The Censure of the Thunderer.

There are those who have tried to belittle the conclusive findings of Mr. Walker, and have imputed political motives and vindictiveness inspired by partizanship to those who have been outspoken in condemning the state of affairs revealed by the Report. They have even suggested that the Commissioner was bought, and that those who uphold his indictment of our public life are the paid agents of the enemies of the administration. Below appears the Editorial comment of the London Times on the Walker exposures. Will those defendants of corruption and graft charge that paper also with mercenary motives, with having their views distorted by hatred, or their utterances dictated by interested parties?

It is unnecessary to introduce The Times to our readers, to refer to the extent of its circulation or the effect of its comments upon the public. It is sufficient to point out that the famous journal has considered the Walker Report sufficiently damning to call attention of the people of the Empire to the humiliating state of affairs in the Oldest Colony, and to suggest to us the way out.

A CHAPTER OF SCANDAL.

(The London Times.)

The Newfoundland Enquiry has ended, and the Commissioner has presented his report to the Government of the Colony. It makes singularly unpleasant reading, and not even the best friends of Newfoundland will attempt to minimize the extreme gravity of all that it has revealed. According to the summary of the report which we printed on Saturday, it is the opinion of the Commissioner that certain serious charges have been proved against Sir Richard Squires, who was Prime Minister of the Colony from 1919 until July last year, against Mr. Campbell, Minister of Agriculture in the Squires Cabinet; and against several Government Departments. Properly to understand the circumstances which led to the inquiry, it is necessary to glance at the recent political history of Newfoundland. At the General Elections held in May last year Sir Richard Squires was returned to the House of Assembly at the head of a party of twenty-three members in a Parliament of thirty-six. Even in his hour of victory, however, ugly stories were circulated as to the conduct of certain Government Departments, notably the Department of Liquor Control. A considerable section of the Cabinet, headed by Mr. Warren, the Attorney General, demanded the immediate dismissal of Mr. Campbell, the Minister of Agriculture, who had meanwhile left the Colony for the benefit of his health. The refusal of Sir Richard Squires to accede to this demand was followed by the prompt resignation of his disaffected colleagues, the fall of the Government, and the accession to power of Mr. Warren.

The new Prime Minister lost no time in promising "a thorough investigation into all matters affecting the downfall of his predecessor." It was quickly realized that the task demanded the services of an official who had no active connection with the politics of the Colony, and the Colonial Office accordingly was asked to nominate a Commissioner. Mr. T. H. Walker, K.C., Recorder of Derby, was appointed, and one of the few redeeming features in the whole of the wretched business is the unanimous tribute paid by the people and the Press of Newfoundland to the thoroughness and the strict impartiality with which he carried out his duty. The inquiry began early in January, a vast amount of evidence was tendered by all parties, and Mr. Warren himself, in his capacity as Attorney-General, conducted the case against his predecessor. Mr. Warren obtained the Commissioner's verdict with very mixed feelings. If it furnishes abundant justification of his courageous attempt to cleanse the public life of the Colony, it has struck a heavy blow at the Colony's good name; it is an indictment not only of the persons mentioned in the various charges, but of the political morality of large numbers of their fellow-countrymen. Apparently the first count on which Sir Richard Squires was arraigned was that of obtaining a sum of over £4,000 from the funds of the Liquor Control Department, through the office of one Meaney, then Liquor Controller. The Commissioner has found this charge to be proved; adding that Sir Richard Squires accepted the money "with the knowledge of its tainted history," and so "made himself a receiver and accomplice in Meaney's wrong."

Proved also, according to the report, is the second count, that Sir Richard Squires accepted "timely financial assistance" to the tune of nearly £3,000 from the Dominion Steel Co., and this at a time when negotiations were in progress for a renewal of the company's contract with the Government. It is both difficult and undesirable to comment upon the verdict in this section of the report. That it should have been possible to level such accusations against the Prime Minister of a great Dominion of the Crown seems incredible; that it should have been possible to prove them is nothing short of a tragedy.

