

Wild vines—Story of an Indian woman and child—Grand River Ouse—Naval post there—Lands belonging to the Mohawks—Night scene upon Lake Erie—Interesting Indian—125

LETTER IX.

Lundy's Lane—Orchards—St Catharine's—Salt spring there—A Sunday at St Catharine's—Methodists—Farmers of Upper Canada—Their manners and character—Forests on fire—Emigrants travelling—Yankey and Yorkshireman—Burlington Bay—Coote's Paradise—Village of Ancaster—Deficiency of churches in Upper Canada—Manufactory of maple sugar—Grand River Ouse—Plaster of Paris—Its use in agriculture—Mohawk village—Indians not susceptible of civilization—Acuteness of their senses—Indian department—Presents—Indian secrets—Major Norton 147

LETTER X.

Long Point—Change of scenery—Perfume from snakes—Fascination—Frog and black snake—Human beings sometimes charmed by serpents—Instances of it—Theory of fascination—Illustrations—Hawk and chickens—Partridges—Human fascination—Story in proof of it—Long Point described—Iron ore and foundry there—Game—Wild pigeons—Sulphurous spring—Night adventure with an Indian—Conversation with him—Coltman's tavern—Effects of a residence in the woods—Sublimities of the forest..... 168

LETTER XI.

Talbot settlement—Its founder—Distribution of lands—First occupants of a new settlement—Slow improvement—Condition of the inhabitants of the Talbot Settlement—Emigrants from the Highlands of Scotland—Their clannishness—State of society in the settlement—Natural depravity of Man—State of mind during a residence in the Settlement—Physiognomy of the material world..... 182