DONOVAN PRAISES PEERLESS TY COBB GREATEST OF ALL

Magee Paid Highest Compliment When Compared With Tyrus, Says Bill

HIS EARLY CAMPAIGNS

Worst Looking Outfielder Ever When He First Reported to Detroit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—"When George Stallings said that Loe Magee was more like Ty Cobb than any player in basel he paid Magee the highest compliment any ball player ever received," said Bill Donovan the other day. "If Magee is second to the Georgia wonder in allaround ability, he was a good buy at any rice.

"Since I first saw Cobb, a number of players have flashed who were touted as good or better than he is. But Ty is still the greatest player in the game.

"He was not always a great ball player. I remember him when he first reported to Detroit. He was the worst-looking outfielder I ever saw trying to make a big league club. He was fast and could hit, but his fielding was a thing of horror.

APPLEGARTH RETURNS

Out With Challenge and Big Wager That He Can Beat Thompson.

NEW YORK, Feb. s.-w. R. Apple garth, the English sprinter, who was beaten in the Stockholm Olympic by Ralph Craig and other Americans, is out with a challenge to run the winner of the Powderhall (Edinburgh sprint, R. Thompson, who was stated to be ready to run any man in England. Applegarth's Gocker answers) as follows: "I will back Applegarth, against Thompson over any distance from 100 yards to a furlorg, the race to take place within two months, for any sum up to $2500 a side. Applegarth has done no running for some time and the time will be necessary in order to get him fit." Thompson von the Powerhall 130 yard handicap from 11½ yards in 12½ seconds, which would apparently make him easy for Applegarth.

IS FREDDIE WELSH UNABLE TO MAKE LIGHTWEIGHT LIMIT?

Signs to Fight Second-rater at Close to the Welterweight Scale--Yankees Howling Him Down Again.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Freddie Welsh, who has been matched to meet Young Jack O'Brien at Norristown on Monday, Feb. 7, seems to have developed into a genuine welterweight of late. Under the terms of the match the men are to weigh in at 141 pounds ringside. This is just one pound under the welterweight limit. Perhaps the real reason that Welsh reluses to defend his title in a champion-ship match is that he cannot make the weight. During the past few months all his matches have been at catch-weights, and he seldom scales under 140 pounds. This extra poundage represents the surplus flesh that gathers on all athletes after reaching a certain age, and it canterms of the match the men are to weigh in at 141 pounds ringside. "That makes Cobb all the more remarkable. He started with a superbiphysique and an unusual batting eye, but with faults in his outfield flay that would have sent any man without his keen brath back into obscurity.

"Cobb outthinks us all. That is the secret of his greatness. He starts to figure things in baseball where we stop.

"On extra-base hits, as soon as he hits a ball, he knows just how far he can irravel on it. He rarely makes a mistake. He invariably beats a throw by an eyelash, but he beats it.

"Ty is not as fast as he was. He has grown heavler, thicker in the chest; and his legs have lost their slimness. Yet last year he decided to set a new basestealing mark, and he did it. If he is not injured, and cares to, I know he will steal 100 bases this season.

"I do not believe that anyone will beat him out for batting leadership of the American League, unless he experiences eye trouble or age slows him up materially. If any player flashes who can his 450, Cobb will hit at least 451.

"Ty is an individualist to a certain extent, but not enough fo hinder his value to a team. He loves the limelight, and when he first broke in labored under the delusion that he was a fighter. The boys on the Detroit team at the time were rather handy with their firsts, and soon disillusioned him. As a boxer or roughand-tumble fighter, Cobb is the greatest ball player who ever stepped on a diamond."

PLAYERS' SALARIES WILL BE CUT TO PAY BASEBALL WAR LOSSES

The player pays! The baseball magnates lost thousands of dollars because of their fight against the Federal League, and now that peace reigns once more they are going to try and recoup their losses thru cutting the salaries of the players. Word comes from Cincinnati that Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club and chairman of the National Commission, declares that no pitcher will be tendered a contract this season calling for more than $3200. As pitchers are usually the highest priced diamond artists the players in the other positions will undoubtedly be working for very small salaries. Garry admits that there will be some twirlers getting over $3200 this year, but they will be working under contracts that have not yet expired.

