PUBLIC INTEREST WANES AND MINING MARKET SAGS

Porcupine Stocks Show Generally Easier Disposition - Sharp Decline in Pearl Lake on Announcement That Mine Had Been Closed -Smelters Down to 11.

World Office.

Monday Evening, April 15. The Porcupine stocks moved along almost entirely in the even tenor of Rea their way in the opening session this week. Trading was quiet in the majority of instances, and as there was a slight revival of the liquidating movement, which showed, if anything, an Inter. Rub. . Standard Oil U.S. L. & H. in a lower range of values thruout the list.

A sharp decline in Pearl Lake, which dropped back four points to 13 on the Congress of the Congr announcement that the mine had been closed down temporarily, was the real McKin. Dar feature of the day. The stock was not traded in to any great extent, but has not enjoyed a broad market for many Timiskaming. Wettlaufer months, and consequently the incom- Cwn. Res ing of a few selling orders broke the back of prices. It was announced that financing arrangements were under way and that in all probability to anine would be reopened in a couple weeks. This inspired a slight reco ery and the shares closed above the low record point for the season.

Small Declines Shown.
Public interest in the market did n live up to the records established I week, and on the whole trading w mot as active as its usual wont. Sue issues as Dome Extension, Vipond a Crown Chartered were dealt in on active scale, but other than the transactions were limited.

Dome Extension dropped back over-full point to 68 1-2, and closed at tha figure; Preston was off to 9 1-2, are some of the lesser lights also showed small declines. The incoming of big liquidating order in Jupiter carried that stock back a couple of points to 41, and the close was around that cuotation. A further slump in Island Smellers, which dropped back to 11, a loss of about two points, was inspired by the incoming of a selling movement from disappointed holders who had Gt. North bought in on the recent advance. Els where price changes were narrow, a reflected nothing more than a deart of public interest.

At the local office of the company is was learned that work had been discontinued owing to the fact that the company had run out of funds to carry on development. President Cartwrigh stated that arrangements were und way to finance the property, and that as soon as these were completed t. mine would be reopened.

CONTRACTS LET FOR TWO SHAFTS

PORCUPINE, April 13.—(From Outman Up North.)—George Harris, well Man Up North.)—George Harris, well-known as an underground expert, has the contract for sinking two shafts on the Miller-Middleton lots to the west of the Hollinger, and also one shaft on the Dixon, to the south of the McIntyre. Both properties are the holdings of the Timmins syndicate.

The Dixon shaft is below the 100-foot mark, and the Miller-Middleton two shafts are down to 50 and 30 respectively. Big efforts are now being put forth prospect the Miller-Middleton in the underground as soon as possible. The Hollinger and Miller-Middleton veir is the same and the drift will be cur thru on both properties. Chas. Fox. NEW MANAGEMENT CONTROLS STANDARD

PORCUPINE. April 13.—(From Our Man Up North.)—Relative to enquiries concerning the Standard Mines, the Flynns are not in charge there now. A new management, it is stated. has taken hold. The supposed 15-footore body located with a diamond drill does not show up in the shaft, the drill having run lengthwise along a sliver of quartz. The Standard is famous for its rich pockets of ore. No. 1 shaft, 200 feet deep, stands 100 feet to the south of the power plant. No underground work is done at the 200-foot level yet, as there is not sufficient power provided to operate extra drills. All the underground efforts are centred in completing the blocking out of the first level.

The main drift in the 45-foot level is being shoved north and east towards the "Golden Stairway" vein, which is to be used as a "sweetener" in the milling of the first level. Once more the inquest into the death of Joseph Rosenthal, murdered Good Friday night near the hydro-electric station in Strachan-avenue, was adjourned for a week at the morgue last night. At the next sitting a great mass of evidence will be offered. Eli Dunkelsman, who lies in the General Hospital, ing that he received that night has not yet been interviewed by the police, for the very good reason that while his physical condition is steadily improving he has not yet, as far as the doctors in attendance can judge from his fragmentary uterances, recovered his memory of the terrible incidents of the night of the murder.
