WANT FULLER POWERS.

ssrs. Scott and Riddell wer bsent from yesterday's sitting of the rsity Commission, as was also Comner Britton. No witnesses were xamined, the session being devoted to the discussion of the powers and scope of the investigation. Mr. S. H. Blake urged that the commission should bring in a finding advising that fuller powers of expulsion be granted to the University council. He read the statutes of Oxford, Cornell and other celebrated institutions, pointing out that the powers of the faculty in those institutions for administering discipline were much more definitely laid down. The weakness of the constitution of Toronto University was that the powers given the faculty in matters of discipline were not clearly laid down, and a rebellious student was able to take advantage of this and could go to great lengths, leaving the council powerless to deal with him.

No specific charges have been laid in answer to the advertisements inserted last week and the time is now past for receiving them. Charges will be laid by urged that the commission should bring

Four Canadians Rurned In Daketa.

Fargo, N.D., April 15.—The burning of a small dwelling five miles north of Fargo early yesterday morning was accompanied by the loss of four lives. The family of Robert Houghton, who came from Canada a year ago, was sleeping soundly when the fire broke out. Four grown children jumped from an upper window in scant clothing and escaped with only a few bruises. Houghton's wife and three children, aged 6, 8 and 10 years, were burned to death. Houghton made a desperate effort to save them and was himself seriously injured.

calcutta, April 15.—Later news from Sir Robert Lowe's headquarters shows that the check received by the corps of guides under Col. Battye was of very short duration. The corps resumed their advances shortly after Col. Battye's death and the second brigade made an attack upon Dir, storming the fort on the north bank of the Panjkorn River, and capturing the garrison, including Mohammed, Umra Khan's brother. The march of Col. Kelly's force to Chitral has been greatly retarded by rains and freshets caused by the melting snows, which have carried away bridges and washed out roads.

The case of Kathleen D. Coulter of 349 ivens-street against the Excelsior Life Insurance Co. was tried yesterday before Mr. Justice Rose without a jury. The case was brought by the widow of Thos. This was not met, and a second premium became due on Aug. 20, and the usual 30 days' grace expired on Sept. 20. This also was unpaid. On Sept. 24. Thomas Coulter, For the first premium a note was taken, dated May 1, at one month. This was not met, and a second premium became due on Aug. 20, and the usual 30 days' grace expired on Sept. 20.
