

THE HURON SIGNAL

published every Friday Morning, by Mc GILLIVRAY & SONS, at their Office, North St.
(over the Square)
GODERICH, ONTARIO.

Advertisements are accepted on all parts of the surrounding country by the earliest mails and trains.
By general admission it has a large circulation than any other newspaper in this part of the country. It is one of the oldest, newest and most reliable journals in Ontario possessing, as it does, the fore-going essentials and being in addition to the above, a first-class family and freeride paper—it is therefore a most desirable advertising medium.

TERMS.—$1.50 in advance, postage pre-paid by publishers; $1.75, if paid before six months; $2.00 if not so paid. This rule will be strictly enforced.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.—Eight cents per line for first insertion; three cents per line for each subsequent insertion. Yearly, half-yearly and quarterly contracts at reduced rates.

JOBS PRINTING.—We have also a first-class jobbing department in connection, and possessing the most complete set of type and best facilities for turning out work in Goderich, are prepared to do business in that line at prices that cannot be beaten, and of a quality that cannot be surpassed.—Terms Cash

FRIDAY, JULY 14th, 1882.

WHERE THE MILLIONS ARE.

The London Free Press is a model Tory organ. One day last week it cited the case of the West Huron "recount" in support of the conduct of the Rothwell returning officer, totally oblivious of the fact that the action of the West Huron returning officer utterly condemned that of the man who counted in J. J. Hawkins. Finding that it could give no reply to our article pointing out the true position of affairs, the Free Press has gone on a new tack, apparently with the same ignorance of facts, and it is our duty to again set our London contemporary right.

In an editorial on Wednesday headed "Where are the millions?" the Free Press denies the truth of the statement made by THE SIGNAL that Reform Ontario had "millions in its treasury," while Tory Quebec was in debt, and in a tone of assumed confidence asked, "By what authority does the organ state that there are millions in the treasury of Ontario?" As we are never happier than when enlightening the ignorance of our Tory questioners, we will give a few figures for the benefit of our contemporary, so that it will not dare to again assert that "all the evidence is against such a belief." The figures we quote are taken from the financial statement of the Treasurer of the Province, delivered in the House on 14th of February, 1882. In this Budget speech the Treasurer proudly declares the surplus in the Ontario treasury to be $4,500,501. Here are four and a half millions, safe and snug. And this splendid sum would have been still further increased, but for the practice of Mr. Mowat, which the Free Press appears to condemn, of dividing a large share of the surplus each year amongst the people of the Province.

Since 1871, the Reform Government of Ontario has distributed the immense sum of $25,579,277.07, directly and indirectly, amongst the people of this province. The "surplus distribution" during the ten years of Reform rule has amounted to $3,389,828.89, which large sum has been given to municipalities to aid in reducing their municipal debts, and for such purposes as the wealthier corporations might choose. The sum of $3,382,970.57 has also been generously donated to the development of our admirable railway system in Ontario, and this the Free Press will not dare to say is money thrown away. And so, had we time and space, we could quote to further strengthen our position, which is that notwithstanding the distribution of immense sums of money directly and indirectly to the municipalities, we have still in the Ontario treasury the fine surplus of four and a half millions.

"Where are the millions?" asked the Free Press. We have answered the question with indubitable figures.

"BIG CRY AND LITTLE WOOL," was the result of the Tory caucus on Monday, to take steps to protest Mr. Cameron's election in West Huron. The $1,000 deposit was rather discouraging, for some of the assembled ones have good memories, and the recollection of the $1,000 raised just after the election of 1878 to unseat Mr. Cameron, and which went everywhere but into court, rather unsettled them. But perhaps the disposal of the first $1,000 was fully accounted for on Monday.

MR. PLUMB, who asked for a recount in North Wellington, has been disappointed again. Mr. McMullen has been declared elected by the judges by over twenty of a majority. The judge tried all he could to oblige the bard, but public opinion and a very decided majority of unquestionable votes for the Liberal candidate kept him from counting in the poetical politician. North Wellington is to be congratulated.

"JOHN A. HATES CAMERON like the very d—l," said a Conservative to an acquaintance the day after the Monday meeting. And that is the secret of the protest affair. Although persuaded that Mr. Cameron cannot be unseated, the local Tories trust in the enmity of the Premier to get the assistance of the Government in putting the member for West Huron to the annoyance and expense of a contested election. It is a poor threat to hang an election protest on.

