

TO-MORROW TUESDAY, 12th SEPT., We hold our grand OPENING

For the display of autumn styles and novelties, now in magnificent assortment. Each succeeding day will witness fresh arrivals, so the interest will continue for some time.

Millinery

Pattern hats and bonnets from the foremost artists in London, Paris and New York. Elegant designs from our own workrooms. The latest in plain and trimmed felt hats, shapes and trimmings.

Mantles

Immense assortment and splendid values in Paletoes, Jackets,
Capes, Opera Wraps,
Coats, Dress Skirts.
A particularly grand showing in Suits and Costumes.

The "Kelvin" Cape
The "Melgund" Storm Cloak
The "Strathcona" Wrap.
are specially interesting exhibits.

Silks and Satins

Plain black Silks in best makes. Fancy black Silks, Colored Silks. Fancy and brocaded Silks of all kinds. Evening Silks in plain and brocades. Chiffons, Tissues, Gauzes, etc., etc.

A Grand Offer For Monday & Tuesday

An unusually fine assortment of Silk Shirt Waists in black, colored, fancy, stripes, plaids, etc., at 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 10.00. They must be seen and compared with prices to judge the values represented.

Dress Fabrics

The new weaves of black and colored novelties for autumn wear. Silk and wool mixtures in single dress patterns, homespun, tweeds, check suitings, Venetians, broadcloths, poplins, fizzes, serges, chevots, brocades, broche crepons, vicunas, satin and canvas cloths, Sicilians—black and white shepherd checks—camel's hair effects and plaids, reversible cloths—plaid and plain for cycle, walking and golf skirts.

Seasonable Novelties Also Shown in

Laces, trimmings, neckwear, veils, veillings, gloves, corsets—cambric underwear—hosiery and underwear—silk undershirts—Brussels net dress skirt lengths, Orenburg and real Shetland shawls.

Fresh Stocks of Household napery—table damasks and bed linen, linen and cotton sheetings and pillow casings. Elderdown quilts—blankets—white quilts—lace curtains—art cottons, satens and dimities. All in full assortment of new patterns, styles and makes.

JOHN CATTO & SON

King-street—opposite the Postoffice.

Woman's World...

Devoted Specially to
the Interests of our
Women Readers.

Conducted by
Katherine Leslie.

"Dress was her passion. She had a most harmless delight in being fine."

For dressy autumn gowns, many of which will have the ever-favorite bow effect upon the bodices, there are the loveliest sheer goods for soft fronts. Chiefly of chiffon, these goods come in all ranges of color and are enhanced in effect by being mounted over exquisitely colored silks. Thinnest black chiffon is painted with great purple or rose-tinted patterns; in addition, it is strewn with tiny polka dots, sewed in, which take on the various shades of the flowers, and a raised, wandering scroll design in fine black silk cheville adds most effectively to this exquisitely filmy material. They were showing this painted chiffon over corn color silk at Catto's the other day when I was there. Nothing could have been lovelier than the combination. These painted chiffons will be a feature of the smartest gowns. Then there are dainty snowy white chiffons, one striped with tiny ruffles of mousseline, which has between the stripes a novel and charming design. The fronds of white are quivered and running parallel with the stripes. This over yellow or dainty green taffeta was very dainty. These white chiffon, soft as down, and slightly crinkled chiffon, having white satin stripes, are also new and sell at something like 75c per yard.

