

Herbert York
Director Emeritus

Dr. York, the founding director of IGCC, began his career working on the Manhattan Project at Oak Ridge, Tennessee during World War II. Dr. York was the first director of the UC Lawrence Livermore Laboratory. He was appointed director of Defense Research and Engineering by Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy. From 1961-64 and 1970-72, Dr. York was chancellor of UC San Diego. From 1979-81 he served as U.S. Ambassador to the Comprehensive Test Ban negotiation in Geneva. In 1983, he founded IGCC. York is also an Ex Officio member of IGCC's International Advisory Board. In 2000, Dr. York received the prestigious Vannevar Bush Award from the National Science Board for his leadership in the arms control movement and his work in nuclear energy.

William M. Chandler

William Chandler is Professor of Political Science at the University of California, San Diego. His Ph.D. (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill) was earned in 1971. His research has concentrated on the study of political parties, federalism and public policy. Publications include Public Policy and Provincial Politics, Federalism and the Role of the State and Challenges to Federalism: Policy-Making in Canada and West Germany, plus journal articles and book chapters on party government, christian democracy, party system change, European integration and immigration policy. His teaching interests within comparative politics place particular emphasis on European (Germany, France, Italy and the European Union) and Canadian politics. Prior to joining the Political Science Department at UCSD in 1997, Professor Chandler was Chair of Political Science at McMaster University, Canada. He has also served as guest professor in Germany, at Tuebingen and Oldenburg Universities. He is a member of the editorial advisory board of German Politics and has served on the Board of Directors of the Canadian Political Science Association (wchandle@weber.ucsd.edu).