The election in Manitoba was a political "blizzard," as it were, to the Tories.
The Syndicate will yet be the death of the Government.

A distinguished M. P. from Edward Island, according to the Ottawa Free Press, remarked in the lobby last session that he "would like to disfranchise and disembowel all the Grits in the country." Here is a model Tory for you!

The Twelfth of July serves one grand purpose in this section of Canada. It is the day generally devoted to trying the first new potatoes. Taters by the Twelfth is the ambition of every true lover of agriculture who plants out a hill of the esculent tuber.

REFLECT, says the London Advertiser, for a moment on the principle involved in the stand taken by the partisan returning officer in Bothwell. If it is allowed to be sound, it is within the power of any deputy-returning officer in a close constituency to give or lose the election, not by any overt act, but by the simple device of neglecting to perform some of the minor technical duties of his office.

THE Tory canvasser who offered a bag of flour to a poor but honorable man for his vote, and was pretty plainly spoken to for his pains, was doubtless prating about political corruption on the part of Mr. Cameron at the "sore-head" meeting on Monday. These are the fellows who are crying out against the Reform candidate. Their argument is:
If we can't bribe this or that man it is because he has already been bribed by our opponents.

Two iron-clads before Alexandria are doing terrible work. The heavy projectiles rained into that city are interesting so far as they illustrate the triumphs of military science, but the wretched fellows of Arabi have to suffer for it. How an iron-clad would look after being struck with a 1,700 lb. projectile from an 80 ton gun would provide of interest in military and naval circles. The guns from the Egyptian forts have not sunk any of the men-of-war, although several have been badly hit.

THE bumptious editor of the Clinton Record had the impudence last week to reflect upon the judgment and honour of Mr. Ben. Willson, for getting Mr. Cameron, who got a majority of the votes cast in West Huron, duly elected. There was no other thing for Mr. Willson to do in fairness, and he showed his honesty and fitness for the position of Returning officer by acting impartially. Had the newly-fledged editor of the Record been in his place he would have declared the testin candidate elected "By actual count."

It seems that some one has been gulling Mr. George Hawkins and one or two other shining lights of the Tory party in West Huron. Mr. Hawkins went into the political detective business recently, and hunted up some cases of wholesale bribery, and on Monday last the West Huron Tories were put into possession of his secrets. But what was whispered in the Tory chamber has been proclaimed on the Grit house-top, and Mr. Cameron's friends are having a good laugh at the "case" of the Port Arthur detective. In plain words, Mr.
Hawkins has been "stuffed."

THE obstinacy of Arabi Pasha, in refusing to come to Admiral Seymour's terms is amazing. The doughty Admiral has with him thirty men-of-war, and can bring to bear upon the fortifications of Alexandria 224 heavy guns, 106 of these being of the 63 ton class, 65 of the 12 ton, 36 of the 18 ton, 10 of the 25 ton, and 4 of the 80 ton. Thirty 12 tons guns could in ten minutes pour into the city fifty tons of metal, which would develop a total energy of 690,600 foot tons at a distance of 4,000 yards; twenty 18 ton guns could in the same time throw thirty-six tons of metal with an energy of 454,700 foot tons. At the muzzle these shot would go through 143 inches of armour, at 1,000 yards through 123 inches, and 2,000 yards through 113 inches.

THE Tories are desperate in their efforts to account for their defeat in West Huron. Every charge that could be invented has been made against Mr. Cameron, although none of them have been backed up by a single word of proof.
But there is something amusing in the following statement from the Seaford Star:

It will be seen that Mr. Porter polled only 176 to Mr. Cameron's 1736, but 37 were rejected, and 11 spoiled, the former of which should have been Mr. Porter's, and which would have given him a majority.

Rich, isn't it? Of course the deputy-returning officers, who were all appointed because they were supposed to be staunch Conservatives, would reject some of Mr. Porter's ballots and none of Mr. Cameron's. Of course, of course.
And none of the Conservative scrutineers would squal. Oh, no! The Tories may have a silly excuse that the above, but we haven't yet heard it. So far, he has not.

