

Endorsed Bond's Policy.

When the Agricultural Show was on at Harbor Grace, President Archibald of the Agriculture Society in an eloquent address alluded to the necessity for the education of the people of the place in matters relating to husbandry and emphasized the necessity for the securing of an agricultural expert, whom he said the people of Harbor Grace required and whom they intended at all hazards to bring into the place. This is certainly an endorsement of the policy for which Sir Robert Bond and the Liberal Party have always contended. An exhibition of cattle was on the programme and prize lists for such had been drawn up but this feature did not materialize.

Money Picked Up and Kept.

Last week we referred to a young man who works in a mercantile office, having lost twenty dollars. We learn that a little girl named Cook saw a woman pick up the 'greenbacks' on the street where they were reported to have been lost. The police have the matter in hands and if the finder of the money does not give it up she may get into serious trouble.

HANDSOME PRIZE.—In the card tournaments conducted in the L. S. P. U. Rooms, Mr. J. Brophy won the prize for securing the greatest number of games. An excellent tea set was awarded him for his skill in handling the paste boards. Ninety-six games were played out of which he secured sixty-three.

The Burin Bankers.

The Gordon W. Capt. W. Hollett, for a weeks' fishing at Cape St. Mary's, secured 200 qts. and stocked for the season over 3,000 qts. All the others made good voyages also, particularly Brien's banker the Millie Scott, Lundrigan, master, which carried only four dories and took 1,000 qts.

SEVERE WEATHER NORTH.—During last week the Fogota report very severe weather down north but when the ship was returning the weather was summer like.

RUSH TO BELL ISLAND.—Quite a crowd of men from various parts of the country went to Bell Island last week and will work there till Christmas. Both companies will be busy all the coming winter.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 6.
Medical authorities in the city have been notified to prepare to receive 20,000 wounded from Lile Buzurg and Viss. It is officially stated that these are, in addition to the 15,000 already in the city. All the hospitals, including those of the foreign consulates, and university buildings at Stamboul have been converted into hospitals. The installations, however are imperfect. Beds, blankets and linen are lacking, and the sanitary arrangements are inadequate.

ATHENS, Nov. 6.
The Greek Naval Squadron to-day occupied the Turkish Island of Tenedos, near the entrance of the Dardanelles. The Greek Army operating in the vicinity of Saloniki, has accomplished its object, as the investment of the fortress is nearly completed. Negotiations for the surrender of Saloniki opened on Friday last, but the Turkish Commander demanded that his troops be allowed to march out with their arms and with all the honours of war, and the negotiations consequently fell through. The civil governor is said to have committed suicide. Greek newspapers discussing the proposed armistice say that it can only be accepted on the condition that the Turkish throne be transferred to Asia Minor, and that reforms for the benefit of the Christian population there must also be introduced.

A man named Rene Foerschler, aged twenty-nine, who is in the Sante Prison (Paris), awaiting trial on a charge of burglary, recently wrote to M. Poncet, the magistrate in charge of his case, confessing to 205 other burglaries. The magistrate at first refused to believe him, whereupon the prisoner offered to take him on a personally conducted tour of the scene of his exploits. The other morning, therefore M. Poncet, the prisoner, and two policemen set out in a cab for a drive round the streets of Paris. In the course of the day Foerschler pointed out thirty-two houses at which he had committed burglaries. The following day the experiment was repeated, and the scenes of forty-two other robberies were pointed out. The two next days also, the magistrate resumed his task. Foerschler has a wonderful memory. He pointed out the different houses without hesitation, and even remembered little details, as, for example, that such and such a house formerly had no carpet. He affirms that in the course of his career he has stolen 900 watches, 1,432 earrings, 192 silver plates, 32 gas fittings, 361 tie pins, and 93 gold brooches.

A Serious Joke on The Rabbit

The U. S. Gov't has been experimenting to discover the poisonous quality of Caffeine (found in tea and coffee).

57 healthy rabbits were given an average dose of 5 1-10 grains.

—They all died

See Gov't Bulletin No. 148,
Bureau of Chemistry.

A cup of coffee contains over 2½ grains of CAFFEINE; enough in two cups to kill a rabbit.

A cup of tea contains over 1½ grains—enough CAFFEINE in four cups to more than kill the rabbit.

Of course this joke was on the rabbits.

A goodly number of humorous Americans play the same joke on themselves and keep it up until some fixed form of disease sets in, as a result of the daily dose of CAFFEINE, in quantity enough to kill a rabbit, but only enough to

Cripple a Man

Not at one blow, but by little blows repeated daily.

Of course some systems are strong enough to stand all kinds of abuse, but when a man or woman observes a growing nervousness, or heart trouble, stomach, bowel or eye disturbances, it is time to quit the daily dose of coffee and see if Nature will begin to heal.

It is easy to shift from coffee to Postum. The food beverage has the deep, seal-brown color which turns to a golden-brown when cream is added. The flavour has the crisp tang so winning to the palate and the cup is made INSTANTLY by one struck spoonful of the powder,

A Poem.

Where Black is Made to Look Like White.

Mary had a little lamb
It's fleece was white as snow,
When P. T. fed it two blades grass,
It turned as black as crow.

D. Morison took the little lamb
And dandled it you know;
But it ate some timber lands of his
And blacker did it grow.

John Crosbie thought the little lamb
Was being treated low,
But it tried to swallow those two spars
And grew blacker still you know.

Cruel Cashin put the little lamb
Down in the undertow,
But when it spied a wreck upon the coast
Right off did Cashin go.

Piccott loves the little lamb,
But promises to forego
All picnics, "dredges" and such things.

(The Tories tired of the little lamb
So Phil Moore and Phil Hanley
Thought of rafflin' it at a dance,
But the little lamb ran to E. P.)

Then E. P. collared the little lamb
It was making too much show,
He white washed it "to save its face,"
But it dyed like a Tory O.

Just fore it died, that little lamb
Said P. T. is white as snow,
'Cos he rubbed against me, 'cept me face

'Tho' inside is black as crow.
A message came from the little lamb
It was plain in black and white,
Don't trust anymore the picnic gang
But vote them out of sight.

Lake Simcoe Left On Second Thought.

By J. E. HOUSE.
Mrs. Tug Watts' objection to bridge is that it takes up time which might otherwise be devoted to gossip. Robert W. Chambers reports the father of the heroine as smiling at the latter through his glasses. Rather difficult, but extremely interesting feat, we should say.
Buck Kilby wants to amend the phrase, "the happy couple," to make it read, "the nervous couple."

When the bell rings a man goes to the door and opens it. A woman fixes her belt, catches up a few strands of loose hair, looks in the glass, dabs a little powder on her nose, rearranges the ornaments on the mantel and picks up the loose things scattered about the room. After which she also goes to the door and opens it.

The women say it is hard for a widower to get through the second summer. If he does they say he is likely to make good his escape.

A prize fighter's idea of plenty of money is enough of it to start a saloon.
If you insist on eating a plum you must pay the penalty. The penalty for eating a plum is that you must also eat a worm.

A man often is proud of his deviltry, but it always humiliates him to be forced to admit that he cannot swim.

A woman can inherit money and retain her common sense. But marrying it often makes a fool of her.
The names of many men never appear in print except as contestants for the "booby" prizes.

ANOTHER RESIGNATION.—A recruit named Griffin, of Harbor Grace, who recently entered the police force, and was being instructed in the drill, resigned a couple of days ago. The pay the man considered to be too small, and he will likely go abroad and secure employment.
