What was Meant by a Fervent Prayer. Continuing, the speaker said that we need to listen to God when he calls us. There is the general law of prayer on the line of promise, and the especial law of prayer on the line where God works. This special law of prayer is the kind that is preeminent; it has a special application to God's works. He understood there was something like three hundred nembers belonging to this church. It was early three times as large as the church he was going to tell them about. The nembers saw that there was a great ne-essity for a revival, and so they said they would have a whole day of praver. And when they had finished the first day, they said, let us have another prayer meeting to morrow, and they continued these meetings for ten days. They were satisfied that the people wanted to be saved, and so they went up where the people were gathered together in the city, and preached, and as a result there was three thousand converted are always waiting for something to turn to God in answer to the prayers of God's up. Never wait for something to turn up, people. Whatever revivals the people but go and turn something up. Up at Carmay disparage, they cannot disparage that one. What is to hinder the people from being converted in our town. It is be-cause they have not got the spirit of God that man, for he is doing more harm than being converted in our town. It is bein them. He had never seen a church good." One day I sat down and listened to is life that had the spirit as strongly him. He was at a young man on the C. P. . J. Gordon's had.
