

be seen the vestiges of an Indian fort and chapel, and a priest's grave.* (13) There appears to have been some intrenchment, and a covered way through the bank of the river for the convenience of getting water. This must have been a considerable seat of the natives, as there are large Indian fields cleared. This day I wrote to Mrs. Meigs, to my brother, and Ensign Warner. Opposite to Norridgewalk, which lies on the east side the river, a river comes in from the westward, called Sandy River.

4th. I proceeded up the river about one mile, and crossed the river, where is a carrying-place of one mile and a quarter; here I came up with the second division, commanded by Col. Green.

5th. All day at the carrying-place. At evening moved one company up the river one mile, where they encamped, waiting for the other companies of my division.

6th. Still at the carrying-place, getting over boats and provisions. At 4 o'clock, P. M., I proceeded up the river 5 miles and encamped.

7th. Continued our march up the river, and at 12 o'clock arrived at Carratuncas carrying-place. Here the river is confined between two rocks, not more than 40 rods wide, which lie in piles 40 rods in length on each side the river. These rocks are polished curiously in some places, by the swift running of the water. The carrying-place here is 433 paces in length.
