Mercantile Summary.

The carpet firm of T. G. Foster & Co. has removed from the temporary premises, 235 Yonge street, in this city, to a fine large building on King street, a few doors east of Yonge. The three upper flats of this are devoted to the wholesale branch of the business, while the lower floor will be conducted as a retail department by Foster & Pender. Large additions have been made to the stock of carpets, curtains, etc., and the firm now possesses splendid facilities for handling their large output.

At the county court and general sessions, Windsor, Dec. 4th, the jury in the case of one Wilson against the Sandwich, Windsor & Amherstburg Electric Railway for damages caused by an electric car colliding with the buggy of the plaintiff and for personal injuries received, returned a verdict of $50 for plaintiff. This is the first case of the kind tried in Canada involving the rights of citizens along a highway as opposed to the rights of electric railways.

The creditors of James Bedford & Son, builders, Toronto, have held a meeting. The partners were respectable people, and considered themselves worth some $20,000 in 1891. They held too much real estate, however, on which they could not realize, and have assigned to George Clay. The offer of ten cents in the dollar, made by S. W. Potts, founder, has been refused and his assets have been sold. The cigar maker whom we noted last week as being in trouble, L. Goldsmith, has been sold out by the bailiff.