As for Mr. Campbell, the Commissioner has found him guilty on various counts, from the waste of public money on political patronage to the comparatively minor offence of paying his cab fares out of the Departmental funds. Unfortunately the trouble goes further than the specific charges levelled against individual Ministers, and Mr. Walker has found it necessary to censure not only various Government Departments, but even certain sections of the community. The Audit Department comes in for some particularly caustic comment, and the Commissioner has some hard words for the storekeepers who charged the Government excessive prices for provisions supplied in its relief work during the destitution that followed the years of war. Even the undoubted distress appears to have been exaggerated for the political gain of those entrusted with the administration of the relief funds and the personal profit of those who claimed a right to them. In a sad and unsavoury affair the hope lies in the firmness and the energy of Mr. Warren and his colleagues. They made a good beginning in their determination to set up the inquiry, but their responsibility in the matter is by no means at an end. It is true that, in the words of the Commissioner himself, the result of his investigations has thrown light upon many dark places. But that is not enough. Newfoundland is entering upon a new era of industrial development, and it is only a few months since the British Government co-operated with the Government of the Colony for the guarantee of a loan of £4,000,000 in order to make possible still further progress. Quite apart from the need for vindicating, in the eyes of the rest of the world, the national honour of Britain's oldest Colony, there are the strongest reasons why Mr. Warren and his Government should furnish prompt and adequate assurances that those dark places, together with any others which may still exist, shall not only be well lit in the future, but shall also be swept clean.

The British Institute of International Affairs.

In another column of the Telegram will be found an appeal for an Endowment Fund on behalf of the British Institute of National Affairs together with a synopsis of the purposes and objects of the Institute.

Thanks to the munificence of Colonel and Mrs. R. W. Leonard of St. Catherine's, Ontario, a home has been provided and the nucleus of the Endowment Fund subscribed, but in order to add to famous house so intimately associated with three of Britain's most distinguished statesmen—Pitt, Derby and Gladstone—and in order to continue the important work of the Institute, further sums are required.

On the occasion of the installation, His Royal Highness extended an invitation to the Empire to participate in the Endowment Fund. Such a request is never made unless the object is a worthy one; and coming from such a source it is certain that the response will be generous.

Mr. Morine Addresses
Llewellyn Club*THE WALKER REPORT LUCIDLY DISCUSSED.

Last night standing room was unobtainable in the Canon Wood Hall when Mr. A. B. Morine, K.C., was introduced to the audience by L. Colley. The intense interest with which the speaker's remarks were given and the applause which frequently interrupted the address eloquently expressed how deeply the public concerned in the situation which has arisen in consequence of the Walker Report and there was no mistaking their earnest desire that the Government should take immediate and decisive action. The audience consisted of ladies and gentlemen representing every class and creed, and if there was one matter in which they seemed to agree with the speaker more strongly than any other, it was that the people of this country themselves were capable of finding a way out. The first portion of Mr. Morine's address is published elsewhere and the remainder of it will appear to-morrow.

A vote of thanks to the lecturer was moved by Mr. R. MacDonald, seconded by Mr. B. Davies, and carried enthusiastically. Mrs. Hector McNeil made a brief address touching upon the work that the women in the community were engaged upon, and the opportunities which offered for them to take a greater part in public affairs. A collection in aid of the Marine Disasters' Fund was taken up and amounted to $75.00. The National Anthem brought to a close what was unanimously pronounced one of the most masterly addresses ever delivered in the public life of Newfoundland.

Illustrated Lecture

The pupils of Spencer College were treated to an illustrated lecture on history by Miss Cherrington, the Principal, in the auditorium last night. The subject was "The Tudor and Stuart Periods." The pupils were keenly interested and the illustrations helped considerably to show that the subject is not one which consists of dry facts and lists of dates but the doings of real persons who formerly occupied the stage. Mr. W. N. Gray manipulated the lantern slides, and amongst those in attendance was Rev. J. Brinton. The Newfoundland Poultry Association will give the pupils a lecture (illustrated) on Poultry Culture during the second week in May, after the Easter holidays.

