because they were sure that it would go up like its predecessor of 1898. The expected happened, and the people were thoroughly disgusted with the league-breaking business. The London-Hamilton series was then sandwiched in, but the Cockneys were too much for the Hams, and soon had the series cinched. The Hams were to have play ed here on Monday, but the local management secured a better card in Detroit, and Hamilton wanted the $190 holiday guarantee, and refused to come yesterday because they did not get it. The local management then decided to disband the team.

yesterday afternoon for Cleveland, to play with the American League team. The Hamilton Spectator says: There is a dispute between the Hamilton and London management. The Londons broke faith with the Hamiltons when they arranged to play Detroit Monday (London's civic holiday). Mr. Stroud, considering that he has a claim for damages, held back $60, the guarantee due the Londons for the games played here on Friday. Manager Lohman was very much annoyed when he saw no money forthcoming, but he was simply paid back in his own coin.

Mr. Stroud made a fair proposition. He offered to consent to Detroit playing at London Monday, provided he was paid $100, the guarantee agreed on for holiday games, the Hamiltons to play at London Monday, and the schedule to be carried out as arranged. Mr. Stroud says he is willing to finish out the series on these terms. At any rate the Hamiltons will not disband until the civic holiday next Monday.

He was almost exhausted, and no time was lost in pulling him aboard. The rescuers were rowed further out to where the upturned skiff was floating with the waves. To one side of it clung Miss Kemp and to the other Mr. Ardagh. They were completely tired out with their exertions to keep affoat, and had almost given up hope cuers arrived. All three were taker ed States, Great Britain, Germany and ashore, and soon recovered from the Japan will have to carry out the milmore covered by the tug Bennett, which passed out through the eastern gap to dump a load of sand dredged up from the bottom of the bay. It appears that the skiff was upset with a sudden puff of wind, but it is surprising to learn that youthful residents of the island are in the habit of venturing so far out on the lake in such light craft. Unless the practice is stopped there will be a tragedy one of these days.
