

PREFACE

Working Papers, the result of research work in progress or the summary of a conference, are often intended for later publication by the Institute or another organization, and are deposited with the Library of Parliament for distribution in limited quantities to interested specialists in the field. Unlike all other Institute publications, these papers are not intended to be published in their original form, but in published form as abstracts.

The opinions contained in these papers are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the views of the Institute and its Board of Directors.

Bernard F. Grebenc holds a master's degree in political science from the University of Halifax. From January 1986 to December 1987 he was a research assistant at the Canadian Centre for Arms Control and Disarmament in Ottawa. This paper is based on research carried out by the author while at the Centre.

Recently Mr. Grebenc completed a study on maritime affairs for the Ottawa branch of the Naval Officers Association.
