Lawyer Fraser Talks. Mr. R. L. Fraser, who is acting against the city, is loaded for bear. He has been fighting city, is loaded for bear. He has been fighting the bylaw ever since its inception, and now exults in the belief that he has the city in a corner. He said to The World:

"We are in a position to state positively that a site was effered to the Council between King and Queen streets and Spadina-avenue for $42,500; that this site was acceptable to the officers and to the then chairman of the Board of Works, Mr. Defoe. In every possible way the site seems more appropriate than the locality over which the fight has now begun."

"A matter which requires explanation," continued Mr. Fraser, "is why the 'letter given below, and which was in the hands of ex-Mayor Howland in October last, was never read to the Council."

"Str.—We have been instructed by a large number of those opposed to the selection of the property immediately in the rear of Osgoode Hall as a site for a drill shed, to consider the law said to have been stated by the City Solictor as to the question of the right of the corporation to expend any of the moneys to be raised under bylaw 1892 for the purchase or acquisition of any property for the drill shed, other than that specified in the resolution of the Council, moved by Ald. Piper and seconded by Ald. Boustead.

"Thebylaw, as you will see by reference to it, does not specify any property and we fall the liberty, notwithstanding said resolution, to select any property they may deem fit. "On investigating this subject we have come to the conclusion that the bylaw in itself is very imperfect, and that the object desired to be obtained cannot be accomplished under it. A significant feature is found in our telegrams from Louisville, New Orleans, St. Louis, Davenport and Burlington, Lowa: Kansas City, Omaha ard, St. Joseph, that she late warm weather in some cases followed by rains has greatly improved the crop prospects, including wheat, Indian corn, sugar and in California wheat harvesting has begun. Our reports of exports for this week from both coasts show a total of 1,200,207 bushels of wheat (and flour as wheat) shipped, one-third less than last week. For 51 weeks the total exported is 119,447,000 bushels, and for the crop year ending June 30 Bradstreet's reports foreshadow a total of about 121,000,000 bushels of wheat (and flour as wheat) sent abroad, as compared with 153,800,000 for the year ending June 30 Bradstreet's reports foreshadow a total of about 22,000,000 bushels, about 20 per cent. Less than 22,000,000 bushels, of Indian corn will have been exported during the year ended next Saturday, against over 40,000,000 exported in the preceding twelve months.

AYLMER'S TERRIBLE ORININAL

The Touching Letter that Lilian Goodfel-low Wrote Her Umatural Father.

The St. Thomas Daily Times of Thursday gives a detailed account of the circumstances ing up to the suicide of George W. Goodfellow at Aylmer on Tuesday evening last. Goodfellow was the proprietor of the large mills bearing his name, which are well known throughout Western Onterio. At six e'clocks Bell on Tuesday evening he was arrested on the beinous charge of incest, the victim being his daughters Lilian, aged 14 years, and a quarter of an hour after being taken into custody he hot himself through the head. On Saturday, June 9, Lilian left her father's souse. At a neighbor's residence she wrote a steer which afterwards fell into the hands of Rev. Mr. McGundry, in which she made the charges against her father. Her father followed her and brought her back, but she went away again, this time with her father's knowledge. adge.

The letter, already referred to, which was the cause of all that succeeded is as follows: the cause of all that succeeded is as follows:

PAPA: I have been 'long enough. You have pretended to love me but instead of leving me you hate me''. You have deprived me of young company and of the freedom which is necessary to young girls like me. I have gone where I can have these things, and if you ever find me it will do you so good, because I shall put myself under the protection of the laws of this country, and if you come after me I would appeal to them for protection and they would send you to Penicon and they would send you to Penicon and the you do you once, but 'there is no more love in my heart for you, and if I stayed at home and let you do 'as you liked I would be a corpse before I was 19 years of age. I have only $1.25, but I will use it to get among strangers. You have alw ys got use the best of clothes, but I would rather wear an old print dress and shoes with the toes out and have a clear conscience than stay at home and do as I have done. No tather that loved his child would whip her as you have whipped me. It is the greatest sin that man can commit to ruin his own dear for, "Thou shalt not commit adultery."

Goodfellow had previously had the paternity of one or two children hald to him by girls who had become mothers ere they were wives. After Lilian's second disappearance the excitement continued to grow until on Thursday night has a mob of 200 collected in front of Geodfellow's house and burned him in effigy. Goodfellow thereupon opened fire upon the crowd with a revolver and the mob retaliated with a tusilade of stones, wreeking one or two windows. Goodfellow then sallied forth revolver in hand, and the mob scattered, a number of bullett being sent after them. Monday the prisoner, who had not previously walked further up town than the bank, confining himself as much as possible to his mill, proceeded east to the postoffice. The street was lined with people and he was hooted for several blocks. Monday night a report was circulated that Lilian, had been kept secreted in the cellar, and another rumor was affoat that her father had killed her. Goodfellow had meantine made no attempt to clear away the charges made against him, and fearing that the threats of lynohing might be carried into effect, Detective J. G. Clayton lodged an information. When the two constables drove up to Goodfellow's house to effect the arrest he showed mo surprise, saying, "All right, I'll so with you, boys." Seemingly as an afterthought he asked to see his wife, and was allowed to walk out into the hall, when he shot himself instantly.

The coroner, when the widow was brought be-fore the jury, respected her grief, and forebore to torment her with questions other than what were absolutely necessary. The sympathy in Aylmer, is all for the family. Before Good-fellow's suicide there were those who thought sodest and unasuming. There is no doubt but that she is in Buffalo, as her father stated when arrested. She has been telegraphed for. Georgian Detective is Not on Hand.

Adam Morse will not return to Savannah.

As he is a free man, free to go wheresoever he Adam Morse will not return to Savannah, As he is a free man, free to go wheresoever he listeth, and free to remain away from places he wishes to avoid, there is not the slightest probability that he will revisit the Georgian capital. In accordance with previous arrangements, Morse reappeared before Judge McDougall yesterday morning. When last be fore His. Honor, on the 15th inst., he was remanded for a week, in the expectation that Detective Weatherhorn, who was ill in Georgis, would be able to attend and sign his evidence, as his signature was necessary before Morse could be transferred from the custody of the Canadian authorities to those of the United States. When the refugee was brought up yesterday there was, as usual, a large number of people in the court room. Among those present were Hon. John Macdonald (who recently subscribed $100 to the detence fund) and Mr. John Carson, who appeared for the County Orown Attorney, announced that the long-expected Mr. Weatherhorn would not attend, and he produced a telegram from Solicitor-General Osborne of Georgia, in which it was stated that the Georgian detective was still unable to leave his bed. Under these circumstances Mr. Carson considered that he was justified in asking for another remaind of a week. Mr. W. G. Murdoch and Mr. Waiter Read, on behalf of the prisoner, opposed the application, urging that there was neither evidence nor affidavit to show whith Weatherhorn was all. Judge McDougall agreed that there was no evidence, and as he had made the last adjournment a peremptory one there was no other course open for him but to discharge the prisoner. Morse was immediately surrounded by his friends, and heartily congratulated. It is believed that he will continue to reside in Toronto.