The Clinton New Era, alludes to the failure of the Monday meeting of the Tories, and after giving its opinion that no protest will be entered, says:—"We have reason to believe that Mr. Cameron has nothing to fear from an examination into his course during the late contest, and we believe we express the sentiments of Mr. Cameron when we say that if his opponents think they have any grounds upon which they can disqualify or even unseat him, they are at liberty to sail in. We venture to predict that should Mr. Cameron be unseated for any infraction of the law, which is exceedingly improbable, he will be re-elected by a much larger majority."

Some of the more unscrupulous of the Tory organs made no secret of their anxious desire that Mr. Cameron, of West Huron, should be ousted out of his seat by a partisan returning officer, as was Mr. Mills in Bothwell. They have been disappointed. Mr. Willson of Wingham is a different man from the Bothwell partisan. Mr. Cameron was on Friday confirmed in the seat which he has so nobly won, by 29 majority.—[Stratford Beacon.]

THE editor of the Parthian Gazette, whose enmity to Strathroy complete line to guide this town any favor or advantage, rejoices that the return of Mr. Ross for West Middlesex the chances of Strathroy, to get public buildings from the Government are destroyed.
—[Strathroy Dispatch.]

Does our esteemed Tory contemporary admit, then, that the Tory Government at Ottawa, handling public moneys equally contributed by ratepayers of both parties, declines to do justice to any locality that chooses to consult its own opinions in the choice of a Parliamentary representative? That is villanous doctrine. If the public interests require public buildings at Strathroy, let Strathroy they should be erected.—[Advertiser.]

The respectable members of the community, no matter what their politics may be, are desirous that justice should be done in regard to the representation of Bothwell. They are not sufficiently concerned about the seat to wish to see it given to one side if it belongs to the other side. If Mr. Hawkins has the larger number of votes, by all means let Mr. Hawkins represent the constituency, but if, as seems clear on the face of the returns, the larger number of votes were cast for Mr. Mills, it would be disreputable in the highest degree to keep him out of the seat through some fluke.
Public opinion will have to express itself very frankly if it be found that the returning officer has been playing into the hands of the Conservative party by giving to Mr. Hawkins a seat which really belongs to Mr. Mills. It was a great mistake for Sir John Macdonald to trust aside the sheriffs in order to put the write in the hands of his own partisans. No sheriff would dare to risk his position by tampering with the returns.
Indeed, we do not know of a single sheriff who would stoop to such a thing.— [Toronto Telegram.]

We are favored with a copy of a pamphlet recently published by Mr. Clark Braden, entitled "Ingersoll unmasked." A Scathing and Fearless Exposure of His Life and Real Character. Upon the cover is a "typical picture," representing a young lady being played into the off (with a twisting fork) a mask represented of a Personage with sharp ears and horns, and likewise a forked tail. If the author wishes us to believe that Ingersoll is in reality the Devil, we decline.
It may be true that Mr. Braden alleges and is ready to prove that the infidel lecturer was a very fast young man, and is now not all his admirers believe, but still he may not be quite so bad as the Devil, and Mr. Braden's artist might have "drawn it a little mid-der."—[Grip.]

Election Notes.

The official return for the Muskoka election gives Mr. O'Brien, the Conservative candidate, a majority of 4.

Mr. Mills' majority in the old electoral division of Bothwell, counting the votes as they were cast for Casey and Ross, would have been 464. That's how the gerrymander worked in his case.

Mr. Ross carried gerrymandered West Middlesex by a majority of 54. Had his old constituency been undisturbed his majority would have been 232. The object of the gerrymander is quite visible here.

Mr. Coghlan carried North Middlesex in 1878 by 6, and at this time by about 100.
The township of Lobo, which was detached from his riding by the Gerrymand-er Act, gave a Reform majority of 251.
The Tories credit Mr. Coghlan's increased majority to the growing popularity of the N. P.

They all Boom.

