Notes on the Patriotic Tour. HARBOR BRETON.

CHAPTER XIV.
L. C. M.
Harbour Breton is so long known to the business public, and has occupied such a prominent place in the commerce of Fortune Bay, that there does not remain much that is new to be said about it. We have, however, a few notes which may be worth reading, and perhaps worth the readers' while. The place itself abounds with history, all of which forms a link in the trade of Newfoundland, and in the enterprise of the Old Country. Here it was that the firm of Newman & Co., of London, England, during the nineteenth century, conducted one of the most extensive fishing enterprises that Newfoundland has ever known; and every relic of their former occupancy indicates the greatness and extensiveness of their trade; but great as it was, it had an ending, and now the buildings upon which the name of Newman and Co. were so long conspicuous are occupied by others.

The premises must have been well built in the first place, and even now after such a long career the most of them are in very good condition. The stores and wharves are specially adapted to our trade, and the former dwellings of Newman & Co.'s staff, still present a comfortable appearance; and certain it is that things were conducted on a large scale, and impressions were made that must long be felt within the district of Fortune Bay. Of the many buildings of the company which we saw, we think that the stone and brick building used as a shop and office is by far the most substantial of the lot. It is a splendid building, even now, and must have been more so in the early days of Harbor Breton. Upon the premises proper we were shown one very old stone; but could not make out any inscription. The stone is of pure white marble, and is about four or five inches thick, and has long since fallen to the ground. Mr. Elliott who showed it to us did not know its history, but it no doubt marks the spot where was laid to rest the remains of a prominent pioneer of Harbour Breton and Newfoundland.

Harbour Breton was settled principally by the young men who came from England in connection with Newman's firm; but very few of that class now remain. We met one man who came from London nearly fifty years ago and who has lived and worked there ever since. He is much like the "Last Rose of Summer," "all his companions are faded and gone." The conditions under which he came to Newfoundland are radically changed, and while Harbor Breton directly has lost that prestige which the firm of Newman and Co. brought it, there is still a splendid spirit of independence amongst the people of Fortune Bay, and they seem to have outgrown the limitations under which their fathers lived. The past conditions seemed quite satisfactory in their day, but a newer order has arisen, and a wider vision is upon the people.

TEMPLETON'S Spring CLEANING SALE

Foreign Fish Market.

The following letter, dated Feb. 3rd, from Lind and Costa, of Oporto, is now posted at the Board of Trade Rooms:—

"During the first half of January the demand was very poor owing to the rise in prices occasioned by the further fall in exchange which is now fluctuating round about 35d. At this basis, the prices of codfish and other imported foods are almost prohibitive to the ordinary consumer and the consumption is therefore considerably restricted, dealers taking from day to day only the small quantities they require for orders on hand. There does not seem to be any prospect of increased demand so long as the exchange continues low. For example, to give the shippers a return of 25 per cent. at the exchange of 35 pence, it is necessary now to sell at the price of 17600 reis per 60 kilos as compared with 14000 at this time last year. It is evident therefore that Spain and Italy with their exchanges at a normal rate are easily able to show better returns than this country, apart from the fact that the wage earning classes of these countries are considerably better off and can afford to pay more for their food than the Portuguese. Schr. Lef is in Lexicoes Harbor awaiting orders."

THE TRUE HARBINGER.

Most harbingers of Spring are fakes; the man depending on them wakes to find they fooled him and he sees he has the grip, or some disease. He sees some harbingers on deck, and says, "T'he Winter's gone by heck; a soft wind from the southland blows, and I shall change my underclothes, and put my overcoat in soak, and dance and sing and laugh and joke." And then a blizzard comes along, and shows him where he got in wrong. Oh, don't assume that Spring is here, when Jimcrow harbingers appear; but wait until the clucking hen is fussing round the yard again, intent on hatching sundry chicks into this world of politics. And don't be fooled by pullets young, which cluck around ere Spring is sprung; they're too impatient in the cause; the fire of youth is in their craws. But wait serenely till you've heard the clucking of the wise old bird, which has outlived the zeal of youth, and long since cut her wisdom tooth. When she gets busy, when she begs for nest of straw and fourteen eggs, then, gentle reader, you may shed your underwear of flannel red; for when the old hen plays her game, we realize that Spring has come.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out, and you can't find any dandruff.

SEE AMERICA FIRST—HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."
The American citizen who hasn't money enough to go to England and take a look at the ancient universities of Oxford and Cambridge should not despair. He can see something twice as great, though not nearly so peculiar, by inserting himself into the subway at Boston and getting shot under the Charles River into Cambridge.

He will there discover himself in a wilderness of buildings, parks and historic remains known as Harvard University. It is the oldest college in the country and will celebrate its 300th birthday in 1936. This is a mere teething age as compared with European schools, some of whose buildings have not been dusted off for that length of time. But Harvard is old enough to have accumulated 25,000 alumni, including three presidents of the United States, an endowment of $25,000,000, and enough venerable American history to keep a genuine American citizen busy and happy for several days while rambling about Cambridge.

Harvard University began its career in a few plain brick dormitories. In 1833 John Harvard left it $2,750 and 300 books. This has made him so famous that his old home in Stratford-on-Avon is now a shrine of American tourists. It pays to advertise in a judicious and scholarly manner.

Harvard now has upwards of a hundred buildings, but they do not awe

"Cascarets" Always Straighten You Up

If Costive, Headachy, Bilious, Stomach Sour, Breath Bad—Clean your Liver and Bowels.
Get a 10-cent box now.
You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.
Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?
Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and the foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.
A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Truly March came in like a lamb this year, and we hope he won't decide to go out like a lion. However, whatever he decides to do we are now with "the long hungry month of March," as the old saying goes.

Rev. J. S. Sutherland occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's Church at both services yesterday; the services were very much enjoyed. The rev. gentleman leaves by this afternoon's train for St. John's.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"Will you kindly explain the meaning of R. S. V. P.; also T. S. V. P. which was on a note I received to-day," pleaded Irene.

"Respondes Si Vous Plait; Heral translation, Reply. If you please, Tournez Si Vous Plait means, turn, if you please; in other words, please turn the page," replied her older sister.

Wisteria is a most becoming shade for the woman with white skin and gray hair.