The sum named by the Cincinnati president is that offered to Toney. From Herrmann's talk, it was evident that the magnates have reached some sort of agreement regarding new contracts, and that a low level for many years to players' salaries will soon be reached. The day of high salaries is gone,

AURA LEE LOSE CLOSE CONTEST TO KEW BEACH KEW BEACH BLANKED

East Enders Grab Long End of Three to Two Score in Good Game.

In a red-hot encounter, Kew Beach defeated Aura Lee, 3-2, in the senior series of the Beaches League. The brand of hockey displayed by the teams was high-class, and the two twenty-five-minute halves were full of excitement.

Beaches opened the proceedings by attacking the Aura Lee goal, and Mullett scored. The same player scored another two minutes later, when he slapped a pass from the right past the Lee goaler. The players served up fast, hard checking hockey during the period, and never let interest flag for a moment. Chinn scored for Aura Lee with a shot from the side Flynn went up himself and scored the Beaches' third goal. This was followed a minute later by another for Aura Lee thru Chinn.

minute later by another for Aura Lee thru Chinn.

The speed and hard checking continued in the second half, with the north enders doing most of the attacking, but they found Thompson in the Beaches' goal a hard nut to crack.

Rush after rush was tried on each of the goals, but the defences kept the shooting from well out. Neither team could score in the second. Line-up:

Picked by American Expert to Win Olympic Walk Sixteen Years Hence.

By W. A. Collins. NEW YORK, Feb. 5 .- It is not ofte that I go on record selecting this or that youngster as the coming champio in any particular line of sport, but when I do I usually am right. Just at present I feel in the humor of picking the winner of the walking event to be held at the Olympic games in 1932 somewhere on this universe.

The first selection is George Beverly Olympic Goulding, con of the great Geo. Goulding.

Young George was born June 29, 1912, Young George was born June 28, 1912, that is, while his father was in England en route to Stockholm, where he annexed the Olympic championship. Although the youngster is but three and a half years of age, he has been hailed by all who ever saw him as "a chip of the old block." Last season Goulding had his boy with him on a trip to Buffalo, and after the champion had won his race his little boy walked an exhibition lap. His style is so much like his father's that great things are predicted for him in the athletic world. Mrs. Goulding is as enthusiastic about athletics as her remarkable husband.

In such an environment George, ir. In such an environment George, jr., is bound to grow up and be a worthy successor to his daddy. He is picked that almost wiped the game out. But the old idea is coming back—racing for the sport of it alone, and that is the only way I am touching it. Those laws were passed because people thought that racing was taking the young man away from his work and allowing him to bethis and other people's money, and they demanded that it cease. But there is a new order of things that put that all by, and I. personally am opposed to men racing horses for betting purposes.

"I bought in some yearlings in a businesslike way. Now a man who buys a second-hand motor car buys junk, and I feel that buying out a stable is some; thing on the same order. Of course I am taking a chance with my youngsters, but I think I'll get the best of it."

Mr. Loft maps out his sentences like the rack of a whip and, like all successful men, he frames epigrams unconsciously. Yet he is a model of courtesy and kindness. He works and practically lives in his corking modern factory, which, the new, is already too small to handle his immense business. He was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Big Tim Sullivan in congress, and was immediately returned for a second term. Like Big Tim he gives largely and often, but the his charities are many he never allows his name to be used. He says:

"A good sport and a good fellow does a good turn and doesn't tell about it. Advertising those things takes all the good out of the doing."

Riversides Trounce Classics in Intermediate Beaches Fixture at · the Arena.

Riversides easily defeated Classics at the Arena Saturday afternoon by the score of 8 goals to 3 in an intermediate Beaches League fixture. The game opened up fairly fast with Riversides getting the edge in the first five minutes of play. After seven minutes Ferriman scored for Riversides with a long shot from the wing. The game slowed up considerably after this and both teems laid on the wood, Finally Thompson evened up natters by working the Riverside defence and scoring. Penalties were handed out right and left. Thompson made Waldon look bad when he took the puck off him and scored, putting Classics one ahead. McIlwain tied it up for Riversides when he knocked the puck into his own nets.

In the second half the teams played six men a side and the change made the game more open with something doing all the time. After several fruites rushes from both sides Riversides sent up a three-man combination which sulted in Worters scoring, Classics come back with a goai, but Referce Warhorne disallowed it. After that it was all Riversides. In the dying moments worters was injured and had to be carried off. Play finished five men aside. The line-up:
