

STRUGGLE OF MOTHERS FOR A CROWN

Bitter Fight Will Be Precipitated When Old Franz Joseph Dies

A SERIOUS DILEMMA

The Question Can Be Settled Only by Setting Aside Either Austrian or Hungarian Law in Favor of Son or Nephew

Copyright, 1911, in the United States by Curtis Brown.

Vienna, Oct. 25.—Austria-Hungary is preparing for trouble of a kind which Europe has not known for a couple of centuries. Who will be nominated heir to the oldest of European empires when tottering Franz Joseph dies, and martial, pragmatic Franz Ferdinand reigns in his stead? Will it be Franz Ferdinand's twenty-four-year-old nephew Archduke Karl Franz Joseph, or his cousin, Prince Max of Austria, or his nephew Prince Max of Hungary? The question is a serious dilemma which will be settled only by setting aside either Austrian or Hungarian law in favor of son or nephew.

On these momentous questions wise, forethoughtful Austrians are beginning to make up their minds and pick their choice. It is necessary, they feel, to be on the winning side. And all the myriad traditional interests, combinations, sentiments and calculations of profit which lurk in the gray shadows of the imperial court are being mobilized secretly, so that when the dynastic Armageddon comes to be fought every courier and soldier shall be in his appointed place.

The Austrian Empire—bella gerant alii, tu, felix Austria, tuus—was made by a fortunate marriage. It now threatens to be undone by one. For there is not a single Austrian constitutional jurist who has succeeded in devising a way out of the dilemma which will arise on the day of Franz Joseph's death. Strictly speaking, the new Kaiser Franz Ferdinand, will have two absolutely legitimate heirs, one heir to the Austrian crown lands and the other to the ancient Kingdom of Hungary. The first is his nephew, Karl Franz Joseph, son of his dead brother, Otto. The second is his nine-year-old son, Prince Max of Hungary, by his morganatic consort, Duchess Hohenberg, nee Cholek.

Laws at Odds

Austrian and Hungarian constitutional laws are flatly opposed here. According to Austrian law and Habsburg family law the next heir is Archduke Karl, though the theory of morganatic marriages, though legitimate, have no royal status at all. The Hungarian constitutional law ignores altogether the theory of morganatic marriages and declares that all legal marriages are equally valid and that the wife and children take the husband's rank. According to Hungarian law, therefore, Sophie Hohenberg will be next Queen of Hungary and her son Max will be Crown Prince, and if Austrian law declares that Karl is Emperor of Austria, that, as Hungarian law, is Austria's concern. But this easy settlement is in fact quite impracticable, because the personal union of Austria and Hungary under one crown is an essential part of the compact entered into by the Hungarian agreement of 1867.

That was the reason why Franz Ferdinand's dogged decision to marry Countess

Makes a Bad Cough Vanish Quickly—or Money Back

The Quickest, Surest Cough Remedy You Ever Used. Family Supply for 50c. Saves You $2.

You have never used anything which takes hold of a bad cough and cures it so quickly as Pinex Cough Syrup. Gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate, deep-seated cough in 24 hours. Guaranteed to give prompt and positive results even in croup and whooping cough.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of Norway White Pine extract, rich in quinine and other healthful elements. A recent bottle makes 10 ounces—a family supply—of the best cough remedy that money can buy, at a saving of 50c. Simply mix with some warm sugar syrup or diluted honey and it is ready to use. It is ready in 5 minutes—disappears in 15.

Children love Pinex Cough Syrup—it tastes good, and it is a pleasant remedy for cold or cough. Stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative—a good feature. A handy household medicine for hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, etc., and unusually effective for persistent lung troubles. Used in more homes in the U. S. and Canada than any other cough remedy.

Sophie met with strong opposition from the Kaiser. It meant dissolving the empire, Franz Ferdinand, however, was determined to keep his pledge to the attractive Sophie, and a compromise was made.

A secret meeting was held in 1889 at the Hofburg, and Archduke Franz Ferdinand solemnly vowed that he renounced all imperial or royal rights of his future wife and future children. This oath referred to Hungary, because in Austria there was no question of rights. It was assumed that the marriage was settled; that after Franz Ferdinand's death both crowns would go to his nephew, and some even thought to facilitate his personal claims and that Archduke Karl would directly succeed the old Kaiser.

