JURY SAYS SPEED OF MOTOR WAS EXCESSIVE

Inquest Into Accident by Which Wm. Boyce of Hamilton Met His Death.

HAMILTON, Aug. 21.—(Special.)—That the deceased came to his death by being struck by an automobile driven by W. J. Waters, and that the speed of the auto was excessive, was in effect the verdict of Coroner Anson's jury, which to-night enquired into the death of William Boyce, who died in the City Hospital on Aug. 15, from injuries received the previous day in a motor accident at the corner of Main-street and Sanford-avenue.

Dr. Carr and Dr. McQuarrie performed the post-mortem, testified that the man's skull had been fractured clear across the top and completely around the base.

Mr. Edward M. Smith, who saw the accident, said that Waters' car was going very fast and her husband swore that it was travelling at the rate of 25 miles per hour or more. Harris testified, 75 Sanford-avenue south, confirmed Mr. Smith's evidence as to the rate of speed.

William McFarlane would not fix the speed of the car in miles per hour, but said that it was going fairly fast. Coroner Anson, after hearing the evidence, adjourned the inquest to the 25th inst., to allow the coroner to call the witnesses to the scene of the accident. Altho Mr. Washington alleged that "any old plug could go ten miles an hour," he could not set his witness to admit that the speed of his car exceeded this rate. It was stopped within three car lengths, said Mr. Waters. From ten to fifteen miles an hour was Dr. Hilliker's estimate of the speed.

The evidence tended to show that Waters was driving west on the north side of Main-st., and when approaching Sanford-avenue, swerved to the right side of the street to avoid some other vehicles which were in front of the car, and in turning back to the north side of the street, struck Boyce, who was just crossing Main-st. on his way home from his day's work. The accident happened at 6:15 p.m., but Waters testified that he was attempting to reach the T. H. & B. station in time to catch the 8:20 train.

Coroner Anson, after hearing the evidence, adjourned the inquest to the 25th inst., to allow the coroner to call the witnesses to the scene of the accident. Altho Mr. Washington alleged that "any old plug could go ten miles an hour," he could not set his witness to admit that the speed of his car exceeded this rate.

John Kinsler, 230 Forest-avenue, lost two fingers in a machine at the B. T. Wright Co.'s factory, and was rushed to the City Hospital, where his wounds were dressed.

Gordon C. Wilson, the Conservative candidate in the Westworth riding, to-night addressed a large and enthusiastic open-air meeting in Crown Point.

Charles E. Morgan, who for the last 45 years occupied the office at 11 James-st., died at his home at 452 Main-st. yesterday, at the age of 64 years. He is survived by one son and two daughters, Charles E. Morgan, Mrs. W. F. Robinson, and Mrs. William Daniels, all of this city. The funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. Magistrate Jelfs, in police court this morning, levied $10 fine against Robert Wilson, W. E. Daniels, Geo. Custer, Tim Sullivan and Sinclair Richardson, for running their motor cars at greater speed than is allowed by the laws of the land. The damaging evidence against the lawbreakers was gathered by Constables Goodman and McKay, who have been detailed to give special attention to speeding cars.

Found Dead. John A. Clark, 60 years of age, and secretary-treasurer of the Chemists' Company of Canada, was found dead in his room at 265 East Main-st., at an early hour this morning. Death from heart disease had probably taken place early last night. The coroner deemed necessary by Coroner Griffin, who viewed the body.

The parks board now has an opportunity to dispose of the Stewart property, which it recently purchased for park purposes at the price of $36,000. The deal received some delay at the time it was made, and as a profit can now be made by disposing of the property, it will probably be sold. A large manufacturing concern, it is said, desires the land as a site for a factory.

An Independent Candidate. Saskatoon, Aug. 21.—E. N. Baumunk of Dundurn, during this afternoon nominated by the farmers of the constituency of Saskatoon as an independent candidate at the forthcoming election. His advent into the contest means that it will be a most complicated one. The platform agreeing almost identically with that of Bore, with the exception of the reciprocity plank.

NAVAL HERO OF TSUSHIMA PASSED THRU TORONTO

Admiral Prince Togo, the Japanese Nelson, Spent 15 Minutes in Toronto Last Night

Admiral Prince Togo, the hero of the battle of Tsushima, arrived at the Union Station at 10:15 last night, and left for the west by the C.P.R. at 10:30. He did not remain long enough to give the World his views on the reciprocity question. As soon as the train from Niagara arrived the admiral and his suite crossed to the westbound train and entered a private car.

The great Japanese admiral is a man of short stature and slight build, and he stoops. His face is deeply lined and his expression generally is apathetic, but now and again he will look around with the keen glance which shows him to be still a man of action and in command.