Action Demanded

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir—May I be permitted as a returned soldier and one who thought he fought for British justice and fair play to express an opinion with regard to the line of conduct pursued by those who are the direct representatives of the Crown, insofar as the wandering of two of the principal offenders in the recent Commission are concerned. I think it extremely unwise, on the part of Premier Warren, to place himself in such "an absolutely untenable position," as the editor of this morning's "News," so concisely puts it. One would think that he might have foreseen such an act on the part of the defiant Premier. However, there is only one way to remedy the apparent lack of foresight, and that is to advertise a monster public meeting (and I hope I am not presuming in thinking that the Telegram would be only too pleased to do the needful) in one of our large city halls, with the object of having a petition signed for presentation to the Minister of Justice. Some person who could arrange such a meeting is sure to be found. Thanking you in anticipation for inserting these few words in your esteemed journal, I am,
Yours for a square deal,
FAXPATER.

Obituary

R. T. McGRATH.

There passed away this morning at 4 o'clock at the General Hospital, R. T. McGrath, Barrister, in the 88th year of his age. Mr. McGrath had been suffering for several months, and his physicians held out no hope for his recovery, but nevertheless his death came as a shock to his relatives and friends, because, even within the past few days there had seemed to be marked evidence of improvement in his condition. Mr. McGrath was widely known and universally loved by his associates. He was a son of the late James F. McGrath, formerly Governor of H. M. Penitentiary, and his brother, John W. McGrath, predeceased him by about six weeks. The only surviving members of the family are his sister, Miss Betty McGrath, who is living in the city, and his youngest brother, James, at present a medical student in Dublin, to whom, and to his stepmother, the sympathy of the community will go out. Mr. McGrath was unquestionably one of the ablest members of the Junior Bar of Newfoundland and, but for the fact that since childhood his health had been precarious, and that in particular he suffered continuously from illness during the past few years, he would undoubtedly have achieved a position of great distinction in his profession, such as his unusual mental endowments entitled him to. He was active for years, in so far as his health permitted him, in local sporting events such as baseball and billiards, and few men of his generation had such a host of friends, and no enemies whatever. His goodness of character and generosity endeared him to everyone. His last illness was borne with the fortitude of a man and a Christian, strengthened by the ministrations of the Catholic Church, and the sympathy of his wide circle of friends, who, though regretting beyond measure his untimely death, yet are relieved at the termination of sufferings that in recent months had approached the limit of human endurance. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of his stepmother, Mrs. James F. McGrath, Allendale Road, and interment will be in Belvedere Cemetery.

MRS. CATHERINE BRADSHAW.
After a very brief illness and but a day after she had reached her seventy third birthday the soul of Catherine Bradshaw passed quietly into the Great Beyond. During the last few days she had lived in anticipation of seeing her daughter, Mrs. Pigeon, who was hurrying to her side from Halifax by the Silvio, but her hope was not realized and at six-thirty last evening she closed her eyes in sleep. It can truly be said of Mrs. Bradshaw that to know her was to love her, and her circle of friends was so large that her passing will be mourned by the whole community. Her warm heartedness to all, her unflinching hospitality, her intense interest in public and social activities brought her in intimate touch with all classes and always her manner to all was the same. Indeed if in dispensing kindness she showed any preference it was for the children whom she loved and who loved her wholeheartedly in return. She survived her husband, Mr. Henry Bradshaw barely two years, and she leaves to mourn two sons, Frank and Frederick, three daughters, Mrs. J. Cleary, Mrs. (Dr.) Mitchell and Mrs. Pigeon and one brother, Professor Charles Hutton. To these in their great sorrow, the Telegram extends its deepest sympathy. The funeral takes place on Saturday afternoon from her late residence on Military Road.

ARTHUR STIRLING HAYWARD.

Yesterday the city learned of the tragic passing of a highly respected citizen in the person of Mr. Arthur Stirling Hayward, a lifelong and prominent employee of the firm of C. F. Bennett & Co. Of quiet and unassuming disposition, and formerly an enthusiastic cricketer, the late Mr. Hayward's condition had been for some time past causing his family considerable anxiety, but no fatal results were anticipated. The shock was all the greater yesterday afternoon, when, attracted by a noise upstairs, Mrs. Hayward entered his room to find that Death had visited the house. Arthur S. Hayward was the son of the late Judge Hayward and was 68 years of age and related to a large number of families both in the city and elsewhere. Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, Bert, and four daughters: Mrs. Bortwood, of Winnipeg; Mrs. (Dr.) Parsons, of Shanghai; Mrs. James Black, of St. Lambert's, Quebec; and Mrs. E. A. Smith, of St. John's. In addition Mr. Fred Hayward was a step-brother, and another brother, Robert, resides in Winnipeg. His sisters are Mrs. Julia Simms, and Mrs. (Rev.) Hewitt, now residing in England. The Telegram extends sympathy to them in their sorrow. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon from his late residence on Forest Road.