The settlement had a flaw from the first. The Hungarians were not inclined to accept the renunciation, "Franz Ferdinand," said their constitutional lawyers, "can renounce his own rights to the Hungarian throne, but he cannot renounce the rights of his unborn eldest son, as his son—if there is one—will be Hungary's lawful sovereign. The fact that Austria won't have him at Kaiser doesn't concern us. He is our King, and nobly—except himself when he grows up—can renounce his right to the succession." It is a paradox that while the Hungarians defend Franz Ferdinand, as he indeed detests them, they were thus in the position of supporting the claims of the Habsburgs. But the Hungarian Independence party, which wants complete separation from Austria, sees in this doctrine a man of strong character, full of patriotic tradition of Austria as heir of the Roman Empire, and immersed in ambitious plans for the future of the empire.

That, however, is not the intent of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, who is an ambitious man of strong character, full of patriotic tradition of Austria as heir of the Roman Empire, and immersed in ambitious plans for the future of the empire.

What did you have for Breakfast?

WAS it the sort of breakfast that merely played to your appetite?

Or was it the sort of breakfast that is not only appetizing, but gives the right fuel on which to do a good day's work?

Food has two purposes: to build tissue and to furnish energy. Science says that the model food furnishes 5 1/2 parts energy to one part tissue. Tillson's Rolled Oats are one of the few model foods because they furnish energy and tissue in almost exactly the ratio of 5 1/2 to 1.

For beginning the day's work, there is no better basis than Rolled Oats, and there are no better Rolled Oats than Tillson's.

Rolled thinnest—cook quickest.

Stanfields and Hewtons in Merger—James K. Munns Dead—Political

Halifax, Nov. 8.—It is learned that Stanfield Limited, of which John Stanfield, M. P., is president, whose works are at Truro, has absorbed the Hewson Woolen Company, of Amherst, the terms of the merger being that the Hewson shareholders shall receive par for their stock together with the current half yearly dividend.

It is proposed to push the knitting department at Amherst, where labor for this purpose is more easily obtained. H. I. Hewson, manager of the Hewson mill, will remain at Amherst as local manager there.

One of the oldest Halifax citizens, James K. Munns, died suddenly this afternoon, aged 82. Mr. Munns came from Ireland to Nova Scotia the year before Confederation when he went into the clothing business, which he has conducted ever since. A daughter is the wife of C. S. Cameron, of Sydney, controller of the Dominion Iron & Steel Co.

This was nomination day for the house of assembly in three counties in Nova Scotia. In Annapolis, Hon. O. T. Daniels, attorney-general, was elected by acclamation.

In Lunenburg William Duff, of Lunenburg, fish merchant, and treasurer of the municipality, was nominated by the Liberals and A. Charnock Zwicker, of Malone Bay, lumberman, was nominated by the Conservatives. The nomination proceedings were marked by many interruptions and proved very stormy.

In Digby Harry H. Marshall was nominated by the Conservatives and A. E. Wall, who was the Liberal candidate in the federal election, was nominated by that party.

APPROPRIATE QUOTATION

A druggist went to have his teeth fixed by a dentist. When the work was done the dentist declined to accept more than a nominal fee. The patient, in return for this favor, insisted later on the dentist taking a volume of the reverend gentleman's own writing. It was a disquisition on the Pains, and on the fly-leaf he had inscribed this appropriate quotation:—

"And my mouth shall show forth thy praise."

WAS SO RUN DOWN

COULD NOT DO ANY WORK.

Thought She Was So Far Gone Nothing Could Cure Her.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS Made Her Strong and Healthy.

Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung, and when this happens, the heart starts to work in sympathy with the nerves. In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as act on the heart itself. Mrs. F. McAden, Brookside, Sask., writes:—

"I was so run down, and was unable to do any work, and when I had a neighbor advised me to try your Pills, I told her that I thought nothing could cure me, as I was too far gone."

"I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did not believe I had a chance of getting better, as I was so run down, and when I had a neighbor advised me to try your Pills, I told her that I thought nothing could cure me, as I was too far gone."
