which are here the bulls have had no difficulty in rushing prices up to suit themselves. The cash demand continues large and absorbs all arrivals. The provision market has become one of the most sensational on the floor, showing at times great excitement and wild fluctuations in spite of the heavy stocks. The outside speculators have been able not only to rusn prices up, but to sell heavily at the advance. The close of the week shows about the highest prices, and we see no letting up in the excitement. It has gotten to be a "runaway deal," and it is difficult to rell how far it will be carried by the enormous speculation that has entered it. The trading shows so much excitement that it is at times very difficult to except orders, at anything near the quoted limits of the moment before.
