

JESUS:—He Himself hath suffered being tempted.

Hebrews ii. 18.

REAPING.

WE have recently received testimony from several quarters as to blessing which has resulted from the labours of our young men. We believe it will be for the glory of God, and also for the encouragement of workers in other Associations to publish one or two facts.

A few weeks ago, as our Assistant Secretary was standing at the door inviting young men to attend the meeting, a person crossed the street, and said, "Last New Year's Day, your young men left a packet of reading matter at my house. At that time, there was a young man staying with me, and he received a packet and was greatly helped by reading one of the tracts in the same. He died a short time ago; but before his death, he asked me to call, and, if possible, procure a copy, and send it to a friend in the Old Land. Can you favour me with one?"

Again,—we published in October last (in our BULLETIN) an article entitled "A Losing Game." That week a young man was led to see the error of his way while reading it. Some time after, we were told of a second instance of blessing attending the reading of the same article.

At a Young Men's Meeting, held some weeks ago, out of eleven testimonies given, seven were from young men who stated they had been led to Christ through the work of the Association, and a majority of these referred to the fact that an invitation on the street had been the means used to reach them first. Therefore, dear brethren of the Toronto, and of other Associations, let us not be weary in well-doing. God is faithful, who hath promised. Let us be faithful, and the fulfilment of the promise shall be ours.

COME

A POINTED QUESTION.

ONE day a poor child, straying into a Sunday-school, asked simply: "Is this the way to Heaven?" The superintendent was for a moment startled. Was the school, indeed, the way to Heaven? Was he trying above all other things to make it so? Were his teachers intent on the same object? The artless question went home? From desk to class the question went round with a thrill. What were they all doing? Whether were their efforts tending? The question was like an angel suddenly alighting in their midst to make a record of what transpired in the school. How should we answer the question in the Y.M.C.A.? Our educational classes, reading rooms, lectures, gymnasiums, and rambling clubs are excellent in their way, but the little child's question directs attention to the one point most deserving of consideration. Is this the way to Heaven? Does each Y.M.C.A. make this consideration its main object? If not, it is a failure. It may have hundreds of young men daily thronging its doors for the secular advantages which it offers, but if it does not make the leading of souls to Christ its first consideration, it might as well close its doors. If it is not the way to Heaven, there is only one alternative; it is the way to Hell.—London (Eng.) Y.M.C.A. Notes.
