

CONTENTS.

	Page.
Introduction.....	601
Observations by Mr. Stuntz.....	601
Earth movements during the closing epochs of the Pleistocene period.....	603
Reasons for regarding a progressive modern change as probable.....	606
General plan of investigation.....	609
Available data.....	611
Gage readings.....	611
Benches.....	612
Selection of stations and years.....	613
Special observations in 1896.....	614
Discussion of data from pairs of stations.....	615
Sacketts Harbor and Charlotte.....	615
Port Colborne and Cleveland.....	620
Port Austin and Milwaukee.....	624
Escanaba and Milwaukee.....	629
Discrepancy noted by Captain Marshall.....	634
Summary of results.....	635
Is the land tilting?.....	636
Rate of movement.....	637
Geographic changes resulting from the movement.....	639
Plans for precise measurement.....	641
Selection of stations.....	641
Conditions controlling equipment.....	643
Equipment.....	644
Treatment of observations.....	645
Supplement.—Investigation by Mr. Moseley.....	645