The old and interesting Church of St. Mary, Lifton, North Devon, has recently received some generous gifts. A large East window given by Mrs. Honeyball, in memory of her mother; an oak lych-gate, the gift of Mrs. James, in memory of the late Rev. W. W. Martyn and his wife; an oak pulpit subscribed by parishioners in memory of the late Mr. J. Hearle, who has been churchwarden for thirty-one years; a beautiful carved oak lectern, the gift of the friends and relations in memory of the late Mr. F. and J. Bradshaw, together with an oak work-table and reredos, the gift of various members of the Bradshaw family.

Colonel and Mrs. Cary, of Tor Abbey, Torquay, who are Roman Catholics, have given to the little church at Cockington, where their ancestors are buried, a treble bell, completing a peal of six. Although they belong to the Roman Church, they are by no means bigoted, and are noted in the district for their kindness and generosity. Cockington Church, which is prettily situated just outside Torquay, is regarded by visitors as a perfect rural gem, and is well cared for by its vicar, the Rev. J. Henning.

At Woodford Parish Church (founded in the 12th century) the unveiling of the tablet containing the names of the rectors of Woodford from A.D. 1221 to the present time, took place lately by the Bishop of Barking. The tablet was presented by the Rev. A. Hughes, late rector. The service commenced with the hymn, "Let all the world in every corner sing," the author of which (George Herbert) lived for a short time in the Parish of Woodford.

Guaranteed Benefits

The Great-West Life is distributing large bonuses to its Policyholders.

But some applicants are not interested in bonuses—they prefer a straight guaranteed Contract—so much to pay, so much to get.

Here again the Great-West Policies are unequalled. The Non-Participating Policies are issued at the lowest rates anywhere available—giving to Policyholders in these low premiums the guaranteed benefit of the high interest earnings and low expense rates of The Great-West Life.
