

"While I am here, I may as well give you the cheque for to-night's lecture."

"Just as you please," I said, "but don't you call that risky?"

"What do you mean?"

"Well, I may die before the evening."

"Oh! that's all right," he interrupted. "I'll exhibit your corpse; I guess there will be just as much money in it."

