IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

PRINTING OF SUMMARY OF PROCEEDINGS AND APPENDICES

Right Hon. R. B. BENNETT (Prime Minister): I beg to lay on the table of the house a summary of proceedings and appendices of the Imperial conference of 1930, and to move in that regard:

That 1,000 copies be printed in English and 700 copies in French of the summary of proceedings and appendices of the Imperial conference of 1930; and that standing order 64 be suspended in relation thereto.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: May I ask my right hon. friend if these documents have already been printed, and if so, if they will be distributed immediately?

Mr. BENNETT: The usual custom has been followed. They have been printed but not distributed. They have been distributed in England for some time, as my right hon. friend knows, but I understand that the rule here is that they should not be distributed until parliament has given its formal sanction to the motion. Once the motion is passed, copies will be distributed without further delay.

THE PRINCESS ROYAL

RESOLUTION OF REGRET AND CONDOLENCE UPON DEATH OF HER ROYAL HIGHNESS

Right Hon. R. B. BENNETT (Prime Minister) moved:

That an humble address be presented to His Majesty to express the deep concern of this house at the loss which His Majesty has sustained by the death of Her Royal Highness, the Princess Royal; and to condole, with His Majesty and to assure His Majesty that this house participates with the most affectionate and dutiful attachment in whatever concerns the feelings and interests of His Majesty.

He said: Mr. Speaker, death takes its toll from the family circle of the King or from his humblest subject, alike from the ruler and the ruled. Sometimes we are fain to forget that those who sit on thrones have the same human impulses, emotions and sufferings as fall to the lot of all mankind. On this occasion we are reminded that our sovereign king, who is the Crown to us, has suffered a great bereavement through the death of his beloved sister. It is fitting at this time that we should record our deep concern at the loss he has sustained and the sorrow he has endured.
