A MENAORD JUDICIARY.

Colifornia is in what the Bullein is pleased to style a revoit on the part of the governor of the State and a seen large-landed proprietors against the aurproach court. If a popular large is a servent was raking the first for the light of the proposed of the fight of the proposed of the fight of the proposed of pregent of the proposed of pregent of the proposed of the proposed of pregent of the proposed of pregent of the proposed of the proposed of pregent of the proposed of that the governor of the state has become a party to their revolutionary movement. Evidence is being daily disclosed to the effect that he has been engaged in a scheme to destroy a co-ordinate branch of the government. The existence of secret compacts and agreements is now admitted, though all the facts have not yet been given to the public. If the legislature now in session was not to some extent comprised with him, its first act should be to impeach him for high crimes, and misdemeanors in office. If his term did not expire on the first Monday of Janu-handoonald honor of the visit (of Sir John Macdonald). misdemeanors in office. If his term did not expire on the first Monday of January next, we are disposed to believe that the people would insist that the leading issue of the campaign should be to bring him at once to the bar of justice. To haw him up for the comparatively pitiful offense of contempt would be to belittle a most heinous political crime. The water conspirators in their late convention made no secret of their purpose to subjugate the judiciary. Their bond of union specifically declared that it was their fixed determination to prevent the of union specifically declared that it was their fixed determination to prevent the election of judges who were not ready beforehand to abjectly pledge themselves to decide in their favor. When they adbeforehand to abjectly pledge themselves to decide in their favor. When they adjourned, their organs indecently clamored for the immediate resignation of the judges. But the gorge of the state began so manifestly to rise at this outrageous revolutionary outbreak, that the uproar died away before it reached its full volume. It was at this juncture that the governor appears to have undertaken to accomplish by indirection what the abashed organs found it hecessary to so hastily drop. In his promusciamento calling the legislature together in extra session, that official presents an essentially false and distorted view of the effects of the late decision; speaks doubtfully as to whether the people will "beacefully submit," and winds up with a criticism of the mechanism of the court. Upon this last point he thinks that there is necessity for constitutional reconstruction, and to this end he gives permission to the consideration of measures of that character. It will be borne in mind that this permission to provide for a special election is granted in face of the fact that (Laughter.) I went to England for the purpose of securing a number of gentlemen to construct this line and my usual good fortune did not desert me for I was enabled to get the right men for the work. With such men as Sin George Stephen and Sir Donald A. Smith. "Angus and others, and the energy to put into their work, they were, notwithstanding the enormous difficulties which were in their way, enabled to complete the line in 1886. This property is a second of the common of t were, notwithstending the enormous difficulties; which were in their way, enabled to complete the line in 1886, although not called upon to do so until 1891. I remember saying that I could not well hope in my then advanced age to travel across the continent on this line, yet it might be my happy lot to look down upon, the completed work. Some said I would most probably look up, Lam neither looking on it from above or below, but I am taking it on the horizontal. I am greatly pleased with the country through which I have passed and at every place I atopped I was assured that that particular spet was the "garden" of the Northwest. If this city grows as I believe it will, it will fight a good battle with Winnipeg as a distributing point. Here you are about the centre from British Columbia to the East and soon trains will be bringing into and through the will be bringing into and through the rich products of the Asiatic countries, but we are not going to be satisfied with that. We are now making arrangements for the trade of Australia and its sister countries, a careful examination, of the manifests of the steamers from San Francisco to Australia here the steamers from San Francisco to Australia here the steamers and said the steamers of the steamers from San Francisco to Australia here there is needed and it is found. tralia has been made and it is found that ifully 90 per cent of the goods could be sent by 'Canadism manufactur,' ers and there is no reason in the world why the trade of our southern colonies should not come to this country. In conclusion, will say that I shall on my return be glad to see any gentle, man on matters of public interest and would thank you for you kind allusions in your several addresses to my wife. This is my first visit to the Northwest.
