An Action for Slander.

As a result of the Frontenac nomination speeches at Catarajui, Dr. J. W. ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—
The nominations in this city were very quiet, both parties agreeling to do away with any speech-making. In King's, George W. Fowler made a fighting
speech in reply to his opponent, Dr.
McAllister. So excited did the 2000 people present become that at the end of his speech Mr. Fowler was carried from the stage and thru the principal streets of the town, the crowd shouting for Fowler and Borden.

Nominations at Sandwich broke up in a row and a precipitous adjournment, when Hon. R. F. Sutherland, Liberal candidate, repeated an assertion of Mayor Wigle, former law partner of O. E. Fleming, Sufferland's opponent, reflecting on Fleming's connection with a transaction growing out of the amalgamation of Consumers' and McAlpine tobacco companies. As Sutherland was speaking Fleming arose to explain, and instantly the hall was in an uproar. The disturbance came after both candidates had spoken and almost at the conclusion of Sutherland's reply.

The only other excitement occurred when Thomas Drulard, who is somewhat demented, insisted on being nominated. He refused to subside and was ejected.

At Brockville.

Some variety was interjected into the nomination proceedings at Brockville when A. E. Donovan, M. L. A-elect, promised to vote for Hon. G. P. Graham if he would tell who composed the North Atlantic Trading Co.

The minister repited that Donovan was quite safe in throwing out the challenge, knowing that he could not tell. Sir Wilfrid had offered the information in confidence to Mr. Borden, who refused to get it that way, so that he might make political capital against the government. He said it was never meant that the G. T. P. should cost to nily $13,000,000. Those figures were the interest cost to the country.

Mr. Graham had a busy time. The parties agreed to a joint meeting for a discussion of the issues, and the Conservative candidate, John Webster, demonstrated that he could hold his own with his fluent opponent. The government was severely criticized on its record on the land, timber and immigration scandals, the latter involving the North Atlantic Trading Co. being entered into at great length. Mr. Graham was challenged to defend them and also justify the enormous cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific, in the face of the specific outlay being given four years ago in the newspapers, of which he was then editor, as $13,000,000.

Mr. Graham held that the former he was then editor, as $13,000,000.

Mr. Graham held that the former Conservative government sacrificed crown lands to their party friends at figures ridiculously lower than the Lau-rier administration.

It shows at a glance that in size, in luxuriousness, in solidity and equipment it has no equal anywhere at the price, and notwithstanding facilities for making ten thousand of these machines, the demand promises to be way ahead of the supply. This is in every respect a regular $3,000 car for $1,850, and the saving is sufficiently marked to encourage immediate orders for next season. landmark, the Wanless store, familiar to every habitue of Yonge-street. Time changes everything and the day came when it passed into other hands with ambitions to make it a store transcending the highest imaginings of the residents of the Queen City.

Wonderful Transformation.

In a few short weeks the old Wanless location has been transformed into a store whose brilliancy surpasses any thing hitherto seen in Toronto. Indeed, it recalls the magic charm of the takes of the Arabian nights, with their flashing lights glittering on all the wealth of the Indies. For in a few short weeks a wonderful novelty was sprung on the Toronto public. A store-always associated with one particular line of goods, needing no specialties in adornment, was transformed into another revealing all the accessories specially attractive to the ladies, to whem it specially appeals. And this innovation attractive to the ladies, to whem it specially appeals.
