An Unbreakable

Set of Teeth

There is a class of patients who do not object to paying a fair price for artificial teeth, if they can really secure comfort, usefulness and naturalness.

I have a set of teeth, such as is unobtainable in any other office in this city, to my knowledge. It is out of the ordinary line and unlike the teeth in general use. Its beauty is at once apparent, and it is practically unbreakable.

It will pay those who are desirous of obtaining the best to be had in the dental line, to call and inspect this for themselves.

I will gladly demonstrate its superiority over other plates, even if you have no immediate intention of investing.

JUDGEMENT IN AN IMPORTANT PROBATE COURT CASE TODAY

ther all the meat, and practically all the vegetables--on a somewhat liberal scale used by the brother were got from deceased's shop, and no account thereof kept or payment made. The value of the supplies is now placed at $3 a week, which is ordered to be deducted from the claim of $908, reducing the claim to $216.50.

6. The claim of Teresa Elizabeth Murphy, a sister-in-law for $80.15.

This arose out of nursing in the last illness deceased being an inmate in the sister's house. It was contended that it should be treated as a preferred claim under the "Wages Act." The claim was allowed in full, but not as a preferred claim, there being no contract and the claimant not being in deceased's employ.

7. The claim of John Murphy, the brother for $80.

This is a claim for nursing and lost time in last illness, the deceased at the time being an inmate of his brother's house.

The brother is employed in the I. C. R.
He lost a few days time, but his position was not in any way imperilled thereby. He did some nursing. The court thought this was only what might be expected of a brother, and accordingly disallowed the claim.

8. The claim of Frank Spittel, Jr., for $80.15.

This was for work and material and money lent, and was allowed in full.

The balance available for distribution was settled, and the same ordered to be paid, as a first and final dividend to the creditors.

executor, Dr. A. W. MacRae, K. C., advocate for the brother and the sister-in-law. Mr. F. P. Regan, advocate for the brother-in-law.

IN CITY COURT

Judgement in Case of Coughlan vs Flood & Bates--Jas.

Brennan Sues for Board
Bill

In the city court this morning judgment was rendered in the case of Coughlan against Flood & Bates and the King for the defendant and $17.54 was granted to the defendants in their set-off. Flood & Bates sub-let a plumbing contract in the military stores building to the plaintiff for $800 on the ground that the specifications had not been adhered to with respect to the installation of six hose connections whilst he installed only two, the contract price and he instituted civil proceedings to recover $80, above which it was impossible to sue in the city court. The plaintiff's contention was that the specifications should have mentioned that hose connections were to be effected with the two stand-pipes on each of the three floors of the structure. The defendants claimed that the contract was incomplete as the specifications called for two stand-pipes on each floor with hose connections. The plaintiff installed the pipes but placed two hose racks on the ground floor. The defendants claimed that the controversy should have been referred to Chief Architect Ewart for adjustment.

Mr. Ewart said it was imperative that the four remaining hose racks be installed and the public works department related $100 of the contractors' original price until they fulfilled the requirements. In completing they expended $101.20.

In announcing the verdict the court said it was doubtful if the defendants would have won the action if the chief architect's strong statements had not been taken into consideration. The architect said the installation of two connections was entirely inadequate and in the event of fire the stand-pipes would be valueless without the hose connections on the upper floors. From the evidence it was also gleaned that in removing one connection from one of the two pipes on the lower floor and replacing it the plaintiff must have considered it necessary to connect with at least one pipe on one of the upper floors. The conclusion was therefore reached that four additional racks were necessary and as the plaintiff waived the right to enter the case in the county court by dropping $4.17, that amount was deducted from $21.70, the difference between $80 the plaintiff's claim and $101.70 the set-off filed by the contractors, and the defendants were allowed $17.54 with the judgment. Full counsel fee was allowed. The plaintiffs will appeal from the decision.

James Brennan sued an Englishman named Bearwood for $14 alleged to be due for board. Brennan in his testimony said Bearwood became one of his boarders on October 28 last. When he departed in February he was $19 in arrears. He paid $5 shortly afterwards. Bearwood, who is in custody, asserted that November 10 was the date of his debut at Brennan's hostelry. When he separated from Brennan in February the plaintiff struck him over the eye with a club and threatened to "brain" him if he ever returned. In the melee he lost his hat, which Brennan retained. Since the estrangement, he claimed that Brennan has harassed him and prevented him from obtaining employment. Brennan was querying his former boarder if one "Spud" Murphy did not become responsible for any indebtedness when he "soured" ordered adjournment until 2 o'clock. Brennan said he had brought his books to court to substantiate his contention but was unable to produce them.

TREATED THE LADIES

WITH DISCOURTESY

St. John, N. B., April 29 '09.

To the Editor of the Evening Times,

Dear Sir--As a member of the delegation of ladies who went to Fredericton in connection with the Woman Suffrage Bill just disposed of in the provincial legislature, permit me to thank you for the editorial of last night, in which you so well sum up the treatment by the majority of the legislature of the women of New Brunswick. As you will say: "The question with the province have been mocked and belittled by twenty-four members of the legislature. Had you yourself been present, sir, at most of the interviews between the delegates and the members, as well as at the debate on the bill, you could not better have characterized that treatment than in the above terms. I think you would have used stronger language if you could have been made aware of all the questionable facetiousness that was indulged in by members of these legislatures, whose chief aim seemed to be to ridicule upon those ladies, who had gone up to the capital to present their claim in the matter of certain franchise rights."

Now, waiving entirely the question of the merits of our aim, I would like to ask you, sir, if ever a distinguished class in making an appeal to the legislative body by whose laws it is obliged to be governed, though having no legal political rights, has not the right to something better than a questionably facetious consideration of their appeal. I refrain from giving examples and quoting expressions in corroboration of what I have said, though I could well do so. Perhaps you, sir, could explain to me the attitude of the masculine mind which at this late date can find it so droll that a woman should vote."

To work and strike to do some good with it, and think we could do more good with it if we had the basis as the foundation of all efforts, and when we go to the only source whence it can be obtained, namely the legislature, we are laughed at and joked about, and an Honorable member moved an indefinite postponement of our bill, and the rest of the twenty-four members gave resounding emphasis to the applause which the motion excited, and when the vote against the bill is finally taken, the speaker of the house with a smile of satisfaction, passes it over to the oblivion of the waste-paper basket.

Now, sir, sorry as I was to see this page into oblivion, my disappointment on that score was overshadowed by the feeling of regret that the legislative body chosen to represent the interests of this province should be composed of men who have so slight an opinion of the intelligence of women.
