IS OFFERED IN ENTIRE CONFIDENCE TO FARMERS AND DEALERS IN THE DEPART-MENT of Agricultural Implements. It is inferior to none as a labor-saving implement. It is operated with ease by a lad 12 or 14 years old. This Rake is the result of steady and repeated experiments. They are manufactured from good material and are well finished, being nicely painted, striped and varnished.

. The Advantages Claimed for the Day Rake, are

1st—The teeth are supported at a greater distance from the head or place of fastening, which is desirable.
2nd—The head is so attached that it permits the teeth to drop below the level of the bottom of the wheelevel.

2nd — The head is so attached that it permits the teeth to drop below the level of the pottom of the wheels.
3rd — The operator can raise the teeth eight inches above the winrow in discharging the hay.
3rd — The operator has perfect control of the teeth, to make them pass lightly over the ground or press them down to gather heavy hay.
6th — The wheels running upon an elevation will not raise the teeth from the ground.
7th — The teeth are so shaped and attached that they do not scratch or harrow the ground like mos Steel Teeth Hakes.
8th — It is easier worked than any other Rake.
9th — The hay will not run out at the ends of Rake.
9th — The hay will not run out at the ends of presenting hay.
11th — The seat can be raised or lowered, to suit size of person operating.
