

Fortune of War Brings Them Together Again; This Time in 'Blighty'

Three Former Comrades in Scottish Regiment, Chums in the Gallant 26th, Now Together in England

Bruce W. Erb, of 89 Metcalf street, has received the following interesting letter from Private Henry G. Gibson, of this city, a member of the bugle band of the 18th Canadian Reserve Battalion, England. Private Gibson tells how he and Drummer William Burton and Bugler James Brown belonged to a Scottish regiment in Scotland in time of peace and then met again in St. John when the 26th Battalion was being organized and recruited in this city. All three joined the 26th. He writes:—

"I received your very welcome letter on August 1 and was glad to hear from you. I am keeping well myself. The weather here is still very good with just a little shower now and again to keep the dust down. I expect to lose sight of James McCulloch; he is on draft for 'somewhere' and is to leave soon. I always remember you to him. Enclosed is a picture of Sergeant Drummer William Burton, Bugler James Brown and myself, all three being members of the original 26th Battalion. We were old chums and served in the 8th Scottish Rifles, Glasgow, Scotland, where we separated and after many years met again in St. John and all three joined the colors again and went over to France with the good old 26th; there to part once again, only to meet once more in 'Blighty.' Sgt. Burton is still the drum major in the 18th Canadian Reserve Battalion. We all look forward to some day soon when we can play the boys of the 26th up King street in St. John on their return from victory over the Hun. Sergeant Burton and Henry Gibson, prior to going overseas were in the employ of T. McAvity & Sons

"Onward With God!" Cries Kaiser While Hungry Austria Clamors For Peace

Will Russia or Austria be the first to collapse under the hammering of the enemy legions without and the discord of quarreling forces within? Some editors even think the reply to this question will decide the war. While Russia staggers under the loss of Riga, the demoralization of her armies, and the desperate confusion of her internal affairs, Austria recoils before Italy's inexorable offensive and her hungry people clamor for an early peace.

If Germany can force Russia into a separate peace, she opens for herself a vast reservoir of desperately needed supplies, doubles the number of men available for her Western battle-lines, and increases tremendously the difficulty of the task to which America is pledged. On the other hand, if Italy brings Austria to her knees, Germany is cut off from Turkey and Bulgaria, her Pan-Germanic dream is shattered and peace with victory is brought immeasurably nearer for the United States and her Allies.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for September 15th, shows these two uppermost phases of the war in all its lights. Other articles that will be sure to interest the public in this number of "The Digest" are:

"The Digest" Breaks Down Antiquated Barriers

It is only by learning to understand one another that men or nations can achieve a real peace. All wars, national, social, or personal, spring from lack of comprehension. The man or woman who strives to see things as they look to the other side—is, in his or her small way, helping to hasten the coming day when all resort to violence may be as obsolete as the dodo. The leading pioneer in this direction among current periodicals is THE LITERARY DIGEST, published not exclusively for the rich man or the poor man, not for the militarist or the pacifist, not for the idealist or the practical plodder, not for the alien or the native-born, but for all of these alike. It strives to present all view-points upon the great questions of our time without bias. It quotes from all periodicals freely and impartially. Read it and learn to understand your fellow man.