For evening wear there are handsome overdrapes and tunics in black Brussels net and others in all the fashionable makes of lace. A black net tunic was quite gorgeous with its richly embroidered design wrought in iridescent paillettes and beads. The dress overdrapes, of course, come sufficient embroidered net for the most elegant. Very elegant was a tunic of black Brussels, all glittering with steel and jet, and a very beautiful—complete affair—was a broderie in a graceful flowing design, with shining black paillettes and tiny jet beads. It was made to fasten down the side front and was decorated down the edge for that purpose, with a handsome jetted cord running between two lines of paillettes, two inches apart. The dress was jetted overdrapes of net are about $12. Quantities of lace in the heavier goods will be employed for whole bodices for evening wear, as well as for yokes and sleeves. I saw a beautiful red dress with a two shade, and the cotton appliques at about $3 per yard are really quite handsome. These laces in the heavier goods makes never wear out and clean to look like new. Quaint old-fashioned lace "barbs" in delicate black Chantilly are noticeable amongst the new lace scraps, and among the chiffons I noticed some in navy with white silk polka dots sewed in; this is the latest in the making of stylish bodices for dressy occasions.

For fall wear there are lovely things that they are either of ostrich feathers, feathers, and some in the shades of brown, carter, cream, grey, black, etc. They are very stylish and some to all the new call styles, and are always becoming and soft.

Pretty and suitable material for shirt waists for morning wear are the French

Woman's World...

Devoted Specially to
the Interests of our
Women Readers.

Conducted by
Katherine Leslie.

"Dress was her passion. She had a most harmless delight in being fine."

For dressy autumn gowns, many of which will have the ever-favorite bow effect upon the bodices, there are the loveliest sheer goods for soft fronts. Chiefly of chiffon, these goods come in all ranges of color and are enhanced in effect by being mounted over exquisitely colored silks. Thinnest black chiffon is painted with great purple or rose-tinted patterns; in addition, it is strewn with tiny polka dots, sewed in, which take on the various shades of the flowers, and a raised, wandering scroll design in fine black silk cheville adds most effectively to this exquisitely filmy material. They were showing this painted chiffon over corn color silk at Catto's the other day when I was there. Nothing could have been lovelier than the combination. These painted chiffons will be a feature of the smartest gowns. Then there are dainty snowy white chiffons, one striped with tiny ruffles of mousseline, which has between the stripes a novel and charming design. The fronds of white are quivered and running parallel with the stripes. This over yellow or dainty green taffeta was very dainty. These white chiffon, soft as down, and slightly crinkled chiffon, having white satin stripes, are also new and sell at something like 75c per yard.

For evening wear there are handsome overdrapes and tunics in black Brussels net and others in all the fashionable makes of lace. A black net tunic was quite gorgeous with its richly embroidered design wrought in iridescent paillettes and beads. The dress overdrapes, of course, come sufficient embroidered net for the most elegant. Very elegant was a tunic of black Brussels, all glittering with steel and jet, and a very beautiful—complete affair—was a broderie in a graceful flowing design, with shining black paillettes and tiny jet beads. It was made to fasten down the side front and was decorated down the edge for that purpose, with a handsome jetted cord running between two lines of paillettes, two inches apart. The dress was jetted overdrapes of net are about $12. Quantities of lace in the heavier goods will be employed for whole bodices for evening wear, as well as for yokes and sleeves. I saw a beautiful red dress with a two shade, and the cotton appliques at about $3 per yard are really quite handsome. These laces in the heavier goods makes never wear out and clean to look like new. Quaint old-fashioned lace "barbs" in delicate black Chantilly are noticeable amongst the new lace scraps, and among the chiffons I noticed some in navy with white silk polka dots sewed in; this is the latest in the making of stylish bodices for dressy occasions.

For fall wear there are lovely things that they are either of ostrich feathers, feathers, and some in the shades of brown, carter, cream, grey, black, etc. They are very stylish and some to all the new call styles, and are always becoming and soft.

Pretty and suitable material for shirt waists for morning wear are the French

Woman's World...

Devoted Specially to
the Interests of our
Women Readers.

Conducted by
Katherine Leslie.

"Dress was her passion. She had a most harmless delight in being fine."

