PASTEURIZED MILK is ever gaining preference. In large cities it is becoming compulsory to pasteurize all milk offered for sale. This is not because of any whim, but because it is the only ECONOMIC and SAFE way to handle it. Pasteurization of milk removes all danger of transmitting DISEASE (enhances its keeping quality), and preserves that natural milk flavor. It makes our milk far the most ECONOMIC for use. WISDOM will direct you to buy our milk. Ask your physician.

E.H. NEWMAN & SONS DIAMOND SETTERS Issuer of Marriage Licenses

Lodge Notes Sons of Scotland. Camp Scotia S. O. S., had a large and most successful meeting on Thursday evening. About the usual amount of business was transacted, and a much appreciated feature was an impromptu programme of songs, speeches, etc., contributed by Bros. present. During the past months many new members have been added to the Camp and the first meetings of the fall season have been marked by a large attendance and earnest interest in the welfare of the Camp. The open meeting arranged for next meeting night will inaugurate a series of social evenings during the winter season. Present conditions, it is felt, will tend to draw still closer the bond of union existing among Sons of Scotland and Scotsmen everywhere, and the Camp looks forward with confidence to a season which will in every way equal the best on record.

PHOTOGRAPHERS BARRED Generals do Not Wish to Have Important Secrets Made Public. Emperor William issued orders that any man caught by his troops in the field with a camera in his possession is to be summarily shot. Similar orders were issued from French headquarters. Still, tactical persistence has worked wonders, and it may do so again in the present instance. So far as moving pictures are concerned no concern has been proposed a partnership arrangement with the Kaiser in a series of war movies. The best genuine moving pictures of real war were taken by Capt. Saul, a retired British army officer in the Balkan conflict. Capt. Saul was with the Turks. He got some fine pictures of the Turkish rout at Lulo Buzas and also of the fighting around KIRK KILISEH. He also got some splendid pictures of burning villages, camp scenes, and other details of war. Since the days of Napoleon, war correspondents, a term later enlarged to include photographers, have been regarded not merely as a burden on the general staff, which has quite enough on its hands without them, but also as a source of the gravest danger to the army. However carefully his despatches may be censored the correspondent is certain to get in something that betrays the strategy of his side to the enemy.
