He was passing through the stables of Doran's hotel from the rear door, and coming out from the light into the darkness of the stable, he was for a moment blinded, and ran against a horse standing out from the manger. The horse kicked and struck Mr. Lamprey on the left hip joint, sending him eight feet backwards against a box stall.

A company of well-known business men with capital and enterprise have undertaken to operate the White Sulphur Spring in this city upon an extensive scale, and are making preparations that are calculated to induce a large influx of sojourners here. Due notice will be given from time to time of the progress of this enterprise.

At a social given in the Baptist Church, Woodstock, the other evening, one of the most interesting events was the address of Rev. Mr. Dudson, referring to the departure from the church of one of the most faithful of its deacons, Mr. Beardsall, who is leaving for London, Ont. The kindly words expressed by him in regard to Mr. Beardsall, and those of Mrs. Dudson in reference to Mrs. Beardsall's labors in the church were heartily endorsed by the meeting, and to which Mr. Beardsall made a feeling reply.

The Winnipeg Free Press of the 22nd has this to say regarding the death of Dr. Harvey's brother—"The late J. T. Harvey, editor of the Melita Enterprise, whose death occurred on Monday last, has been for many years connected with the eastern press, having connected his career as a writer for the Toronto Leader. He represented at different times some of the leading papers of the Eastern States and Canada, and had travelled pretty well over America and Europe in their interests. Last fall he wandered down to Melita to take a look at the new country opening there, and being pleased with the appearance of the country determined to start a newspaper, which he did. Little over a week ago he broke his leg in some way, and mortification having set in after the setting of the bone, his death followed very quickly."

The Vancouver (B. C.) Telegram of the 18th says:—"Wm. Martin, one of the pioneer residents of Vancouver, where he will be remembered as a popular hotel-keeper, died on his farm in Langley on Saturday. He was born in Colborne, county Huron, Ont., in 1834. He learned the trade of harnessmaker, but shortly afterwards went into grain purchasing and commission business in Goderich. In 1875 he went to Manitoba, walking from Fargo to Winnipeg. He settled at Emerson, bought the Dominion Hotel, and in partnership with R. Balfour, built the Emerson railway bridge. Like every other progressive spirit in those days he was a real estate speculator and was reported to be very rich. But the boom collapsed, and Mr. Martin returned to contracting, and with Mr. Balfour worked in the mountains of British Columbia. In 1887 he returned to Vancouver, and built the Burrard hotel and stocked it just before the great fire. He began all over again after that and built another hotel in another part of the city—the present Burrard—and about two years ago bought a farm on Loneley. His family consisted of four sons and three daughters, one of whom is Mrs. R. Balfour and another Mrs. J. T. Abney, of Vancouver."

Dr. Flo, the hypnotist, is said to be exercising a strange influence upon some of the local members of his class, with whom he has been giving entertainments. One young fellow employed at the McClary Works, has entirely changed in his nature, and cannot be prevailed upon to attend his duties properly.

Some of the more interesting of his fellow-boarders locked him in his room, in an endeavor to prevent him from appearing at the mesmeric show, when he went into convulsions, and was speedily released. Saturday afternoon his condition was such that it is said his work was not done in better order, but the unfortunate fellow seemed to have lost all control of himself. And then one of the class, a young son of a resident of Bruce street, was secured in a horse-car by his diabolical father, but managed to make his escape.

From present prospects the Seventh will make a splendid showing at Berlin on the 24th of May. Last evening there was a fair turnout of the red-coats and officers, and also of citizens, including several ladies. Mayor Spence and a number of the Aldermen showed their interest in the Battalion by their presence also, and were rewarded by seeing the regiment put through several drill evolutions, which were most splendidly satisfied. The Seventh Band added to the pleasure of the occasion by rendering several martial airs, while the stirring notes of the bugle and the roll of the kettle-drum completed the military display.

Recruits are being received into the ranks every evening, and not the least interesting scene last night was the class of recruits in civilian attire, undergoing their "facings."