For dressy autumn gowns, many of which will have the ever-favorite bow effect upon the bodices, there are the loveliest sheer goods for soft fronts. Chiefly of chiffon, these goods come in all ranges of color and are enhanced in effect by being mounted over exquisitely colored silks. Thinnest black chiffon is painted with great purple or rose-tinted patterns; in addition, it is strewn with tiny polka dots, sewed in, which take on the various shades of the flowers, and a raised, wandering scroll design in fine black silk cheville adds most effectively to this exquisitely filmy material. They were showing this painted chiffon over corn color silk at Catto's the other day when I was there. Nothing could have been lovelier than the combination. These painted chiffons will be a feature of the smartest gowns. Then there are dainty snowy white chiffons, one striped with tiny ruffles of mousseline, which has between the stripes a novel and charming design. The fronds of white are quivered and running parallel with the stripes. This over yellow or dainty green taffeta was very dainty. These white chiffon, soft as down, and slightly crinkled chiffon, having white satin stripes, are also new and sell at something like 75c per yard.

For evening wear there are handsome overdrapes and tunics in black Brussels net and others in all the fashionable makes of lace. A black net tunic was quite gorgeous with its richly embroidered design wrought in iridescent paillettes and beads. The dress overdrapes, of course, come sufficient embroidered net for the most elegant. Very elegant was a tunic of black Brussels, all glittering with steel and jet, and a very beautiful—complete affair—was a broderie in a graceful flowing design, with shining black paillettes and tiny jet beads. It was made to fasten down the side front and was decorated down the edge for that purpose, with a handsome jetted cord running between two lines of paillettes, two inches apart. The dress was jetted overdrapes of net are about $12. Quantities of lace in the heavier goods will be employed for whole bodices for evening wear, as well as for yokes and sleeves. I saw a beautiful red dress with a two shade, and the cotton appliques at about $3 per yard are really quite handsome. These laces in the heavier goods makes never wear out and clean to look like new. Quaint old-fashioned lace "barbs" in delicate black Chantilly are noticeable amongst the new lace scraps, and among the chiffons I noticed some in navy with white silk polka dots sewed in; this is the latest in the making of stylish bodices for dressy occasions.

For fall wear there are lovely things that they are either of ostrich feathers, feathers, and some in the shades of brown, carter, cream, grey, black, etc. They are very stylish and some to all the new call styles, and are always becoming and soft.

Pretty and suitable material for shirt waists for morning wear are the French

PRIVATE BUREAU IN TROUBLE.

William Mowat & Son of Stratford Pressed to the Wall by Depositors.

SURPLUS OF $45,000 CLAIMED.

Rumors Against the Bank's Stability Caused a Run Which Could Not Be Withstood.

Stratford, Ont., Sept. 10.—The private banking firm of William Mowat & Son has made an assignment to John Brown & Co. A. Owing to rumors affecting the standing of the institution there has been a steady run on the funds of the bank by depositors for several months, the culmination being the issuance of a writ for $228,300, on behalf of one of the principal depositors. A statement by Mr. Mowat shows the assets as $115,076, with liabilities of $160,000, giving a surplus of $45,000. While this surplus may be reduced in the disposal of the assets, it is thought that eventually the depositors will be paid in full the amount due them, $228,300.

THE BIG CONSERVATIVE RALLY.

Will Be Held in Massey Hall on Sept. 15—Foster and Whitney Will Speak.

A meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ward 6 was held last Saturday night at Sampson's Hall, Dundas-street. The president, Mr. A. C. Macdonald, was chairman. The chief business of the meeting was the completion of arrangements for the monster Conservative demonstration, which is to be held on the night of the 15th inst. A meeting to which all will look forward, for it is to be addressed by J. P. Whitney, M.L.A., and Hon. George E. Foster, the former Minister of the Interior, under the association by Conservatives throughout the city, it was decided to hold the demonstration in Massey Hall. Instead of in the West End, provided arrangements can be made to secure the building. Every thing points to the great success of the proposed demonstration. After the routine business was over, the meeting was addressed by Thomas Crawford, M.L.A., and E. F. Clarke, M.P. Great was the enthusiasm of the 100 members present.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS SCORE.