THE PRESS AND POLICE.

PARIS, April 3.

The Prince of Wales after a 24 hours visit to Paris left to-day for Biarritz to the great relief of the secret police entrained with the task of keeping discreet watch over the safety of the royal visitor in France. The Prince who is travelling incognito as the Earl of Chester fooled the detectives and reporters nearly this morning. A huge automobile bearing the coat of arms of the British Embassy remained standing in front of his hotel until noon. As the Prince had not appeared the detectives were much worried, and the afternoon papers published photographs of the automobile with caption "The Prince of Wales, the latest visitor in Paris." In the meantime the Earl of Chester escaped through the rear entrance of the hotel and lunched democratically in a modest restaurant near the boulevards with a former interpreter who was attached to the British Army during the War.

SUGGESTS ROYAL VISIT TO SPAIN—BE CANCELLED.

BUCHAREST, April 4.

The Spanish Government has suggested the cancellation of the contemplated visit of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania to Madrid this month. It is believed that similar requests will be received from the Rumanian King and Queen, who recently cancelled supposedly as a result of friction between the two nations over the Rumanian debt to Italy. The Spanish Foreign Policy has been showing inclination to follow Italy since the recent visit to Rome of General Primo Rivera, the Spanish Military Dictator.

CHARLOTTETOWN, April 4.

The Government has introduced in the Legislature a bill to reduce the salaries of P. I. L. members including the Premier, Attorney General, Commissioners of Public Works and Agriculture, who now receive $2000 each per annum or $8000 in all, to $1500 each and to reduce the seasonal indemnity of members from $600 to $400.

MEGANTIC'S CREW HEAVILY FINED.

NEW YORK, April 4.

Federal Judge Garvin fixed to-day seven members of the crew of the British liner Megantic $1500 each for possessing liquor and transporting it into the United States. Earlier in the day the Cunard Line and Hamburg American Line paid fines of $275 and $281 respectively in penalty for the seizure of liquor in this port aboard the liners Berengaria and Albert Ballin. In passing sentence on the Megantic men, Judge Garvin recalled that when he gave light sentences to the crew of the liner Orduna, he issued a warning that the next time British seamen came before him for importing liquor he would inflict a heavy penalty.

ABERDEEN, April 4.

The distressing reports about the poverty stricken conditions of the fishermen were heard to-day at a meeting of the Scottish Fishermen's Association here. A RECORD IN BELGIAN JUDICIAL HISTORY.

GHENT, Belgium, April 4.

A trial which surpassed all records in the history of Belgian justice has been concluded in eastern Flanders Assizes with a verdict condemning ten men to death, seven to life imprisonment, five to twenty years, four to fifteen years, and one to twelve years. Nine were acquitted. The men were of a band of thirty-six criminals who operated with impunity throughout Flanders during the year immediately after the war.

Imperative WarningTO THOSE SEEKING EMPLOYMENT ON THE HUNTER.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir,—Herewith is a copy of a message received by me from Major B. Butler, Deer Lake. Will you kindly publish same in your paper for the information of any of your readers who may be interested in securing employment at Deer Lake or Corner Brook at the present time.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
W. W. HALFYARD,
Colonial Secretary.

April 4th, 1924.

[Copy]
Hon. W. W. Halfyard,
Colonial Secretary.

It is imperative that all possible steps be taken to keep men from coming forward to this area until work has been arranged. Every train bringing scores and at Deer Lake there are still over one hundred unemployed who are over-crowding our huts to the discomfort of our workers. Cannot the railway be instructed to discontinue selling tickets for this area. Conditions the same at Corner Brook and unless more drastic steps are taken the situation will be most serious as our hut accommodation is hopelessly overcrowded.