There was no official reception, as Admiral Togo is traveling as a private citizen. No notice of his arrival was sent to either the government or municipal authorities. He spent Sunday seeing Niagara Falls, and in the evening entertained three official representatives of the United States. His highness proposes to spend one day in the Rocky Mountains and one day in Seattle, whence he will sail for Japan.

Born in 1847, Admiral Togo went to England in the early seventies and acquired some training in the "Warrior," a ship anchored in the Thames, and was used as a school for boys purporting to enter the British mercantile marine. Subsequently he attended a course of naval instruction at Greenwich College, and then he returned to Japan.

Twenty years later he was third commander of the Japanese fleet during the Russo-Japanese war, and in the war between Russia and Japan he held the supreme command. It was in the battle of Tsushima that the value of the long-range gun was demonstrated. The Russians could hardly get within striking distance of their opponents, and the lesson of this battle caused the European powers to treat the kind competition in building Dreadnaughts.

VETERINARY SURGEONS VISIT TORONTO IN FORCE

Forty-eighth Annual Convention of American Association Opens This Morning

Veterinary surgeons will be congregated in this city to-day in large numbers from all manner of places for the 48th annual convention of the American Veterinary Medical Association, which commences in Convocation hall at ten o'clock this morning. In the neighborhood of one thousand veterinarians will be in attendance at the convention.

At eleven o'clock Sir James Whitney opens the convention by formally welcoming the delegates to the city of Toronto. Mayor Geary welcomes them to the city of Toronto. Versus A. Moore, Cornell University, will respond to the addresses.

The American Veterinary Medical Association has members scattered far and wide. There are resident secretaries in every state of the union and in the Philippines and Porto Rico. In Canada there is a resident secretary for every province. The branches of the association are indeed widely spread. Even in Australia and South America there are resident secretaries.

The morning session of the delegates will be entertained by the city to a moonlight excursion on the lake in the steamer Cayuga. The mayor and city council will be the hosts and all of the delegates and their wives and families will be the guests. As the number of delegates expected are one thousand and, as many will bring their wives, the boat will have quite a crowd.

All manner of subjects related to the practice of veterinary surgery will be dealt with in the various meetings, which last until Friday.

On Thursday the ladies of the party will go for a drive around the city in coaches and will afterward be entertained to afternoon tea in Sir Henry Pellatt's gardens. Tuesday evening the annual banquet will be held in McCone's.

Many of the delegates will stay over for the purpose of visiting the exhibition.

The educational committee in the west has been instrumental in establishing two colleges, one at Brandon and one at Summerland, B.C.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS

At the Royal Alexandra.

Howe's Travel Festival. Loman H. Howe's Travel Festival scarcely needs introduction, a recommendation to the Toronto public. It represents not only the most advanced methods of producing moving pictures, but a range of subjects covering all the reachable earth and much that never was by sea or land. Last night's opening at the Royal Alexandra attracted a large and highly appreciative audience, who went together and in turn fascinated, instructed and amused. The program was attractively varied, and it would be difficult to say which of the numerous items ranked first in popularity. Great interest was naturally taken in the coronation views, of which there were twelve serials, every one vivid and striking. The many glimpses of the procession and the royal progress, their remarkable incidents and the magnificent and everywhere were as stimulating as the original, and receive abundant applause. Specially good were the pictures of the naval review, which provided a splendid illustration of the steel walls that protect the British Isles.

Of purely scenic attractiveness and all remarkable for their spectacular quality, the first offered was a ride thru the great forest and a fitting introduction to the beautiful Alpine studies and their wonderful perspectives. The second was a view of clouds, the towering precipitous and abysmal crevices were magnificent, and all the more so when seen in the pleasant atmosphere of the Alexandra. Another equally beautiful journey was that of the mountain passes of New Zealand, and the river, with its semi-tropical environment. Startling, too, was the shooting of the rapids on a Japanese river in which the handling equal to that of the Canadian voyager. Very beautiful were the views of the snow-capped mountains, but nature's handiwork in colors, and full of interest were the snapshots of London.

Whaling in the Faroe Islands provided views of a different kind, a large school of whales driven into the shallow by the fishermen and thrashing the water in their dying convulsions was a novel and exciting spectacle. Full appreciation of the scene was given by the manœuvre of a troop of Belgian cavalry whose horsemanship spoke for itself. The exhibition of the Orphans of London, England, was a beautiful journey, and the audience were lavishly entertained. There will be matinees daily during this engagement.

At the Grand. Vaughan Glaser in "The Prince Chap." No more flattering reception could be tendered an actor than that which was given Vaughan Glaser at the Grand last evening. He was in the fortieth season of the historic playhouse. So enthusiastic did the audience become at the conclusion of the second act that Mr. Glaser was obliged to make a curtain speech in which he thanked the Toronto theatre-goers for their kindly remembrance of himself and company.

