Ontario Government Thinks Jurisdic tion of the Institution Should Be in Provincial Hands.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Feb. 16.—A Jewish delegation put up a lively protest this morning against the terms on which it is proposed to separate Queen's University from the Presbyterian Church The protest was lodged with the bills committee of the Commons, in which the bill to nationalize Queen's University and to separate it from the Presbyterian Church was being cou-

One clause in the bill declares that the university is for the general advantage of Canada, and "distinctively Christian.

The delegation which appeared against this clause included Rabbi Jacobs, of Toronto, Ald. Blumenthal, L. Cohen and L. Silver, of Montreal, and A. H. Wolff, Ottawa.

W. F. Nickle, M. P., of Kingston, who had the bill in charge, opened the proceedings by explaining to the committee that it was to give effect to the decision of the Presbyterian Church at the last general assembly to make the university undenominational. The bill had ben prepared by the heads of the church and of the university.

Might Exclude Jews. Robert Bickerdike, M. P., whose division of St. Lawrence, Montreal is largely populated by Jews, stated that as the bill was drawn it might result in the exclusion of the Jews from participation in the advantages of one of Canada's great educational institutions. He thought that the clause declaring tages of Canada and distinctively Christian should be struck out.

The province of Ontario also made a kick against the bill. R. G. Code, K. C., bobbed up with the announcement that the Ontario Government objected to the words "for the general advantage of .Canada," which appeared in the bill, and in fact to the whole of the bill, on the ground that education was reserved for the provinces by the British North America

Mr. Nickle replied that the courts had decided the Dominion had jurisdiction decided the Dominion had jurisdiction when a university had property. In more than one instance the Dominion had passed bills for the university.

A good many members of the committee insisted upon the provincial jurisdiction point, and especially Mr. Burnham, of Peterboro, who wanted the opinion of the department of justice.

Mr. Nickle said that he was willing to withdraw the words "for the general"

Ontario's objection to the bill was then dropped by Mr. Code, and it was decided to refer the question of jurisdiction to the department of justice.
Then the case of the Hebrews was or N. MacDonnell, K.C., speaking for the Presbyterian Church, said that it had been agreed between the church and the been agreed between the church and the trustees that the university should be Christian when nationalized. This had been the original intention of its founders, and this could not be carried out except by passing this clause.

Rabbi Jacobs argued so long as the college remained Presbyterian restricted clauses were all right. Nationalized and probably supported in part, at least, by Jewish money, such restrictions were lewish money, such restrictions were tothing short of a stigma on Canada. Dr. Ramsay said that the framers of Dr. Ramsay said that the framers of the bill were not alming at the Jews, but at another class of men who were antagonistic to Christianity.

L. Cohen, of Montreal, declared restrictive clauses to be inconsistent in a charter wide as the boundless mercy of God, which had been obtained from Parliament.

Rev. Robt. Campbell, D.D., declared that the non-Christian Christians were the ones who were aimed at in the clause.

The discussion was brought to an end by Mr. Claude MacDonnel, of Toronto, who held that when the university declared itself national it was wise to be national in fact as well as in name. Further consideration of the bill was held over for a week.

Paul's Church. An anniversary supper and concert was held in St. Paul's Anglican Church aacdemic and professional training of Thursday evening, and was largely attended. The supper was prepared and served by the men of the church, each being dressed in a white cap and apron. The regast provided was an excellent one, and the men were congratulated on their efforts, even the ladies being forced to praise the cooking and way the things were served.

After the supper, which was held in the basement, the congregation adjourn-ed to the church, where a splendid pro-gramme of musical selections, readings gramme of musical selections, readings and addresses, was given. A feature of the evening was an address by Rev. W. I. Steeves, of Egerton Street Baptist Church, Mr. Steeves' subject being "Life on the European Plan." The theme of Mr. Steeves' address was that we always pay for just what we get out of life. A large crowd attended the supper and concert, and it was the popular opinion that it was the most successful anniversary event ever held in the church.

cation is a minor one but one, both directly and indirectly, of very con-siderable importance to the university expansion of the university begun, we shall start upon our next year—in September—on the same footing as other favored universities in this respect. It it very plainly not a case in which we can wisely or well adopt "stand and deliver" methods. Indeed, however it may end, this much is certain, that it shall have received the most careful and earnest consideration on the part of the deputy minister, and the lleutenant-governor in council. My own idea is that the making of school teachers should not absorb too much of our thoughts and efforts: I would rather that the university may become an institution in versity may become an institution in which every young man and woman, no matter what their means, or whether they have any or not, if they have natural ability, may be fitted for putting to the fullest and best use.

I am sending to you now, a memorandum of the extensions of the university, in all its parts, to be carried into effect in all its parts, to be carried into effect before the beginning of the coming academic year; indicating, as I am sure everyone will see, a very decided and satisfactory step forward in the university's progress. All that is now needed to continue its rapid advancement is proof of the faith of the people of Western Ontario in, and their desire for, a university in their midst, by filling its classes with their children. It is all very well to praise and to shout for the cal and unwise to send their sons and Huron College.

Hon. Mr. Beck made the remark that the Ontario Government would assist from $500 to $700 a year more, and though it remove them from under the parental eye and subject them to the temptations of much larger cities. The Western University in all the branches of learning which it undertakes to teach, affords advantages equal to that of any other university, and has statute-con-ferred degree conferring powers unsurpassed in any.

At the opening of the Western University next September, everything needed in it will be in readiness; the next move must be made by the people of Western Ontarlo, especially of London, in filling its classes, and if condon, in filling its classes, and if con-tinued progress and success are to attend it and London to become a noted centre of educational activity, the outstanding features of which shall be, I trust, in
