

Seals—Continued.	Page.
Number taken by pelagic sealers, 1868-1894	27
Number taken for all purposes by Alaska Commercial Company	258-274
Number taken for skins by Alaska Commercial Company, 1870-1889	72
Number taken on islands 1895	452
Nursing females, destruction of	219
Paris regulations do not protect	80
Past and future of	276
Pelagic catch, 1891-1895	415
Pelagic sealing cause of diminution of	95, 98
Percentage lost of those struck by pelagic hunters	206
Percentage of lost, statements by pelagic sealers	216
Place of birth, return of herd to	125
Plans, suggested, for preservation of	299
Raids on rookeries not cause of decrease of	195
Reason why pregnant females are taken	202
Recommendations suggested for preservation of herd	81
Resorts of	277
Results of indiscriminate slaughter	239
Revenue of Government derived from	278
Rookeries, causes of depletion of	41
Southern, destruction of	276
Swimming powers of	123
Visit only the place of birth	125
Weight and size of	124
Wounding of	214
Young, learning to swim	122
Seal-skin industry:
Importance of	278
Its relation to the northern fur seal	277
Seal-skins:
Average prices, 1881-1889	163
Decrease in size of	165
Fabrication of, number of persons engaged in	147
Sold and dyed in London, statistics of	147-152
Shelby, seizure of	327, 328
Size and weight of seals	124
Size of seal skins, decrease in	165
Skins:
Number marketed, 1881-1889	161
Number sold and dressed in London, 1868-1889	164
Number sold and dyed in London	147-152
Number sold, result of pelagic sealing, 1872-1891	231
Number taken within Paris award area, 1890-1891	321
Prices of, taken at sea	284
Smuggling	438
Somow, A., correspondence relating to pelagic sealing	345, 316
Spankling, O. L., Acting Secretary of the Treasury, instructions	395
Stanley-Brown, J.:
Correspondence relating to pelagic sealing	360
Past and future of the fur seal	276
Statistics of London trade in seal-skins	147-152
Statistics, official, of seals taken for all purposes by Alaska Commercial Company	258-271
Strenus, salmon, held by aliens	388
Suggestions of British Bering Sea commissioners favor pelagic sealers	65
Swimming powers of seals	123
Testimony, British and American, respecting loss of female seals	165-173
Thornton (schooner), libel of	291
Tin used in canning, cost of	423
Townsend, C. H., statement regarding seal life	51
Treasury Department, correspondence with other Departments on pelagic sealing	315-382
Uhl, Edwin F., Acting Secretary of State, correspondence relating to pelagic sealing	328
United States, demonstration of propositions of	77
Vessels, British, seized, 1886-1890, list of	292
Vessels, sealing, American, names of	164, 204
Vessels, sealing, valuation of	162