Attorney-General Akin of the State of Illinois Has Decided in Their Favor.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—Attorney-General Akin has rendered an opinion that the case of the Christian Scientists against the Medical Practice Act of 1890 does not prohibit the treatment of disease by mental or spiritual methods by Christian Scientists. He holds that where a person receives such treatment it is not an offence under the Criminal Code of Illinois.

PREACHER AND PAINTER.

Rev. G. M. Macdonald of Spaulding, Pa., Painted His Own Church When Funds Were Scarce.

London, Sept. 10.—The Rev. G. M. Macdonald, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, Spaulding, is setting his brethren of the cloth a good example in humility. Just now. The outside of the church sadly lacked a coat of paint, but there were no funds for the purpose. It was a terrible dilemma, but the vicar, accepting Holborn's counsel, set his hands to work himself with a paint pot and brush. He is to be seen every night at the church, and he has been busy painting the church and school.

APPEAL.—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart.

Heart is equally effective in all cases of heart disease. If you have unpleasant dreams, nervousness, or a beating heart, or if the head, take precautions against a recurrence. The press of the land has taken a long list of sudden deaths which would be attributed to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart were used.

Woman's World...

Devoted Specially to
the Interests of our
Women Readers.

Conducted by
Katherine Leslie.

"Dress was her passion. She had a most harmless delight in being fine."

For dressy autumn gowns, many of which will have the ever-favorite bow effect upon the bodices, there are the loveliest sheer goods for soft fronts. Chiefly of chiffon, these goods come in all ranges of color and are enhanced in effect by being mounted over exquisitely colored silks. Thinnest black chiffon is painted with great purple or rose-tinted patterns; in addition, it is strewn with tiny polka dots, sewed in, which take on the various shades of the flowers, and a raised, wandering scroll design in fine black silk cheville adds most effectively to this exquisitely filmy material. They were showing this painted chiffon over corn color silk at Catto's the other day when I was there. Nothing could have been lovelier than the combination. These painted chiffons will be a feature of the smartest gowns. Then there are dainty snowy white chiffons, one striped with tiny ruffles of mousseline, which has between the stripes a novel and charming design. The fronds of white are quivered and running parallel with the stripes. This over yellow or dainty green taffeta was very dainty. These white chiffon, soft as down, and slightly crinkled chiffon, having white satin stripes, are also new and sell at something like 75c per yard.

For evening wear there are handsome overdrapes and tunics in black Brussels net and others in all the fashionable makes of lace. A black net tunic was quite gorgeous with its richly embroidered design wrought in iridescent paillettes and beads. The dress overdrapes, of course, come sufficient embroidered net for the most elegant. Very elegant was a tunic of black Brussels, all glittering with steel and jet, and a very beautiful—complete affair—was a broderie in a graceful flowing design, with shining black paillettes and tiny jet beads. It was made to fasten down the side front and was decorated down the edge for that purpose, with a handsome jetted cord running between two lines of paillettes, two inches apart. The dress was jetted overdrapes of net are about $12. Quantities of lace in the heavier goods will be employed for whole bodices for evening wear, as well as for yokes and sleeves. I saw a beautiful red dress with a two shade, and the cotton appliques at about $3 per yard are really quite handsome. These laces in the heavier goods makes never wear out and clean to look like new. Quaint old-fashioned lace "barbs" in delicate black Chantilly are noticeable amongst the new lace scraps, and among the chiffons I noticed some in navy with white silk polka dots sewed in; this is the latest in the making of stylish bodices for dressy occasions.

For fall wear there are lovely things that they are either of ostrich feathers, feathers, and some in the shades of brown, carter, cream, grey, black, etc. They are very stylish and some to all the new call styles, and are always becoming and soft.

Pretty and suitable material for shirt waists for morning wear are the French

PRIVATE BUREAU IN TROUBLE.

William Mowat & Son of Stratford Pressed to the Wall by Depositors.

SURPLUS OF $45,000 CLAIMED.

