BROKEN PLATES REPAIRED.

Well equipped Dental Offices can now repair plates. A broken tooth is no reason why a plate should be discarded. A new tooth, or several of them, can be vulcanized onto the old plate and make the service absolutely as good as ever. If you meet with an accident that injures your plate in any way, consult your dentist about repairs before you discard it for a new one. You can often prevent a needless expense. RUINED MEAL.

"I don't want to accept that invitation," a friend of mine said to me one morning recently when the postman brought her a week-end invitation, as we sat together on her porch.

"Why not? I thought they had a lovely big house."

"They have, but the last time we went there Mr. found so much fault at meal times that it made me awfully uncomfortable."

"Isn't his wife a good cook?"

"Afraid she will weep."

"Not very, but that doesn't matter half so much as having to sit there and hear him criticize and ask her why she has a cold dessert on a cold day, and if she will learn not to get the roast too raw by the time they have been married ten years? And she looks as if she might weep any minute and you feel as if you wanted to get away somewhere. I think there is nothing in the world so embarrassing as being forcibly made a witness to family quarrels or criticisms."

"Why does he do it?"

"Well, I think it is partly because he is dissatisfied with her cooking and partly because he is a traveling man and wants us to know that he is used to the best of food and the best service and can't get along without it, and he takes that way of impressing it on us. I don't blame him for criticism."

Forest Vandals.

If it be a crime to exploit the needs of others in what category stand the politicians who for their own selfish ends are taking advantage of the unfortunate economic condition of the country to rob the land of its heritage and men of their right to a decent wage at one operation.

We have a group of men now three years in office and they have not got further along towards promoting the welfare of the country than the adoption in a wholesale manner of a miserable make-shift expedient introduced during the hysteria of a war-time period.

The cutting and exportation of pulpwood and pit-props which received sanction of legislation as a temporary war time measure is now acted upon as if it were a permanent, and our woods are being raided in the name of affording employment.

This destruction of our woods is nothing short of criminal folly, and should not be countenanced even though it afforded the men engaged a decent living wage, but it does nothing of the sort, and there is therefore a double reason why it should be discontinued at once.

It means starvation wages and the destruction of our woods.

What this mad onslaught upon our fast depleting forestry resources means can only be appreciated by those who are eye-witnesses and who have actual knowledge of what is really going on.

At two dollars a cord a man cannot earn more than enough to keep him from actually starving.

This low rate of pay compels the wood man to deeds of ruthlessness, and trees are slaughtered in a most criminally extravagant manner. If the contractor were dealing with his own goods, and not with the natural property of us all he would be more conservative in his methods. As it is he appears to be bent on one design and that self aggrandizement at the expense of the country.

Can nothing halt this destruction. Can nothing that can be said awake the country to a sense of real danger. From the politicians we can expect nothing.

The people themselves must act, if we are to save the last remnant of our woods.

There are other ways of giving employment beside setting men at the work of demolition. There are ways whereby men may not only earn a living wage but may be employed not in destroying, but adding to the wealth of the country.

It is folly beyond power of words to describe to cut down our trees when there is no demand for the product. Hundreds of thousands of cords of pulp wood are lying unutilized in this country and in Canada to-day, yet we go on cutting.

We keep on cutting without a thought to the consequence. We use our forests as we would a mine, destroying as we go.

It is time a thorough survey be at once undertaken with a view to discovering where we stand in the matter of our woods. We should ascertain what the annual increase of our wood is, so that we may not exceed this limit.

Governments of the past and present have been most remiss in this respect, but the present party in power has been criminally responsible for a destruction exceeding all former ef-commanded to get down to reason and to understand that they are treading, not a continent covered with forest trees but an island whose tree covered area does not exceed a quarter of its total area.

It is time that they figure out a policy to be pursued by this country with a view to her future.

We must set some object ahead of us, if we are to gain any advances. We must set a limit to forest exploitation or else sure sorrow waits us.

The export of raw material should cease. We cannot have farming advancement if we give up our wooded areas entirely to the merciless destruction of the axemen.

We cannot have game or fur if we destroy the haunts of the wild creatures.—Public Opinion.

At Rest.

As the sun shone in all its splendour—ere the shadows of evening appeared, there was laid to rest in the R. C. Cemetery on Monday last the body of the late John Foley, Postmaster—loved and respected by the whole community. One could scarcely realize that less than twenty-four hours previous to this sad and solemn ceremony, deceased had been apparently in a fair state of health, but the call came, and so terminated the earthly existence of a good man. In the respect to their worthy fellow citizen the shopkeepers closed their stores at 4 o'clock for the remainder of the afternoon, and at 4.30, the large procession wended its way to the R. C. Cathedral, where Father Dinn performed the last sad rites and the choir sang a portion of that hymn of consolation "Nearer My God to Thee."

A guard of honor from "Dalton Council," Knights of Columbus, attended the funeral and also members from Carbonar. As Mr. H. F. Shortie puts it in his eloquent tribute to the late Mr. Foley, which appeared in Telegram on the 31st ult.,—"So passed away a great soul. Newfoundland is the poorer, and at Harbor Grace especially he will be missed. To his wife, and five children, Lizzie and Leo in the U.S.A., Mary, Magdalen and Edward at home, we offer our deepest sympathy.—Requiescat in Pace.—Cor.

forts while neglecting like their predecessors for what can be expected from men whose only desire seems to be to hold on to office.

I am fully aware that my words will go unheeded for what can be expected from men whose only desire seems to be to hold on to office.

Time and again have I sounded a note of warning and demanded sane administration of our natural wealth only to find my words lost on the dull senses of those who unfortunately for the country are in charge of her affairs.

It is time that the dull and greedy ones who are attempting in their insane desire for forest exploitation be
