Assured of Large Audience of Ratepayers to Hear Big Radial Scheme.

Hamilton, Jan. 23 .- With Sir Adam Beck coming here tomorrow night to outline his scheme for the construction of an electrified line from Toronto to the Niagara River, via Hamilton, and Burlington solid for Hydro, it was learned tonight that the Hamilton Electric Radial Company was planning to resume service to Burlington at the old rates.

It was stated that the line would be running in the near future, but that the recommencement of the service would not be to help out the citizens of the municipalities thru which the company has laid its steel. The scheme is to withdraw the peti-

CCHRISTMAS PARTY SEQUEL.

The sequel to a Christmas party occurred in the county court yesterday, when Henry Lowe and Joseph Kelly were arraigned-before Major Brunton on a charge of assault. Kelly, a woman calling herself Jennie Little, and a young nephew of the latter had been spending a 'holiday' at Lowe's home at Aurora. About 2 o'clock in the morning of Dec. 25, the party evidently decreased and so tables were used. A musical program was contributed and a most enjoyable time was spent. Mrs. Corbin, president.

A About 2 o'clock in the morning of Dec. 25, the party evidently decided to return to Toronto, but the Ford engine presented difficulties. Finally the men were compelled to call on W. L. Banbury, owner of a garage in Aurora. Banbury got out of bed and eventually succeeded in starting the machine, but met with less success, it is alleged. in collecting his to take it over.

"The corporation now sees that it is in wrong, but in order to balk the plans of the Hydro people in taking over the line, or at least to make all the trouble they can for the Hydro Commission, they will start the cars going at the old rate. They know that it would be an easy matter for the company to be absorbed by the Hydro when insolvent, but a stiffer proposition when its cars are running and doing business."

The World interviewed W. C. Hawkins, managing director and secretary of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company, in regard to the service being resumed, but he said: "Well, I never heard of it."

Whether fear of arrest or the wish to strike a policeman was responsible for the assault that followed the discovery is doubtful, but the constable was rendered unconscious and left in that condition by the celebrators. Oliver Whitmore found him some time later and managed to have him taken home. The evidence in court yesterday was of a doubtful quality and did not tend to assist the defendants. Major Brunton, in summing up, felt that there was no doubt but that the assault was committed by one or other of the accused, and that the other must be an accession. Interest increases.