Rumors Against the Bank's Stability Caused a Run Which Could Not Be Withstood.

Stratford, Ont., Sept. 10.—The private banking firm of William Mowat & Son has made an assignment to John Brown & Co. A. Owing to rumors affecting the standing of the institution there has been a steady run on the funds of the bank by depositors for several months, the culmination being the issuance of a writ for $228,300, on behalf of one of the principal depositors. A statement by Mr. Mowat shows the assets as $115,076, with liabilities of $160,000, giving a surplus of $45,000. While this surplus may be reduced in the disposal of the assets, it is thought that eventually the depositors will be paid in full the amount due them, $228,300.

THE BIG CONSERVATIVE RALLY.

Will Be Held in Massey Hall on Sept. 15—Foster and Whitney Will Speak.

A meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ward 6 was held last Saturday night at Sampson's Hall, Dundas-street. The president, Mr. A. C. Macdonald, was chairman. The chief business of the meeting was the completion of arrangements for the monster Conservative demonstration, which is to be held on the night of the 15th inst. A meeting to which all will look forward, for it is to be addressed by J. P. Whitney, M.L.A., and Hon. George E. Foster, the former Minister of the Interior, under the association by Conservatives throughout the city, it was decided to hold the demonstration in Massey Hall. Instead of in the West End, provided arrangements can be made to secure the building. Every thing points to the great success of the proposed demonstration. After the routine business was over, the meeting was addressed by Thomas Crawford, M.L.A., and E. F. Clarke, M.P. Great was the enthusiasm of the 100 members present.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS SCORE.

Attorney-General Akin of the State of Illinois Has Decided in Their Favor.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—Attorney-General Akin has rendered an opinion that the case of the Christian Scientists against the Medical Practice Act of 1890 does not prohibit the treatment of disease by mental or spiritual methods by Christian Scientists. He holds that where a person receives such treatment it is not an offence under the Criminal Code of Illinois.

PREACHER AND PAINTER.

Rev. G. M. Macdonald of Spaulding, Pa., Painted His Own Church When Funds Were Scarce.

London, Sept. 10.—The Rev. G. M. Macdonald, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, Spaulding, is setting his brethren of the cloth a good example in humility. Just now. The outside of the church sadly lacked a coat of paint, but there were no funds for the purpose. It was a terrible dilemma, but the vicar, accepting Holborn's counsel, set his hands to work himself with a paint pot and brush. He is to be seen every night at the church, and he has been busy painting the church and school.

APPEAL.—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart.

Heart is equally effective in all cases of heart disease. If you have unpleasant dreams, nervousness, or a beating heart, or if the head, take precautions against a recurrence. The press of the land has taken a long list of sudden deaths which would be attributed to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart were used.

Woman's World...

Devoted Specially to
the Interests of our
Women Readers.

Conducted by
Katherine Leslie.

"Dress was her passion. She had a most harmless delight in being fine."

For dressy autumn gowns, many of which will have the ever-favorite bow effect upon the bodices, there are the loveliest sheer goods for soft fronts. Chiefly of chiffon, these goods come in all ranges of color and are enhanced in effect by being mounted over exquisitely colored silks. Thinnest black chiffon is painted with great purple or rose-tinted patterns; in addition, it is strewn with tiny polka dots, sewed in, which take on the various shades of the flowers, and a raised, wandering scroll design in fine black silk cheville adds most effectively to this exquisitely filmy material. They were showing this painted chiffon over corn color silk at Catto's the other day when I was there. Nothing could have been lovelier than the combination. These painted chiffons will be a feature of the smartest gowns. Then there are dainty snowy white chiffons, one striped with tiny ruffles of mousseline, which has between the stripes a novel and charming design. The fronds of white are quivered and running parallel with the stripes. This over yellow or dainty green taffeta was very dainty. These white chiffon, soft as down, and slightly crinkled chiffon, having white satin stripes, are also new and sell at something like 75c per yard.

