THE VACATION PROSPECTS DISCOURAGED NEW VENTURES

New York, N. Y., April 11.—There were deterrent influences at work in the speculation in the stock market last week which might be considered to impair its reliability as an index of opinion on the future. There was to one thing the fact that the week was to an end on Thursday in observance of the Easter holidays, an observance common to the great securities markets both here and abroad. The prospect of a three days' recess in the markets had the effect of prompting some closing out of commitments and of discouraging new ventures. The diminished volume of the stock market last week was due to this influence. There was a disposition, also, to wait on several events expected during the week and which were counted on to throw important light on the season's prospects. The most conspicuous of these was the publication on Thursday of the Government estimate on the April 1st condition of the winter wheat crop. Information from other sources had been sufficiently clear to forecast a poor report but the condition estimate was even lower than that presented by the crop report. The low yield of winter wheat indicated was relied upon to stimulate the sowing of an extraordinary acreage of spring wheat and confidence was projected more promising view of the prospect presented by the crop report. The day of winter wheat indicated was relied upon to stimulate the sowing of an extraordinary acreage of spring wheat and confidence was projected more promising view of the prospect presented by the crop report.

Rules for Husbands.
"Ten rules for husbands," are published as follows in the Berlin Vossische Zeitung:—

1. Avoid verbal controversies at all costs, because you will come off second best no matter if you're the most brilliant lawyer in the world. If controversies are unavoidable, give your wife's respect because you've been so wise as to recognize her as the wisest.
2. Never forget that you're married to a woman and not an angel.
3. Don't refuse your wife money too often, rather steal or starve.

WILL REDUCE THE EXISTING DINGLEY RATE

Washington, April 9.—It is reported that the Senate Committee will reduce the existing Dingley rates on lumber one half. A canvass of the Senate indicates that an effort in the direction of getting free lumber, if made after bill reaches the Senate, would be unavailing. The canvass of the Senate on the question of hides was concluded today and it is asserted that as a result hides will be taken from the free list and a duty fixed at 15 cents ad valorem. Wool of all grades and wool tops will be placed in the Senate bill under the existing rates, was stated to-day upon what appears to be excellent authority.

The Country Market.

A very large crowd patronized the country market on Saturday. The sales were brisk and prices remained firm. An exceptionally large quantity of maple candy reached the market from Kings County and found a fair demand. Towards the evening the stalls began to look desolate and all appeared to be well satisfied with the Easter Trade.

STEAMER WENT DOWN; CREW ALL DROWNED

Detroit, April 10.—A special from Puttin Bay, Ohio, says: With the washing ashore today of the cabin of the tug George Floss, it is practically certain that the boat went down in Wednesday's gale, with loss of its crew of seven men and three passengers. It had been hoped that the tug had found shelter in some port, but search by the Case Fishing company, her owners, has failed to discover her. The cabin came ashore twenty miles east of here. The crew of the Floss consisted of Capt. Wm. Barry, Engineer Fred. Gilbert, Jos. N. Dalley, Peck McKenzie, Frank Weschler and Henry Anderson. The passengers were John O'Donnell, Jos. Martin, and a sixteen year old boy, a son of Robert Campbell. They had figured on a good day's sport fishing from the tug. All the men except Weschler live in Cleveland. Weschler's home was in Erie, Pa. The tug must have been somewhere in the middle of Lake Erie when the great gale was at its height, lashing the lake into fury. It is equally certain that unless some shelter was reached the little boat must have been torn to pieces.

The Scouts of Spring.

The child at the window turned away
With a parting glance at the leaden skies,
And the look in the depths of his wistful eyes
Was hopeless and dull as they:
So came the night down cold and grey,
When the unseen sun had set.
Cold as the ashes of yesterday.
The morning breaks and yet—
The scouts of Spring were abroad in the night!
I heard them riding the rain.
I knew the touch of their fingers light
As they swayed aside in their airy flight.
And tapped at the window-pane.
They swarmed like bees in the outer gloom;
I heard them whispering there,
And I sensed them momentarily in the room.
When their breathing tinged with
sweet perfume,
The slumber-heavy air,
So hither and yon they danced and
leapt;
And over one pillow they softly crept
And called to the wild.
Young heart of the child Till the little limbs stirred and the thin lips smiled.
But there came a change at the wane
of the night,
And down from the hill
Where they'd long laid still The winds of Winter rode forth in their might.
The Spring's outriders broke in flight
And up from the east rose the morning grey,
Cold as the ashes of yesterday.
"Wake!" cried the child beside my bed,
"Come to the beech wood, Sleepyhead!"

Packers of Tiger Indo-Ceylon Teas.

Dear Sir:—Our choice at home of Tiger Tea is grade—at—c. per lb. It is true that the tiny dried, whitish buds in Tiger Tea give it that fine delicate flavor? We used to drink China Tea years ago, but prefer the Tiger Tea in 1-lb. packets, as it looks clearer, and because Tiger Teas are prepared and packed by machinery instead of by the nasty, sweaty hand-treatment as in China. The pretty blue and white label is enough to make one wish to taste a cup of Tiger Tea. The tiger paws on the label show how strong the Tiger Tea is.

I am very glad to send you this letter about Tiger Tea, and if you wish I will send you a sketch of a tiger which would perhaps be fiercer than the tiger on your label. The rich cherry color of Tiger Tea pleases everyone, and I hope that you will always keep the quality of it as good as it is now. I enclose the 12 cards required, and tell you truly this is my own handwriting.

Every Canadian should buy a 1-lb. packet of Tiger Tea, for, besides the good quality we know that the work of blending, labeling, boxing, packing, etc., is all done by Canadians in St. John.

My age is _____ my last school teacher was _____ Hoping that this letter will win a Tiger Tea prize.
I am, respectfully yours,
