PERFECT REVELATION IN MINERAL WEALTH

Mining Expert Speaks of His Impressions Gathered in Tour of Province vancouver, Oct. 12. - Bronzed and Abraham. Smelting Company, arrived here from and C. F. Costerton. a three months tour of the principal mining camps of Portland Canal disand a smelter at Grand Forks, with a deaf mute, and that the engineer retheir efforts to safeguard the youth of daily capacity of 4,00 tons, to examine peatedly blew his whistle, we find that their end mining propositions with a view to no blame can be attached to any pertheir purchase as well as to report on son in charge of the train." the possibilities of securing custom ore for treatment at a smelter the company contemplates erecting in northern Briish Columbia. The Granby is now delevoping the Hidden Creek group, a copper-gold proposition, with immens canage possibilities, at Goose Bay, Observatory Inict, Portland Canal dis-

At the Hotel Vancouver, Mr. William stated that the trip had proved a per-fect revelation to him. He did not bond Bradshaw, Martin and Mary any properties, but sent home in advance hundreds of samples of ore from various districts visited. It is not unlikely that the Granby will make extensive new mining investments in the north as the life of its Phoenix mine is limited, and the management intends to continue in existence and transfer the scene of its activities to with basement below for Bradshaw and southeastern Alaska.

"I must frankly admit that I saw some wonderful showings, principally of copper, in my three months' tour," said Mr. Williams, who has a reputa- & Dill, contractors. tion as one of the most reputable and onservative mining men in the west "The immense size of the northern country and its possibilities for the production of gold, copper and silver and in the various districts I visited has a great future. All that is needed is the application of capital and the transportation facilities to make those regions world-famous and centres of activity. I paid more attention to copper propositions than to others, bu ealize that the other minerals are also widely and extensively distributed up there. As soon as collateral conditions come into line there will be a big tonnage available for a smelter at some oint on the northern sea coast." Mr. Williams made a detailed ex the Portland Canal district before proceeding to the Windy Arm district in Horse. He found mining operations in Justice Martin, dwelling on Belmont progress under Col. Conrad's direction avenue, $3,200; to Mrs. Bessie M. Tait, in Windy Arm district. The ores there dwelling on Graham street, $2,800; to are of high grade. The White Horse James Morgan, dwelling on Cook street, shows big possibilities. Several of the mines are now on a shipping basis. In the north Mr. Williams met Mr. Dickinson, the new manager of the Whit Pass & Yukon railway, who expressed to him the earnest desire of the management to co-operate with mining mer in opening up the country. A visit to Rainy Hollow, a promising copper camp followed. Mr. Williams there saw numerous splendid copper prospects. Little development work has been done, however, and the region is without transportation facilities, being over fifty on the Dalton trail, below Skagway, miles from Skagway. Mr. Williams is convinced that this camp will be heard from before very long, as the showings there are bound indoubtedly follow. Several noteworthy liscoveries of free-milling gold ores vere made this summer in the vicinity of Skagway, whose citizens with praiseworthy enterprise are installing a small test mill to enable prospectors to make experimental shipments of ore and thus determine their value and the proper method of treatment. Two weeks were devoted to an ex imination of various copper properties on Prince of Wales Island, Alaska, and adjacent country on the Alaska nainland, as well as the vicinity of Ketchikan. In all the places Mr. Williams saw many excellent showings. He believes that gold mining up there only in its infancy as free-milling podies of ore have been found at many points and are being developed. Mr Williams visited the Alaska-Treadwell mine where 3,000 stamps are pounding out the gold day and night. Values, he was told, have increased $1 per tor since depth has been attained.

"I will hazard my reputation on the mining future of the north country urely shifting northward. I should
