

will, it is believed, prove acceptable to all descriptions of readers ; for, being chiefly of a domestic and personal nature, they will convey a kind of information concerning the country, such as has not hitherto been offered to the public, and such as one could not expect to meet with in a book that is essentially devoted to the consideration of its general circumstances and condition.

The author spent two years and a half in Upper Canada, and, in the course of that time, resided in various parts of the Province. He enjoyed numerous opportunities of inspecting its new settlements ; so that all the statements, for the information of emigrants, contained in the fourteenth letter, are the result of personal observation.
