Cocoanut Pudding.—Heat a pint of mil, stirring into it a small half cup of sugu. Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of corn starch a a little of the milk taken out before it is hesed. Then add half a topoanur gusted and moulds. Serve it cold with a boiled custard made with the yolks of the eggs and flavour with vanils or lemon.

DANGER OF CANNED FRUITS.—The en-igencies of trade appear to be in continual conspiracy against the health of the huma amily. Some sharp man once found on that it was economical in the manufacture of tin-plate to introduce into it a small quantity of lead, and now the cheaper grades of the are all adults sted in this way. This discovery is fraught with mischief, for when and fruit comes in contact with this mixture of tin and lead, they are liable to become cotin and lead, they are liable to become co-taminated and produce lead poisoning a those who eat them. The canning of fran in this country is now carried on to a med greater extent than ever, and cases are fre-quently brought before the public in the new-trapers of injury done to families or individ-als by eating fruit which has been thus pre-crived. For those who preserve their our truit or vegetabler, glass or earthenware ve-sels are absolutely safe, and much to be pre-ferred to those made of metal.

THE EXTENDED USE OF VEGETARIS DIET.—While we do not take up any dematic position as to the exclusive use of regulative position as to the exclusive use of regulative to the seems desirable, both in the interest of economy and health, that our food should be more mixed with vegetable ingredients than is frequently the case. It is therefore gratifying to learn that an increased amount of attention is being paid to thus salect and that many atticles, such as lentik ject and that many articles, such as lenus tomatoes, hominy, etc., which a few year ago were almost unknown or dirregarded ago were almost unknown or dirregards, are now in common and every day use. The "Food Reform Society" has been acture at extending among the people a knowledged the simple and more accessible constituent of dier, and in pointing out the nutritivest of many articles hitherto overlooked, or a side as of little value. With regard to break for instance, it has been shewn, both in there pages and clsewhere, that in sifting the for previous to baking, many of the most valuable pages and clsewhere, that in sisting the flow previous to baking, many of the most valuable food constituents are extracted, and the whole-meal bread is much more nutnitiestal wholesome than white bread. The use of whole-meal bread is extending rapidly is London; and its concomitant as a cheapast healthy food—the portidge of Scottand—s now forming a portion of the daily diet of very many Londoners.