The Grand Rapids, Dakota, Journal, has the following concerning a former townsman:—

The following letter, written to Canadian friends, which were allowed to copy, shows how the boom fever takes every new comer, even the jolly tar affected by the sight of oceans of prairie, and gaily harbours and starboards his plough over the billowy grass:— GRAND RAPIDS, D. T., June 26, 1882.
Friend— I came from Ontario a month ago and took up a claim on northwest quarter of section 26, town 135, range 61, with a fine lake view on one side and fine rolling land. I am going to cut and cure 30 tons of hay off it this fall. I would not take the best 100 acres in Ontario for my claim, without I got a good lake schooner to boat. This is the best farming land in Dakota territory, and the town of Grand Rapids is the prettiest view in the whole Northwest, and don't you forget it, Respectfully,
MALCOLM MATHEWSON, Sailor.

THE SIZE OF IT.

James George Size Appears Anxious to Become a Signaller. But is Obliged to Hide from the Police.

From the Kincaidine Reporter.
Some months ago the classic precincts of Amberley contained a shoemaker named James George Size, who was employed by Mr. Buchanan. He hailed from St. Mary's, and after becoming inquainted somewhat gave out that he had buried his wife in St. Mary's cemetery.
On the strength of being a widower, and having a handsome little fellow for a son with him, as a start on a second matrimonial venture, he soon became generally popular, and his society and pleasing manners were not objected to by some of the fair sex. He eventually "lost his affections" on Miss Jennie Campbell, a respectable young girl of some thirty years of age. But the little son gave the situation away. He said one day while in a communicative mood:
"My pa and ma used to have some high row, and that is the reason that pa ran away." Size when confronted with this evidence, owned up that although his first wife was dead, he had married again, and informed Miss Campbell that his second wife had a terrible temper and was in many ways a man for a man of his angelic disposition. He would go to the States and procure a divorce—would do anything in order to be in a position to wed the girl of his choice who for the time being was Miss Campbell.

Mr. Buchanan being about to remove to Kincaidine, gave Size a chance to secure a business for himself by leaving him in charge of the shop outfit at Am-berley. He was to discontinue his visits to the house of Miss Campbell, and was to conduct himself as becoming to a beneficial. After keeping his pledges for one whole day he broke through his good resolutions, and continued his courtship. He then moved the base of his operations from Amberley to Goderich taking his little boy with him.
Mrs. Size, of St. Mary's, was kept posted in regard to the doings of her husband, and she concluded to bring the erring one to time by having a warrant issued for his arrest. It was learned that Size was to meet Miss Campbell in Kincaidine on Tuesday. On Monday evening the same train that brought a constable from St. Mary's, armed with a warrant, had on board Size. The latter recognized the constable, but the constable did not recognize the man he was after. This slightly changed the relative positions of the two. Size commenced doing a little detective business by shadowing the constable, and succeeded in learning that he was wanted "in the name of Her Majesty," he at once made preparations for a flitting and succeeded. He was unable however to communicate with Miss Campbell. If he had done so it would have saved her a half-day's weary waiting at the Royal Hotel here. She arrived in town and at once proceeded to the pre-arranged trying place. Hour after hour past and still no size. Finally a friend of the family informed her of the position of affairs. The silly woman, who certainly has years enough to teach her better, does not realize the fact that even if Size should go to the States and obtain a divorce and marry her that the act would not annul his previous marriage.

LIGHTNING.—Last Friday night, Messrs.
D. Fraser, R. Somers and Jas. McGee narrowly escaped instant death by lightning, while asleep in the house of Mr.
R. Kernick in the township of Wawa-nosh. The lightning struck the building and succeeded in tearing about 15 feet of the roof, and for a few minutes stunning every inmate of the house.

THAT HORSE.—A man named Ryan of Clinton, arrived in town on Friday with a running horse and ill-treated the animal in such a manner that Constable Davies took the man in custody and placed him in the cooler. In the course of a few hours he was taken out of the lock up to have his trial before Squire Wilson, when he was fined $1 and costs and allowed to proceed on his way to Wingham where the horse was to run on the 1st of July. The man arrived in Wingham too late to enter his horse for the race, and was in consequence not allowed to run.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Jos. Kelson, of this place, met with a somewhat serious accident on Monday morning. He was engaged in drawing furniture from the residence of Mrs. Thompson when the horses became frightened by the noise of the stove and started off at a gallop, upsetting the wagon and throwing Mr. Kelson out thereby causing the fracture of his left leg. His body is also considerably bruised. Dr. Sloan set the broken member and the patient is now doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.—[Review.]

Goderich High School.

Of the 45 candidates who presented
