FATAL HOAX.—A Sheffield paper says that a gentleman in that town had received a letter from a friend in Northampton, containing it following: —'A singular circumstance happened at our union last week. For some misconfuct the master had put a boy for punishment into the dead-house. At that time there was a corpse in the 'dea'd ward, in a coffin. The boy took the corpse out of the coffin, or desed it in his own cluthes, propped it up against the wall, and then himself got into the coffin, lag down and covered himself over. In the course of a short time the master came, tooking in at the door, and asw, as he thought, a sully lad standing against the wall. Now, said the master, 'do you want any supper!' It seems that the vermin are carried down the shaft in the bags used for taking chaff and grain to the horses in the workings, and that they multiply to an enormous extent, living on the debris of the meals made by men and horses.

INTERESTING TO LADIES — The basque, so fashionable lately, is going out of fashion. The new jacket is to terminate in the points before and behind. Sleeves to be full and long, and gathered into a band at the wrist. A Le Follet, for the present month, makes the following agreeable announcement: "Bonness are worn decidely larger than they were in the summer. The Mary Stewart is, without doubt, the favorite.—They are still much made in two colors, which, when well chosen, have a pleasing effect. Lace is much used in the timmings, and the strings are worn very wide, rounded at the ends, and edged either white taffetas or another color vel-vet or narrow blonde."

A CLERICAL REBUKE .- When Mr. Pitt became Premier many of his old associates at Cambridge expected him to find preferments for them. One day Pitt, attended by a crowd of expectants, was present at a sermon preached before the University by Dr. Paley, who electrified the assembly by giving out as his text the following passage from St. John's Gospel:

"There is a lad here which hath five barley loaves and two amall fishes; but what are they among so many?"

'Hem—hem—pray don't ask so many foolish questions, child.'

A SMART RETORT .- A young lady became so much disgusted with the person to whom she was engaged to be mar-ried that she dismissed him.—In revenge he threatened to publish her letters to him. "Very well," replied the lady. "I have no reason to be ashamed of any of my letters except the address,
