Splendid Display of Pattern Hats, Advance Styles in Mantles, Exclu-

Spring opening is an event of no all importance in the women's world reat emporiums of fashion and repre-nts the combined genius of depart-tent managers, buyers and designers. The spring opening of the old estab-shed firm of John Catto & Son took ce yesterday. It is fair to say that the spacious show-rooms on the first floor never appeared to better advantage. In both millinery and mantles the choicest gowns of the designer's art of two continents were well represented and in solid continents. ented, and in solid fabrics—dress goods, silks and wash goods—the new est patterns from the world's markets

The style in hats for the comin spring and summer shows a slight di-gression from "turn-down" effects of last year and a tendency is noticed towards producing a more dressy appearance. This tendency was displayed in a large black mohair placque-shaped hat with pink roses and illaes. The trimmings are of black velvet and the side is slightly turned upward. The general effect was quite stunning. Another striking model was a fancy white straw shape, faced with black mohair and covered with white willow mes—one over crown and two

CITY AGAINST RADIALS

No Danger of Railway Board Giving Franchise Beyond 1921 Limit, Says Commissioner Harris.

Property Commissioner Harris does not scent in the T. H. Lennox bill, now before the legislature, to allow municipalities to petition the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board for connection between two between the control of the con nection between two railways any dark and sinister design to get an en-trance into the city for the Metro-politan Railway. So far from being alarmed, he views the prospect with dium thru whom the Radial Railway has been negotiating for years, and whose strong advice has been that the company be not permitted to enter on a franchise extending beyond the term of the Street Railway's charter, which expires in 1921, says that the present proposal is exactly along the line of one made by himself in 1908, but upon which the board of control did not act.

"At present, the right to make such application is vested solely in the rail-ways themselves, and the only change contemplated is to give the municipali-"The only thing which has stood in the way of the radial cars coming in has been their refusal to agree a franchise which would end

The commissioner holds that the city is in no danger whatever of any appli-cation to the railway board resulting in a franchise beyond the limit set by the city as the act under which the board was created is sufficient pro-

Section 218 of the act, quoted by Mr. Section 218 of the act, quoted by Mr. Harris in support, says that, notwithstanding anything contained in the act, the board shall not have power without the consent of the municipality to impose terms extending the charter of any radial railway seeking entrance to a municipality beyond the period of any existing street railway

However, Ald. Maguire, who was active in opposing the street railway's request that the city co-operate in the extension of its line over the Glen-road bridge into North Rosedale, sees in the Lennox bill confirmation of his suspicions that the company's object is not merely to accommodate the public when the Q. O. R. celebration is held in Rosedale athletic field next June. The alderman contends that such an extension by carrying the terminus close to Moore Park, territory in which the Metropolitan holds franchise, might pave the way for a junction between the two systems and enable the radial cars to reach goal. It is likely to be an unsettling factor in the dealings between the city and street railway regarding the Glenroad extension, and a lively debate at meet Monday's council meeting is probable.