Mr. Glaser presented for his opening bill Edward Peble's fascinating play, "The Prince Chap." In this role the star has a part just suited to his presence, that of an American sculptor living in a poor quarter of London trying to carve his little child, Claudia, as the model is convinced that the child will be left orphan in a short time, as death has crept close to the mother. The sculptor is loth to take this extra heavy burden on his shoulders, but he cannot resist the appeal, and he finally consents. When the child enters the studio and the sculptor prepares to care for her there are many touches of deep pathos, as well as bits of comedy to relieve the same. The character of Claudia is impersonated by three different persons for the reason that she has any number of ages, at 8 years of age and at 18. Previous to the opening of the stage story, the sculptor is in a beautiful American girl and she is in love with him. The American girl pays a visit to the studio and discovers the child. Believing that it was her own child, she leaves him and he is broken-hearted.

Several years later the American girl returns to the sculptor, but when she sees the child she is so overcome with grief that she destroys all the love he had for her. As Claudia blossoms from the child to woman, the sculptor, when he possesses the child, and when he finds that the now beautiful ward loves him, he is broken-hearted and the curtain descends on a happy pair.

The play is an intensely interesting one and is a most successful contribution to detail. Mr. Glaser gave a splendid performance, and Miss Courtenay, as the English slave, captivated the audience. The result was a triumph for the company and well cast and the result was a capital performance.

At Shea's. A Wonderful Japanese. Kajiyama is a Japanese gentleman who is dexterous, ambidexterous, and then some. He not only seems to be able to use both hands simultaneously and independently, but seems also to have a curious mind, which allows of dual thought processes taking place at the same time. The act is new, and in vaudeville, and if an enthusiastic reception means anything, it will be a success.

Ross, ex-Premier of Ontario. Hon. J. Burwash, D. D., President, Victoria College. Rev. J. G. Shearer, B.A., D.D., Secretary, Moral Reform League. Hon. Thomas Coffey, Senator, Catholic Record, London, Ontario. Dr. McTaggart's Vegetable Remedies for the Liquor and Tobacco Habits are healthful, safe, inexpensive home treatments. No hospitalizations, no publicity, no loss of time from business, and a certain cure. Consultation or correspondence invited.

At the Star. Zallah's Dancing Specialties. Zallah does an Egyptian dance with her own show at the Star this week and it is a good dance. It is almost as much an exhibition of management control as a dance, and either it is well done or it is not. Those who go to observe things which made the Salome dance a hit in burlesque, and which led to its removal from the stage, will be disappointed, for Zallah's is not that sort of a dance, either as to costume or action. Both are several long jumps within the bounds of propriety.

The show consists of two lively burlesque operettas upon which appear four excellent vaudeville turns. Ike Wall is entrusted with most of the comedy in the burlesque operettas, the usual number of burlesque jests of the stage Hebrew band. The chorus is well trained, well dressed and well chosen.

"Mile. Vortex," "Aerial Variety," does a fine dance of the Pulter variety, which is danced by her teeth some distance from the floor. Barrett & Belle White, who have a comedy sketch, "The Suffragettes," which is well done. Four fine well, and Mae Rose, high voltage comedienne, was attractive at two performances yesterday.

FESTIVAL OF EMPIRE. While the coronation procession figures as the feature of this year's attractions at the Canadian National Exhibition, it is doubtful if it will prove more popular to the public than the Festival of Empire.

Children's Athletic Day. Friday afternoon will be children's athletic day at Scarborough Beach. A program of sports will be held on the beach, and the program will be held on the beach, and the program will be held on the beach.

Band Concert at Hanlan's Point. In addition to many other attractions this week at Hanlan's Point, the band of the Toronto Police will play both Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Clever Animals at Scarborough. That bears can be taught to do pretty nearly anything that a dog can do is the chief claim of the baby hippopotamus, chiefly composed of women and children at Scarborough Beach yesterday afternoon. The demonstration was by Howard's Bear and Dog Circus, which is holding a week's engagement at the Beach, and the number and variety of tricks these huge animals have been taught to do is certainly a tribute to the patience and ingenuity of its trainer. The dogs are a show in themselves, and animal-lovers should not miss seeing them. Veronica and Hurl-Falls, the comedy acrobats, about the best that have appeared at the park this season. The climax of their act is one of the most amusing that could be devised. Bobby Pandur and brother, the equilibrist, do some very difficult hand-balancing. The music for the week will be supplied by the Nineteenth Regiment Band of St. Catharines. There were two enjoyable programs yesterday. On Wednesday night there will be a fireworks display.

HIPOPOPOTAMUS. "It has been proven from the experience of showmen and animal trainers that the baby hippopotamus can take care of their young much better than human beings," said John Peterson, who has charge of the zoological department of the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth, which comes to Toronto to-morrow. "So far as I know, there is only one place in the world where the baby hippopotamus was born. When the first hippopotamus was born, the mother developed the habit of taking the baby under the water and holding it there for 20 to 30 minutes at a time.