Magician Herrmann aided by Mme. Herrmann will be seen at the Grand next Friday. He is so well-known that anything more than a simple announcement that he will be here seems superfluous. His programmes are always interesting, his play and conversation being as attractive as his feats of legerdemain. An audience is always well amused and never fails to applaud his performance.

"Slay Black Art," aided by Abdul Khat, an East Indian necromancer, who is said to do some very startling things, is also a feature of this combination of mystic sensations. Plan opens to-morrow.

The Cavalry Band of No. 1 Regiment, which was recently removed to this city from St. Thomas, made its first appearance in public here on Sunday at the St. George's Society parade. The band is some thirty strong, and bids fair to come into considerable prominence as a musical organization. Major Garthshore is worthy of mention for the energetic part he takes in company with Capt. Williams in forwarding the interests of the London Troop of Cavalry, and the removal of the band from St. Thomas here was his creditable move. A mounted musical organization will be a somewhat novel feature.

Major Garthshore leaves shortly for Quebec school of cavalry, where he will take a special course before assuming command of the Regiment.

A definition of a volt, which although somewhat unscientific, may prove suggestive to readers, is given in the following terms:—"The volt is the force of a specific force. As volts are added together the force of the blow is increased until the endurance limit is reached. It takes about twenty-five volts to make a perceptible tingling sensation. When fifty volts pass through the body the tingling sensation becomes unmistakable, but not strong, while 100 volts feels lively, 200 volts strong, 300 volts powerful, 400 volts titanic, and 500 volts will knock a man flat."

The Forest City Bicycle Club enjoyed their first run this season last evening. The course lay over the good roads between this city and St. John's, and the turnout of members was fair. Cycling, however, is not likely to prove the rage it has been here within the past few seasons, owing principally to the partial disbandment of the Forest City Club.

On Saturday Constable Adams, acting as market inspector, seized six quarters of veal placed upon the public market by a farmer from Beaton. The veal was in an exceedingly putrid looking and unwholesome condition. The farmer explained that he merely intended to give it away. The inspector, however, seized it, and will have it destroyed at once.

Palmerston has made satisfactory arrangements with the G. T. B. authorities, by which the cattledrags there will be enlarged and improved and an approach to the station on William street will be made for convenience of passengers with their baggage. Some other minor improvement will also be made.

Rev. George Boyd, of this city, was a visitor at the Toronto Methodist Ministers' Association yesterday, and spoke for a short time.

The McClary Manufacturing Company are at present employing 450 hands, the largest number in their history.

Col. Payne is having a large addition built to his residence on the Worley Road.

Three hundred dollars reward has been offered by the St. Mary's Town Council for the conviction of the persons who set fire to Mr. J. D. Moore's storehouse on the evening of the 25th March last.

The 25th (High) Battalion now forming itself a city regiment is meeting with success, as far as officers are concerned. The commissions are being taken by gentlemen who possess a degree of military enthusiasm and there is every prospect of St. Thomas having a first-class battalion.

Some St. Thomas physicians have been swindled by John D. Martin, who represented himself to be agent for the Home Supply Association, Chicago, and pretended to be able to furnish medical periodicals at greatly reduced rates. He got their money, and that was the last heard of him.

Tail Graham, of London, committed for trial on a charge of larceny from front Mr. Pollard's mill, near West Lorne, was brought before Judge Ermatinger on Saturday, elected to be tried by a jury, and was admitted to bail, himself in $800, and two sureties of $400 each, to appear at the June session.

William Smith and his son, John William Smith, of Regent street, were arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of fraud and false pretences preferred by Mr. Anthony Kenesley. The prisoners spent the night in the cells, and their case will come up for a hearing to-day. The case is said to arise out of a business deal between the parties.

On Saturday night some persons visited the St. Thomas cemetery and spent a couple of hours destroying flower beds, breaking monuments and despoiling the graves generally. Two monuments erected by Mr. Charles Spohn were thrown over and broken in two. A monument erected by His Honor Judge Hughes was also upset and broken in two.