For evening wear there are handsome overdrapes and tunics in black Brussels net and others in all the fashionable makes of lace. A black net tunic was quite gorgeous with its richly embroidered design wrought in iridescent paillettes and beads. The dress overdrapes, of course, come sufficient embroidered net for the most elegant. Very elegant was a tunic of black Brussels, all glittering with steel and jet, and a very beautiful—complete affair—was a broderie in a graceful flowing design, with shining black paillettes and tiny jet beads. It was made to fasten down the side front and was decorated down the edge for that purpose, with a handsome jetted cord running between two lines of paillettes, two inches apart. The dress was jetted overdrapes of net are about $12. Quantities of lace in the heavier goods will be employed for whole bodices for evening wear, as well as for yokes and sleeves. I saw a beautiful red dress with a two shade, and the cotton appliques at about $3 per yard are really quite handsome. These laces in the heavier goods makes never wear out and clean to look like new. Quaint old-fashioned lace "barbs" in delicate black Chantilly are noticeable amongst the new lace scraps, and among the chiffons I noticed some in navy with white silk polka dots sewed in; this is the latest in the making of stylish bodices for dressy occasions.

For fall wear there are lovely things that they are either of ostrich feathers, feathers, and some in the shades of brown, carter, cream, grey, black, etc. They are very stylish and some to all the new call styles, and are always becoming and soft.

Pretty and suitable material for shirt waists for morning wear are the French

PRIVATE BUREAU IN TROUBLE.

William Mowat & Son of Stratford Pressed to the Wall by Depositors.

SURPLUS OF $45,000 CLAIMED.

Rumors Against the Bank's Stability Caused a Run Which Could Not Be Withstood.

Stratford, Ont., Sept. 10.—The private banking firm of William Mowat & Son has made an assignment to John Brown & Co. A. Owing to rumors affecting the standing of the institution there has been a steady run on the funds of the bank by depositors for several months, the culmination being the issuance of a writ for $228,300, on behalf of one of the principal depositors. A statement by Mr. Mowat shows the assets as $115,076, with liabilities of $160,000, giving a surplus of $45,000. While this surplus may be reduced in the disposal of the assets, it is thought that eventually the depositors will be paid in full the amount due them, $228,300.

THE BIG CONSERVATIVE RALLY.

Will Be Held in Massey Hall on Sept. 15—Foster and Whitney Will Speak.

A meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ward 6 was held last Saturday night at Sampson's Hall, Dundas-street. The president, Mr. A. C. Macdonald, was chairman. The chief business of the meeting was the completion of arrangements for the monster Conservative demonstration, which is to be held on the night of the 15th inst. A meeting to which all will look forward, for it is to be addressed by J. P. Whitney, M.L.A., and Hon. George E. Foster, the former Minister of the Interior, under the association by Conservatives throughout the city, it was decided to hold the demonstration in Massey Hall. Instead of in the West End, provided arrangements can be made to secure the building. Every thing points to the great success of the proposed demonstration. After the routine business was over, the meeting was addressed by Thomas Crawford, M.L.A., and E. F. Clarke, M.P. Great was the enthusiasm of the 100 members present.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS SCORE.

Attorney-General Akin of the State of Illinois Has Decided in Their Favor.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—Attorney-General Akin has rendered an opinion that the case of the Christian Scientists against the Medical Practice Act of 1890 does not prohibit the treatment of disease by mental or spiritual methods by Christian Scientists. He holds that where a person receives such treatment it is not an offence under the Criminal Code of Illinois.

PREACHER AND PAINTER.

Rev. G. M. Macdonald of Spaulding, Pa., Painted His Own Church When Funds Were Scarce.

London, Sept. 10.—The Rev. G. M. Macdonald, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, Spaulding, is setting his brethren of the cloth a good example in humility. Just now. The outside of the church sadly lacked a coat of paint, but there were no funds for the purpose. It was a terrible dilemma, but the vicar, accepting Holborn's counsel, set his hands to work himself with a paint pot and brush. He is to be seen every night at the church, and he has been busy painting the church and school.

