Steamer Crew at Halifax Tell Amazing Story of Piracy

CAUTIONS TO CANCER OLAM

SAY HIJACKERS CAPTURE MILLION WORTH OF LIQUOR

Crew Says 35,000 Cases Unloaded From Mulhouse Off Jersey Coast.

OFFICERS BOUND

Report That One of the Pirates was Shot Dead is Unconfirmed.

(By Canadian Press.)

Halifax, July 10.—An amazing tale of piracy among the liquor ships on the Jersey coast "run row" involving the theft of a million dollars worth of liquor and $3,000 in cash, has been related by members of the crew of the French steamer Mulhouse, which arrived here yesterday. It is understood there will be an investigation by the French consul general here, to decide whether or not the piracy tale is bona fide.

According to the story, the Mulhouse was boarded some days ago by 30 "highjackers," who drove the crew below decks and after manaculating the officers, kept them prisoners for 10 days while they unloaded 35,000 cases of liquors into small boats.

Crew Robbed

The story was told that the prisoners were half starved and that those of them who agreed to help in discharging the cargo for which they would be paid by the pirates, were afterward robbed of their earnings at the point of gun.

Investigation Proceeds

Representatives of Lamorne Francaise, owner of the Mulhouse, en route here from St. Pierre to institute an investigation into the hair-raising story told by the officers and men. They will arrive tomorrow. In the meantime an investigation is being conducted at the instance of French consular authorities into the damage sustained by the ship during the alleged 10-day "visitation" of the pirate band.

It is understood that both cargo and ship were fully insured, which means that a third investigation will probably be instituted as soon as the underwriters, reported to be French Lloyds, are called upon to make good the loss.

Emile Gaboury, French consul-general here, expressed astonishment this morning as to how the news had leaked out. He said that as soon as the loss had been reported instructions were placed on board that no one should leave or board the ship, pending further advice. He did not purpose holding an official investigation into the piracy story unless formally instructed to do so, and he was unwilling to discuss the report made officially to him by the captain and two officers of the ship.

Quaco Queen Mentioned

James Fraser, representative of the owners gave out a statement this morning to the effect that the value of the stolen liquors was about $300,000 and that the lot consisted of 38,200 cases including brandy, whiskey, champagne and French wines. The pirates, according to Mr. Fraser's statement, came aboard the Mulhouse on June 24 from a speed boat named the Navey Away, New York. The seized liquors were placed on board the following craft: the schooners Patara, Clarke Corkum, M. M. Gardiner, Quaco Queen, and Marie Annod, all thought to be of Nova Scotia registry, the steamer Genevieve, place of registry not stated, the schooner Catherine Marie, Nassau, and the schooner Fessie Aubrey, place of registry not stated.

PREMIERS' ACTION IS COMMENDED

France Hails Agreement on Experts' Plan as Key to Peace—British Pleased.

(By Webb Miller)

Paris, July 10.—Edouard Herriot and Ramsay MacDonald, Premiers of France and Britain, after day and night of conversations succeeded in bringing about a Franco-British agreement on the experts' plan and the subject of reparations, which was hailed here today as a real move toward European peace.

The Briton made the most concessions, going far toward surrendering his position that the experts' report goes beyond the Treaty of Versailles, but he saved the proposed inter-Allied conference, which will be held July 16, as planned.

One thing the premiers agreed upon heartily and that was to make a concerted effort to have the U. S. name an official member of the Reparations Commission and that the supervising director of reparations under the experts' plan should be an American. The French press hailed the agreement as solving differences which threatened Anglo-French unity.

NEW RICH SILVER FIND IN ONTARIO IS ANNOUNCED

Heavily Mineralized Samples of Ore are Brought to Fort William.

LOCATION WITHHELD

Information Indicates, However, That It is in Vicinity of Old Claim.

(Canadian Press.)

Fort William, Ont., July 10.—A silver discovery just announced by George Harris and R. J. Cross of Fort William is said by the discoverers to be one of the most sensational finds of the year in "mineral claims." Until they have finally secured their locations, the discoverers are not making any statement as to its exact location, describing it vaguely as about 100 miles from Fort William to the northeast. This would bring it north of Pays Plat, close to which station on the C. P. R. silver was discovered many years ago.

MEDICAL MEN AT DEMONSTRATION BY DR. GLOVER

Some Endorse, Others Say Cannot Yet be Accepted as Cure.

DR. ROBERTS THERE

N. B. Health Minister Sends Telegram Dealing With the Matter.

(By Canadian Press.)

Philadelphia, July 10.—Dr. T. J. Glover of Toronto, speaking last night before the Philadelphia Clinical Association and the Clinical Society of the National Stomach Hospital, in the Academy of National Sciences, here, gave a demonstration of isolation of organism which he said causes cancer, and said he hoped to be able to immunize human beings.

Dr. Glover's work, which was illustrated by stereopticon views showing various stages of treatment and the isolated bacilli, was endorsed in address by several speakers; others cautioned against hasty acceptance of the discovery as a permanent remedy.

According to Dr. Glover the carcinoma, or cancer organism, is a mobile, spore-bearing bacillus occurring singly in pairs or in chains of three or more. He has been able to isolate it, he said, from every type of human cancer tissue and to grow it in special media using it to produce cancer in animals and to develop an anti-toxin.

"In our work on immunity," said Dr. Glover, "we inoculated a number of guinea pigs and monkeys with an old standard toxin which had been partially neutralized by the addition of anti-toxin at intervals of once a week for a period of three weeks. These animals were watched for three months. At the end of that time we inoculated these same animals, along with an equal number of healthy control animals, with a fresh toxin, the lethal dose of which had been previously determined. The control animals that were given lethal doses of the toxin all died in from two to three days. The immunized animals that were given one and one half lethal doses of the toxin did not die. This, we believe, will form the basis for the production of immunity against the disease in the human."

The anti-toxin, he said, is produced from young healthy horses. Doctors M. T. Warmuth and James T. Donnelly, of the National Stomach Hospital, Philadelphia; Julian Loudon, chief physician of St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto; James McCormack, of the same institution, and Edmund E. King, past president and member of the council of the Toronto Academy of Medicine, endorsed Dr. Glover's work. Doctors Warmuth and Donnelly told of their experiences with the serum. In extreme cases, those having but weeks or months to live, they declared, little could be expected of the serum, as it was not a "cure" as such, but a treatment.

Up to May 1, 1924, they said, 84 humans had been treated. Of these 25 died, four showed no improvement, 38 were improving and 17 were free from all symptoms of the disease, some for as long as a year and a half. They recommended the removal of cancerous growths by surgery, declaring that the action of the serum upon the remaining diseased glands would be more rapid and effective. Most early cases, where the disease is local, they said, would yield to serum treatment.

Caution Advised. After Dr. Glover and his associates had presented their case, a discussion followed during which a number of Philadelphia physicians and scientists cautioned against hasty acceptance of the carcinoma serum as a permanent remedy. Final proof of the efficacy of the serum, it was pointed out, must come from repeated demonstrations over a long period of time.

Dr. John A. Kommer, a serologist of Philadelphia, asked Dr. Glover for details in the isolation of the serum. Dr. Joseph McFarland, pathologist, of the University of Pennsylvania, declared he had gone to the laboratory of Dr. Glover in New York and requested to see the carcinoma serum, but was refused permission.

Applause and Boos. This precipitated a lively debate, Dr. Glover replying that he had been obliged to come from repeated demonstrations over a long period of time.