Rev. Principal Miller, of Huron College, preached in All Saints' Church, Hamilton, on Sunday evening last. The times of his city says:—"Mr. Miller's hearers were charmed with the earnest, simple, yet scholarly, style of the sermon, so indicative of the highest university culture in England, and they will be delighted should an opportunity of hearing him present itself."

On Saturday evening Mr. Samuel Yeandle, of South Yarmouth, was driving into his barn with a load of hay. He stooped down as the load was going in and his head safely passed the beam but his shoulders were caught, and he was badly crushed. Mr. Yeandle's spine was injured, but his medical attendant reports improvement in his condition to-day and prospects of recovery.

A Ridgeway correspondent writes on the 25th:—"The basket factory is now a thing of the past as far as this town is concerned, the remaining members of the company leaving for London to-day. Some way of the institution erected a tombstone in front of the building on Saturday and carried it to a station north and west, and it with a bouquet of paper flowers. A pair of old pants stuffed with shavings was flying from the flag pole all day. This was done in commemoration of the removal of the force to London."

Toronto grain men were notified yesterday morning by the Grand Trunk, through John Earls and Arthur White, of a reduction in the grain tariff charges. On and after to-day the following rates will apply on grain in car loads of 30,000 lbs. and over to Montreal for export exclusive of terminals: From stations north and west, 14c per 100 lbs.; from stations west to Stratford, London and St. Thomas, 12c; from stations Toronto and east, including Midland divisions, 10c; grain will be forwarded to Montreal at published tariff rates, and reduced by rebate upon proof of exportation.

Everybody will be delighted when this cold weather takes its departure. When one of the oldest inhabitants took the bearings of the moon a month ago, and predicted a cold dry April, people thought they had the laugh on him when a couple of warm rainy days came, but they didn't last, and of the 25 days to date 20 have been cold and dry. To-day there will be a new moon, and will be a change of weather. The same old gentleman says the new moon will bring in warmer weather. The next change, the moon's first quarter, will bring in still warmer weather, and then after the next change it is likely to be a cooling again, and a hot rain, which is badly needed, the prophet will say nothing until he sees the new moon.

It will be remembered that last year reference was made to the marriage of an old woman named Freeman, who was seventy-seven years of age, on the river road nearly opposite the Griffith mills, to her stepson, who had seen fifty winters. The marriage took place in Muskoka, and in a week or so afterward the bride and stepson returned home. But not until Saturday did the other party to the wedding put in an appearance here, and when the shades of darkness had covered the hills in the peaceful neighborhood of Woodstock, sounds of revelry floated across the Thames, arising from nothing less than an old-fashioned chaivari in progress in front of the Freeman homestead. The old lady is said to have resisted the attack of the hot and boiling water and hot coals, while her better half hurried away and secured the help of neighbors, who repaired to the scene armed with shagwags. Not, however, until they had grown weary of their sport did the charivariers depart. Last night they renewed their hostilities.

Christ Church, Chatham.
The annual vestry meeting of the above church was held on Easter Monday, the Rev. Edward Sotley, B. D., in the chair.

Messrs. Andrew Hayward and Charles Dunlop were unanimously re-elected church wardens.

Resolutions were passed expressing the sympathy of the vestry with the friends of the late Mr. McGregor and of the late Mr. W. Eberts, old and valued members of the vestry and church.

The Ladies' Guild and the congregation were thanked for their services in repairs made on the church.

His Lordship the Bishop was accorded the thanks of the Vestry for his assistance in regard to the appointment of Rev. H. McCosh as rector.

The Chairman having been requested to leave the chair, and the Senior Warden to take the same, it was moved by Judge Wood, and seconded by Matthew Wilson, Q. C.—

"That the thanks of the vestry are due, and are hereby tendered to the Rev. Edward Sotley B. D., for his zealous and efficient services as incumbent pro tem."

In reply Mr. Sotley expressed his appreciation of the action of the vestry, and his best wishes for the Divine blessing upon the congregation.

Judge Woods and Matthew Wilson, Q. C., were elected lay delegates to the Synod.