APPEAL.—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart.

Heart is equally effective in all cases of heart disease. If you have unpleasant dreams, nervousness, or a beating heart, or if the head, take precautions against a recurrence. The press of the land has taken a long list of sudden deaths which would be attributed to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart were used.

Woman's World...

Devoted Specially to
the Interests of our
Women Readers.

Conducted by
Katherine Leslie.

"Dress was her passion. She had a most harmless delight in being fine."

For dressy autumn gowns, many of which will have the ever-favorite bow effect upon the bodices, there are the loveliest sheer goods for soft fronts. Chiefly of chiffon, these goods come in all ranges of color and are enhanced in effect by being mounted over exquisitely colored silks. Thinnest black chiffon is painted with great purple or rose-tinted patterns; in addition, it is strewn with tiny polka dots, sewed in, which take on the various shades of the flowers, and a raised, wandering scroll design in fine black silk cheville adds most effectively to this exquisitely filmy material. They were showing this painted chiffon over corn color silk at Catto's the other day when I was there. Nothing could have been lovelier than the combination. These painted chiffons will be a feature of the smartest gowns. Then there are dainty snowy white chiffons, one striped with tiny ruffles of mousseline, which has between the stripes a novel and charming design. The fronds of white are quivered and running parallel with the stripes. This over yellow or dainty green taffeta was very dainty. These white chiffon, soft as down, and slightly crinkled chiffon, having white satin stripes, are also new and sell at something like 75c per yard.

For evening wear there are handsome overdrapes and tunics in black Brussels net and others in all the fashionable makes of lace. A black net tunic was quite gorgeous with its richly embroidered design wrought in iridescent paillettes and beads. The dress overdrapes, of course, come sufficient embroidered net for the most elegant. Very elegant was a tunic of black Brussels, all glittering with steel and jet, and a very beautiful—complete affair—was a broderie in a graceful flowing design, with shining black paillettes and tiny jet beads. It was made to fasten down the side front and was decorated down the edge for that purpose, with a handsome jetted cord running between two lines of paillettes, two inches apart. The dress was jetted overdrapes of net are about $12. Quantities of lace in the heavier goods will be employed for whole bodices for evening wear, as well as for yokes and sleeves. I saw a beautiful red dress with a two shade, and the cotton appliques at about $3 per yard are really quite handsome. These laces in the heavier goods makes never wear out and clean to look like new. Quaint old-fashioned lace "barbs" in delicate black Chantilly are noticeable amongst the new lace scraps, and among the chiffons I noticed some in navy with white silk polka dots sewed in; this is the latest in the making of stylish bodices for dressy occasions.

For fall wear there are lovely things that they are either of ostrich feathers, feathers, and some in the shades of brown, carter, cream, grey, black, etc. They are very stylish and some to all the new call styles, and are always becoming and soft.

Pretty and suitable material for shirt waists for morning wear are the French

PRIVATE BUREAU IN TROUBLE.

William Mowat & Son of Stratford Pressed to the Wall by Depositors.

SURPLUS OF $45,000 CLAIMED.

Rumors Against the Bank's Stability Caused a Run Which Could Not Be Withstood.

Stratford, Ont., Sept. 10.—The private banking firm of William Mowat & Son has made an assignment to John Brown & Co. A. Owing to rumors affecting the standing of the institution there has been a steady run on the funds of the bank by depositors for several months, the culmination being the issuance of a writ for $228,300, on behalf of one of the principal depositors. A statement by Mr. Mowat shows the assets as $115,076, with liabilities of $160,000, giving a surplus of $45,000. While this surplus may be reduced in the disposal of the assets, it is thought that eventually the depositors will be paid in full the amount due them, $228,300.

THE BIG CONSERVATIVE RALLY.

Will Be Held in Massey Hall on Sept. 15—Foster and Whitney Will Speak.

A meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ward 6 was held last Saturday night