

SCOTCH FARMERS HERE AUGUST 22

Party, Now Touring Eastern Canada, Have Changed Plans.

ARE DELAYED BY TRIP TO P. E. ISLAND

Will Travel From Chatham to Fredericton, Then Visit Carleton County and Down to St. John by River Route—Guests of Department of Interior.

A change in plans involving a trip to Prince Edward Island will prevent the party of Scotch farmers, who are touring Eastern Canada as guests of the Immigration branch of the department of the interior, from reaching New Brunswick as early as expected.

Local officials had received advice that the party would be in Fredericton on the 10th inst. and would come to St. John next week. It is now thought likely that the Scotchmen will reach here on Saturday, August 22.

Arrangements will be made for the party to travel from Chatham to Fredericton by the newly acquired branch of the Intercolonial. After visiting the capital they will go north to the great farming centres in Carleton County. Returning from the north they will take the river route from Fredericton to St. John, and from here will go by I. C. R. to Nova Scotia.

The idea of the department in organizing this trip to the farmers is that it will give them a better grasp of the resources of the country. A close acquaintance with the interior of Eastern Canada will, it is believed, be the means of diverting immigration to the Maritime Provinces.

ALL NEW APPLICANTS MUST BE VACCINATED

Children to be Admitted to City Schools Must Comply With New Health Act Trustees are Now Responsible.

The board of health has issued instructions that all children who apply for admission to any of the city schools at the opening of the ensuing term must show signs of successful vaccination before being allowed to take their places. The board has decided to vaccinate free of charge those whose parents are unable to pay for the services of a physician. The medical officer will be in attendance at the offices of the board for this purpose on Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The idea of requiring evidence of satisfactory vaccination in school children is not new. Under the old health act such was required. At the time of the consolidation of the New Brunswick statutes, however, this act was transferred to the schools act, and finally repealed. As a result of an agitation inaugurated by the board of health the measure has been re-enacted as a health act.

In addition to all that was contained in the old act certain important sections of the new act have been taken from the teacher and put on the school trustees under the following new section:

"The trustees of any school are hereby authorized and empowered to refuse admission to such school to any child until its parents or guardian or some person acting in behalf of such child, shall furnish satisfactory evidence that such child has been successfully vaccinated within three years prior to the time of such request for admission; or if such child has been vaccinated within the said period of three years, and the vaccination has not been successful there shall be produced to such teacher or principal satisfactory evidence that by reason of such child having been previously successfully vaccinated such recent vaccination has not been successful or that such child is immune."

COULD FIND NO STEAMER TO REPLACE 'BERDEEN'

Dr. J. E. Hetherington Returned from Montreal Thursday After Fruitless Search—Glasgow Now the Only Likely Place.

Dr. J. E. Hetherington, of Codys, who was at the Royal Yacht Club, has just returned from Montreal, where he went to inspect a boat that was offered for sale to the Washademoak Steamship Company. He found it unsuitable and has about decided to charter a vessel from Glasgow. It will be necessary to make a trip to Glasgow.

Dr. Hetherington said he undertook to search for a boat for the company at the request of farmers living along the Washademoak. He has been in Montreal, Toronto and Kingston, and has carefully gone over the St. Lawrence and its tributaries. There was apparently a great scarcity of boats offering for sale, and those that he saw were not attractive.

"What are you doing?" asked the Hunter. "I am trying to figure out how much my 'Paradise Lost' would have brought me at a dollar a word," replied John Milton. "I got fifty dollars for it, where the 'Paradise Lost' had brought me only about half that," replied the Hunter.

"What do you expect?" asked the Hunter. "I expect to get a good price for it," replied John Milton. "I got fifty dollars for it, where the 'Paradise Lost' had brought me only about half that," replied the Hunter.

FEAR OF FIRE CAUSED PANIC IN STEAMER MAY QUEEN THURSDAY

Smouldering Oil Cloth Alarmed Crew, and Cry of Fire was Raised—Steam Invaded Saloon, Causing Terror Among Women Passengers—Capt. Weston Says There Was No Real Danger.

Friday, August 14. A piece of smouldering oil cloth, an excited crew and seventy panic-stricken passengers made things interesting on the steamer May Queen about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon on her way down river.

The May Queen had a large number of passengers and carried beside a considerable quantity of hay. The trouble began in the vicinity of Oak Point, near the spot where the David Weston was burned, on the afternoon of 1903. A deck hand detected a smell of smoke, and looking for the cause, found the oil cloth on the floor of the upper engine room. The fire was quickly extinguished, but it is claimed could easily have been done had the "fire," and alarmed the rest of the crew.

"ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA" OR "A DOLLAR A WORD"

(President Roosevelt is to receive a dollar a word for the articles he writes on hunting big game in Africa when he goes there next winter.)

(New York Evening Post.) Around the fire, which cracked and flared forth a weak defiance of the night, the silence and mystery, the negro gun-bearers lay rigid in sleep. The square-cut figure of the hunter, resting on a low camp stool with a machine gun across his knees, nodded over the type-writing machine in front, rose to half-wakefulness, nodded again, rose again, doffed, and then leaped to a sudden full consciousness of the unknown company that surrounded him. He did not wonder that they should be there. In that place, and at that time, everything seemed natural enough. But what did they want, these strangers from all times and all lands, who squatted there in a half-circle about him? Their calm presence stirred him to resentment. "Loch," he cried, out of force of habit; and then, aware of his mistake, turned upon the nearest and holds a deep water man's certificate saying "the adamantin' asep," you would have said it. If you figure out how much you are not ever within commuting distance from London.

"William," said a firm woman's voice, "I am satisfied with that, Stratford, you ought to be I wrote the 'Sorrows of Satan' there."

"But William only sulked, 'Oh, well, you thought it out,' he retorted, the quarrel-brother about using the proper word. The first word that came was good enough. 'Yes,' said Willie, 'but you didn't say 'satan' there.'"

"And I say," declared a pale and thin lipsent, "that you got all you deserved. You didn't have to worry over your spelling or your grammar. You didn't even bother about using the proper word. The first word that came was good enough. 'Yes,' said Willie, 'but you didn't say 'satan' there.'"

Cereals, vegetables and meat supply the elements needed for man's nourishment. Yet fruit—though it has very little food value—has proved to be absolutely necessary for perfect health.

Careful investigation has shown that all the common ailments of the Liver, Kidney, Bowel and Skin are due to the fact that the body of dead tissue is not properly eliminated. The fruit juices are the most powerful cleansers and purifiers of the system.
