The case contains about 50 specimens of beautiful corals from Samoa, and a collection of shells from the coast of Lower California. Mr. Mayer visited our museum about a month ago, and when there, in expressing himself as pleased with the showing of British Columbia game animals, promised the curator that, on his return home, he would send him a little memento from from the South Seas. The ceremony was performed at $2t. Michael's Church, by the rector, Rev. M. C. Browne. Mr. D. Stevens and Mr. C. Little supported the groom; the Misses Nellie and Jessie Stevens were bridesmaids. The bride wore white silk vell, and orange blossoms, the maids pale pink and surah, each carrying lovely bouquets of flowers. After the knot was tied, all returned to the parents' home, where many friends received them, and there partook of a sumptuclus breakfast. The bride was the recipient of many valuable and handsome presents.

His Absence Will Be Felt.

On Thursday evening last, at Triumph Lodge, Esquimalt, I.O.G. T., brother Dyer, Lodge Deputy, tendered his resignation, being about to return to England. The resignation was accepted with genuine regret by all, for, since the lodge was instituted in 1887, it has had no firmer supporter than brother Dyer, who has remained faithful through its numerous reverses, and labored right nobly for the temperance cause; his even temperament, patience and amisbility, winning him many friends throughout the whole province. A large number of visitors from sister lodges were in attendance, and after the usual business, the evening was devoted to a social. A programme of considerable length was well rendered, the visitors contributing the greater part. The meeting was brought to a close at 10.30 p. m., being one of the happiest and most successful ever held by Triumph Lodge.

For Jeckson Island.

A Tacoma special to the Scattle Post-Intelligencer of yesterday says: Miss Jould, of Buchanan, W. Va., arrived there Sunday, en route for Jackson Island, on the Alaskan coast. Miss Jould's sister, Mrs. McCloud, and her husband and a Miss MacFarlane constitute the white population of the island, and have been there ten years. Sixty children attend, school conducted by the McClouds and Miss MacFarlane, and they are taught everything from their letters to algebra. Semi-annually a steamer touches at Jackson Island, and, together with the cance express that goes to Fort Wrangell monthly for necessary supplies, constitute the sources of communication with civilization. Miss Jould will assist the missionaries on Jackson Island. Her sister has two children, and letters show her to be happy and contented.

Fisheries Guardian MoNeil made his first direct report to Ottawa last night. It deals in full with the condition of fisheries on this island, especially the lakes, and calls attention to the constant use of dynamite in the destruction of fish at Shawnigan and other lakes. This matter has also been brought to the notice of Messrs. Earle and Prior, who will no doubt push the question before the Department. Officer McNeil has received intimation to the effect that several parties who have been fishing in Thetis lake for the past few weeks have been using salmon roe for batt. He hopes soon to be in a position to visit every lake in the district and ascertain for himself the condition of affairs. On receipt of instructions from Ottawa he will proceed to punish the parties who are known to have been concerned in the mild "dynamite outrage."

Beath of a Piencer.

Prepared for death for many days, and having hourly expected the sword of the Angel to part the thin veil which hides this life from the next, Mr. J. E. F. Englehardt, of this city, passed peacefully away, Sunday afternoon, at his home on Burdett avenne. Heart disease was the cause. Deceased came to Victoria in 1862, from England, by way of Panama, and for several years carried on a wholesale and general wharfing business, being proprietor of the well-known Englehardt's wharf. Of late, he has-been a customs broker. His loss is mourned by a large number of friends, and, more especially, by the wife and family, who have lost a husband and father. The funeral is announced for Wednesday aftermoon from the family residence at 2:15 o'clock, and from the Reformed Episcopal Church at 2:30.

Several consignments of opium, which have been introduced lately from British Columbia into the United States, by the underground route, have, at the most inopportune moment, been seized by Uncle Sam's myrmidons when the owners were about to congrantate themselves on having ensured their safety, and to those "in the know," it was evident that some one has been supplying information which was more accurate than gratifying. On Sunday morning last two men entered the cabin occupied by the ex-inspector and proceeded to abuse him in the most outrageous manner. They not only accused him of being an informer, but assaulted him by striking him in the face, and after threatening to take his life should they hear of him giving any further information of their movements, they walked away. The men were total strangers to the ex-customs officer, and his surprise at their attack was such as to preclude his giving a very accurate description of their appearance. To preserve himself against any furthern attack he has placed the case in the hands of the police, and every effort will be made to bring the assallants to justice.

and on Saturday his friends knew that he could not live another twenty-four hours. The suicide must have been the result of deliberation, for he has often told his friends that he would never die of consumption. Before killing himself, he somehow mustered up strength to rise from bed, destroy all his private papers, and take a revolver out of his trunk. He was evidently too weak to crawl back into bed again. The bullet wound emitted not a single drop of blood.

Contrary to report, deceased was not a married man. He was 34 years of age, and leaves three brothers, two sisters and a mother, the latter being now seriously ill in Teronto, Ont., where he originally came from. The inquest will be held at 10 o'clock, this morning, and the funeral at 2:30, this afternoon.

IN THE MATRIMONIAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Crease.) MONDAY, 11th April, 1892.

This was an application before the court from Mrs Green, wife of the Rev. J. W. Green for a judicial separation from her husband, on the grounds of cruelty and drunkenness. Mr. P. Æ. Irving, of the firm of Bodwell & Irving, appeared for the petitioner. The respondent was undefended, the having left this city some weeks ago, in a sailing vessel, bound for England. Mrs. Green, who is now principal of the college lately conducted by her husband, testified very clearly to the facts of the case, and brief, though conclusive, evidence was brought forward in substantiation of her charges. After hearing the testimony, his Lordship granted petitioner a judicial separation, with all costs in the action.

This was a case in which Herbert Hutton Welsh, as petitioner, applied for a divorce from his wife, whom he married, in 1889, in London, England. John O'Flaherty was, made co-respondent, and it was on the ground of adultery with this party that the action was based. Early in the month of February last, a commission had been issued Jy Mr. Sustice Crease, empowering the taking of evidence of necessary witnesses in London, Ont., where the adultery was alleged to have taken place. Mr. Irving, of the firm of Bodwell & Irving, appeared for the petitioner, and read a copy of the evidence taken in London. It included the testimony of Alfred E. Welsh, a brother of the petitioner, and Mrs. Hardy, in whose house the respondent appeared to have lived a life of shame. The petitioner was placed on the stand and swore to the details of his married life, which substantiated the charges made.

His Lordship granted a rule nisi for six months, with all costs.

The only witness for the plaintiff was a young ster six years of age, whose evidence was taken while he was sitting on the knee of the Chief Justice.
