THINGS that were not exacted during the flood—water taxes.

AN open mind, an open hand, and an open heart will find everywhere an open door.

COUNT on the fidelity of the man who carries his heart in his hand, and wears his soul in his face.

CHEERFULNESS is an excellent wearing quality. It has been called the bright weather of the heart.

As the mind must govern the hands, so in every society the man of intelligence must direct the man of labor.

INDOLGENCE is a sort of suicide; for the man is efficiently destroyed, though the appetite of the brute may survive.

It is very often more necessary to conceal contempt than resentment, the former being never forgiven, but the latter sometimes forgot.

SIMPLICITY of character is the natural result of profound thoughts.

A FAST man is usually very slow when it comes to paying his debts.

THE rays of happiness, like those of light, are colorless when unbroken.

THERE is a decided difference between wanting what you say to be approved and admired, and wanting to be approved and admired because you say it.

A CONTENTED mind—heart-sunshine—takes a glory out of gloom, and can turn the most untoward events so that they will prove a faithful spring of unmeasured joy.

EAT, digest; read, remember; earn, save; love and be loved. If these four rules be strictly followed, health, intelligence, wealth, and true happiness will be the result.
